JAPAN REFUSES TO YIELD ON YAP

Report Says Cabinet Has Decided to Ignore American Note

Sees No Reason to Alter Policy on Mandate Question, It Is Said

TOKIO, April 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The cabinet has decided there is no reason to alter Japan's policy on the Yap mandate question because of the recent American note on the subject, according to the Nichi Nichi today. The decision of the ministry will be reported Friday at an extraordinary meeting of the diplomatic advisory council, the newspaper added.

The foreign office says it can neither confirm nor deny this report.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

Sewer Orders Introduced Today—Estimated Cost of One Sewer is $5350

Orders to lay sewers aggregating in cost $6850 were introduced at this morning's meeting of the municipal council by Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy, but the estimated cost of one of the proposed undertakings, a sewer in Conduit street, was so great that Mayor Perry D. Thompson held it up for further investigation. The estimated cost of this sewer alone is $5350.

Mr. Murphy said that owing to the lack of sewer facilities in the street in question, surface water accumulates in large quantities and causes considerable inconvenience to residents. Commissioner John F. Salmon added the fact that an outlet of the department empties in that vicinity and inasmuch as there is no sewer to drain it off, it spreads over the street.

The mayor suggested that some assurance be given that the proposed sewer would take care of this water and Commissioner Murphy agreed to withdraw the order and give the matter further investigation. The petition for the sewer was signed by Eleanor Desrosiers and others.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10.05 with all members present.

A protest was received from the Social Service club of the Lawrence St. Primitive Methodist church against the erection of two poles in Lawrence street for the use of the Postal-Telegraph Co. The protest was signed by Allan Buchanan, secretary of the club. William H. Mahan, inspector of wires, said that the poles were merely being re-set. The matter was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

After hearings, the following petitions were referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

New England Telephone and Telegraph company, one pole in Barclay street; Lowell Electric Light corporation, one pole at corner of Bassett and Whipple streets.

The petition of the Shaw Stocking

DONOVAN WILL NOT TESTIFY

Former Representative Refuses to Give Testimony at "L" Probe

Had Been Named By Auditor In Connection With Alleged Note

BOSTON, April 20—John L. Donovan of this city, a former state representative, refused to testify today before the legislative committee which is investigating transactions in street railway stocks by legislators who had a part in the passage of the Boston Elevated Railway public control bill in 1918. Testimony regarding a note which was secured by street railway stocks said to have been given by Donovan in exchange for a loan from the Fidelity Trust Co., had been given by Edwin L. Pride, an auditor, at an earlier hearing.

"I have nothing to say, gentlemen, voluntarily," Donovan said to the committee after it had been explained to him as the law gave immunity to persons compelled to testify before a legislative committee, he would not be required to do so. Auditor Pride subsequently testified that a demand note for $3052 was found among the Fidelity Trust Co. papers, purporting to be signed by Isabella Geysen, with 100 shares of Elevated and 100 shares of Massachusetts Electric preferred stock as security.

The note was dated May 8, 1918. On May 22, he said, the stock was sold and a check was issued by the brokerage firm of Edward M. Hamlin & Co., to Isabella Geysen for $9417. The witness showed the check which he said bore the endorsement "Isabella Geysen by John L. Donovan." Later he identified the Donovan signature as similar to that of Representative John L. Donovan on the legislative payroll of 1918.

Former Senator John E. Beck of Chelsea testified regarding a loan made by the Fidelity Trust company, on May 15, 1918 to Miss Jessie Tetlow, which he said he had arranged through Edwin T. McKnight, former president of the senate and vice president of the bank. The loan amounted to over $19,000 and was used for the purchase of 200 shares each of Elevated and Massachusetts Electric stock, he said, through the Hamlin firm. The note was made in the name of Miss Tetlow at her request, he said, but in every respect was a joint account. The note is still due, he testified.

Senator Beck when asked why he intended to vote for the Elevated control bill, replied that he was against it but as an investment bought the stock.

He said he did not know of any other senator who bought stock and did not know of any act of irregularity on the part of any member of the legislature in passing street railway legislation.

Representative Andrew P. Doyle of New Bedford, explaining his failure to appear before the committee last Friday, said he was in Washington when the hearings started. Under examination he told of borrowing $2388 on May 10, 1918, from the Fidelity Trust Co and at the same time buying 100 shares of Massachusetts Electric preferred, which he deposited as collateral. He said he gave no other security to the bank. McKnight as vice president of the Fidelity guaranteed the note, he said. The witness testified that the stock was sold on May 25 at a profit of between $400 and $500.

"GAS MASK" FOR A WHOLE SHIP

Plan for Protection of Battleships at Sea Against Poisonous Fumes Outlined

Prof. Lewis Inventor of Deadly Gas "Lewisite," Discusses Naval Warfare

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 20.—A plan for the protection of battleships at sea against an enemy's poisonous fumes by the installation of a "gas mask" for a whole ship, was outlined in an address to officers and students of the military academy here today by Prof. W. Lee Lewis, head of the chemistry department of Northwestern university and inventor of the deadly gas "Lewisite" perfected just as the world war closed.

"We face the possibility in the naval warfare of the future of armor piercing, toxic and tear shells, smoke clouds and invisible toxic fumes," he said. "We also may consider in this connection parallel defensive measures such as a gas mask for a while battleship.

"Gas weapons are capable of a much finer adaption to purpose than explosive weapons and the future will see worked out a great degree of scientific refinement in the development of gas weapons for all types of military operations.

"Future battles will not be to the strong but to the superior in intelligence. Warfare will become less a matter of brute strength and relative manpower, and more and more a matter of scientific acumen. Battles will be shorter and more decisive and hence innocent populations will suffer less."

NEW YORK, April 20.—Rene Viviani, who has been in this country nearly a month as special envoy from the French government, left for home today on the steamship France. He expressed general satisfaction over his trip officially and socially.

AccompanyingM. Viviani was Ste-pha phane Lauzanne, editor of the Matin, who came to this country with him.

M. Viviani's secretary, Marcel Knechl, made the following statement:

"Mr. Viviani says that before he came here he had heard that there was a lack of affection for France in this country, and he is going away with the distinct impression that it is not true. He found the president a delightful friend and gentleman and is going away pleased to find that he is indeed a friend of France."

Miss Anne Morgan, head of the American committee for davastated Franc France, also was a passenger on the steamship. She will remain in France until autumn in the interests of the organization.

CARPENTERS RETURN AT 90 CENTS AN HOUR

WOBURN, April 20.—Carpenters in this city, Winchester, Stoneham, Reading, Wakefield, Melrose, Lexington and Wilmington who have been on strike for two months, will return to work tomorrow under a wage of 90 cents an hour awarded by an arbitration committee which reported today. The agreement will be effective until March 1, 1922.

The controversy was submitted to arbitration at the suggestion of Mayor Bernard J. Golden. The men, numbering about 500, had asked for $1 an hour while the builders offered 90 cents under an agreement which would have expired at the end of the year.

WALL STREET BOMB SUSPECT HELD

SCRANTON, Pa., April 20.—The man arrested here yesterday on suspicion of complicity in the Wall street explosion last September had been under surveillance several weeks, it was learned today. Police still kept his identity secret and refused to give any further information about him.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Two members of the police bomb squad were ordered today to Scranton, Pa., to question the Wall street bomb plot suspect, arrested there yesterday by federal agents. The man's Bertillon measurements and photographs have been sent here for identification.

BILLIONS OF DOLLARS WASTE

Charged to Managerial Inefficiency on American Railroads

Detailed Exhibit Placed Before R. R. Labor Board in Labor's Fight Against Cut

CHICAGO, April 20—Wastes amounting to a billion dollars annually were laid to managerial inefficiency on American railroads in a detailed exhibit placed before the Railroad labor board today as part of union labor's fight against a reduction of wages. Recovering wastes were estimated by the employes at $578,500,000 a year and other wastes, impossible of estimation, would equal that amount, it was declared.

The evidence submitted in the 55,000 word document is aimed at the railroad's contention that the present national agreements make for labor conditions "not in the interest of honest,

ARMY COMMANDER WORKS IN OVERALLS

Man Who Volunteered Services and Worked with Hammer and Saw on Legion Club House Proves to be Major General Liggett.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—A white-haired elderly man dressed in blue overalls yesterday entered a building here which is being converted into a clubhouse for the American Legion, looked around curiously and then accosted the man in charge of the volunteer workers.

"I heard you were trying to fix up things for your opening party April 27," he said. "Can I help?"

"Sure, pitch in," was the answer.

The elderly man "pitched in" with hammer, saw and broom. For several hours he worked in silence among the volunteers, until he was interrupted by the hail: "Why, General, how long have you been here?"

Former soldiers, sailors and marines looked wonderingly at the man in overalls. Then they recognized Maj. Gen. Hunter Liggett, former field commander of the First American overseas contingent and until his retirement several weeks ago, commander of the Ninth army corps area.

GERMANS TO REJECT DEMAND FOR GOLD

BERLIN, April 20—(By the Associated Press)—While the German cabinet has not yet indicated the nature of its reply to the reparation commission's demand that the German gold reserve be transferre dto some point in the occupied zone, President Havenstein of the Reichsbank and the financial writers summarily reject the proposition. They take the ground that the gold is not only the property of a private abnk, but that its removal from Berlin under the conditions named would result in the collapse of German currency at home and abroad.

The experts also assert that such a proceeding would work havoc with German economic interests and promptly result in an advance of all commodities to fabulous prices as the result of the inevitable depreciation of the nation's currency.

President Havenstein declares that serious consideration of the proposition by the cabinet would be a mere waste of time, and daubts whether any government could be found in Germany which would accede to the entente's demand.

"The impossible is impossible; that is all there is to it," said Herr Havenstein.

The newspaper owned by Hugo Stinnes expresses suspicion that the French are the driving force behind the new demand. It says that once the gold reserve is outside the confines of the Reichbank's vaults and placed under entente control in the occupied zone, it will no longer remain as an active asset of the bank as its ultimate seizure would then become a simple matter.

This newspaper estimates the volume of German currency held abroad at 20,000,000,000 marks, and that foreign demands on Germany of all kinds total 95,000,000,000 marks. The value of the present gold reserve of 1,030,000,000 marks is computed as representing 18 per cent of Germany's currency issue, and its disappearance from the bank's assets, the newspaper asserts, would not only result in the instant impairment of the foreign creditors' claims but also have a catastrophic effect upon German exports and imports, especially with regard to purchases of raw products.

Ninety per cent. of the world's total output of real lavender oil comes from the vicinity of Lyons, France.

26,000 Persons at Point of Starvation In Coal Fields of Northern Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 20.—Twenty-six thousand persons are at the point of starvation in the coal fields of northern Alabama, Governor Kilby was told today in an appeal by the Salvation Army's southeastern division, with headquarters here. The organization said it was helping to the limit of its resources, but that aid must come from other sources.

Two More Policemen Slain in Ireland

DUBLIN, April 20.—Policemen Kelly and Hetherington were taken from a train last evening near Ballysodare, County Sligo and shot dead by armed men, who held up the train for two hours. The shooting caused consternation in Sligo, where the murdered men were stationed for some years. The police today visited the town and ordered all the premises closed until further notice.

Panama Continues War-Like Plans

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, April 20.—Panama continues to make war-like preparations along the Costa Rican frontier, it is reported here. The Costa Rican government, it is asserted is ready to enter into negotiations with Panama for the purpose of reaching a satisfactory solution of the boundary dispute between the two countries.

COAL SHORTAGE ALARM

Too Many Putting Off Buying Coal, Commerce Chamber Hears

"It begins to look as if things are shaping up for a coal shortage this year that may be even more serious to the coal consuming public than was the shortage of last year. Right now, when the people, the railroads and industries should be buying coal, they are not doing so. They are putting it off until the last minute, and everyone knows that if all the consumers made a grand rush for coal at the same time late in the year some of them will not get any coal."

This is the statement received by the Lowell chamber of commerce from an

$4000 VERDICT IN HEART-BALM CASE

A verdict for $2000 against each of two defendants, Mrs. Nellie Fish Steever Whitley and George Marcosgiantis, has been returned by a jury in the superior court in a suit brought by Clarence Dickenson Glazier for the alienation of the affections of his wife, Mrs. Alice Louise Glazier.

The ad damnum named in the writ was $50,000. The parties interested in the case are residents of Boston and Cambridge.

Trial was begun before Judge Franklin T. Hammond and a jury in the superior court today of the suit of Mary Elizabeth Peake, suing through her father, James Peake of Lexington, against Parker W. Felt of Waltham for the recovery of damages for injuries alleged to have been received in an motorcycle accident. The alleged accident occurred May 4, 1920, on Massachusetts avenue near the Arlington and Lexington line. It is claimed that the plaintiff, a 12-year-old girl, was struck by a motorcycle belonging to the defendant and injured in a way from which she will probably never fully recover. The ad dammum named in the suit is $5000.

The court adjourned at 1 p. m. today as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Judge Charles S. Lilley.

DANGEROUS COLLISION

Three Machines in Mixup in Tewksbury—Woman Injured—Man Arrested

The case of John D. Stuart of Hemingway street, Boston, was continued to May 4 in the police court today. Stuart was charged with driving an automobile so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public in consequence of a triple auto collision at Tewksbury in which three occupants of the defendant's car were hurled from the tonneau. Mrs. Christina Walker of Newburg street, Boston, one of those riding with the defendant, was taken to the Tewksbury state infirmary and treated for painful but not severe lacerations. The others were not seriously injured. Stuart, it is said by witnesses, was on his homeward way towards Boston, after having visited Lakeview. Between 6 and 6.30 p. m., it is stated, while seeking to pass another car headed in the same direction, he struck a Lowell-bound machine driven by a Miss Maloney and also occupied by her mother, both residents of Summer street, this city. The force of the blow is said to have sent the car spinning so that it was struck amidships by the machine which had been passed a moment previously. The impact of this second blow sent it forward again, and finally it turned over, while Mr. and Mrs. Walker, together with their daughter, were thrown into the road. Mrs. Walker was the only member of the trio who required medical attention. It is stated that the two machines concerned in the crash were not badly damaged. Stuart was taken into custody by Officer Arthur A. Kelley of the Tewksbury force.

SHOT GUNS FOR POSTOFFICE CLERKS

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Sawed-off shot guns with which American troops beat back German trench raiders in France, and which brought a protest from Berlin, are to be turned against postal robbers in this country.

Announcement was made yesterday at the postoffice department that a number of these guns as well as 45-calibre revolvers, also used overseas, had been obtained from the war department and shipped to all postoffices handling valuable mail. Employes of the offices will be armed with the weapons.

CASHIER SAID TO HAVE CONFESSED

Shortage Found in Accounts of Cashier, Who Had Been Named as New Treasurer

Unexpected Audit Ordered by City Treasurer Murray on Eve of Retirement

BOSTON, April 20.—A shortage in the city treasury of $40,000 became known today. It was discovered through an unexpected audit ordered by City Treasurer Thomas W. Murray on the eve of his retirement from office.

The shortage was found in the accounts of Thomas J. O'Daly, cashier of the treasury department, Mayor Peters said. Mr. O'Daly who had been 35 years in the city service, had been named by the mayor as the new city treasurer. Mayor Peters said he expected to have a statement from O'Daly later in the day.

The audit is continuing, according to Arthur D. Hill, corporation counsel, and the discrepancy of $40,000 discovered to date may be revised.

The irregularities were found soon after the audit began last Saturday. Treasurer Murray immediately reported the matter to the mayor who ordered the law department to undertake an investigation. Cashier O'Daly was asked to explain the irregularities, Mayor Peters said today, but had failed to do so up to this morning. He was reported ill at his home.

O'Daly Admits Shortage

Mayor Peters later said that O'Daly had confessed the shortage to City Auditor J. Alfred Mitchell at his home today.

The sum had been abstracted from city funds at various times the past 10 years, O'Daly admitted, according to the mayor. Part of the money was said to have been lost in stock speculation. The mayor said O'Daly had no property and could make restitution only through his $20,000 bond.

LOWELL HOSIERY AND BAY STATE REOPEN

After being shut down nine months the plant of the Lowell Hosiery company in Mt. Vernon street again showed signs of life this morning when about 25 per cent. of the help returned to work. The plant shut down tight last July and has been idle since. It was learned today that the operatives who returned this morning will work full time until further notice.

The Bay State Cotton Corp. in Broadway and Marginal street also resumed operations this morning after being shut down for the past five weeks. The entire working force of the company resumed activities and until further notice the plant will operate 48 hours a week.

URGES BAN ON ALIENS

Sec. Hughes Calls on Congress to Restrict Immigration to U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Rigid restriction of immigration was recommended yesterday by Secretary Hughes in official documents transmitted to congress. They were interpreted by house and senate leaders as reflecting increased need for the immediate passage of the immigration bill, reported yesterday by the house committee, limiting admission of aliens for 14 months beginning next May 10, to 3 per cent of each nationality resident in the United States in 1910.

"Our restriction on immigration should be so rigid," Mr. Hughes' report said, "that it would be impossible for most of these people to enter the United States." Particular reference was made to undesirable classes from Balkan cities, Armenia, Russia and Georgia.

The report said 606,292 passport vises were granted by American consuls in Europe in 1920, reflecting a stimulated desire in most European countries to emigrate to America before anti-immigration laws were passed. The principal restraining influence was said to be lack of funds due to depreciated currency values.

"The director general of police of Rumania," the report adds, "has issued an order excusing all Jews from military service and permitting their discharge from the army if they desire to emigrate to America."

In Rumania 1300 persons were awaiting examination for permission to come to the United States, it was said, while "tremendous pressure" for passage was reported by officials in Poland, where 35,000 awaited third class accommodations.

Letts and Lithuanians leaving the Balkan states, Mr. Hughes said, were largely people from the slums, the vast majority of them "Jews of an undesirable type."

In the Russian Caucasus, "it may be accepted as nearly literally true," Mr. Hughes said "that every Armenian family which has enough money to get away, or is not impregnated with Bolshevism, will ultimately endeavor to emigrate to America. Russians and Georgians are likely more and more to emigrate to the same haven.

"The great bulk of emigrants to the United States from this district are highly undesirable as material for future American citizens."

In making his recommendations, Mr. Hughes said: "Our restriction on immigration should be so rigid that it would be impossible for most of these people to enter the United States. Reference is especially made to Armenians, Jews, Persians and Russians, all of which have been so driven hither and thither since 1914 that they cannot be regarded as desirable populations for any country."

The report said that 5000 Armenians and 20,000 Syrians were waiting passage from Bagdad and that despite deference of immigration from Germany, the number desiring to come from that country had doubled in the last year, compared with any similar period since the war ended.

SHE FEELS HAPPY LIKE A GIRL NOW

East Taunton Resident Gains 12 Pounds and Hasn't a Trace of Old Troubles Left

"I can't fully explain in words what Tanlac has been worth to me, but the difference in my looks would convince anyone of what it has meant to me," said Mrs. Edvige Bouchard, recently, boro ave, East Taunton, recently.

"For the past year I didn't dare eat anything but the lightest of foods and a little milk. I never felt hungry and at times even the sight of food would make me sick. I had awful pains in my stomach after eating, and often got so sick, weak and dizzy I could hardly walk. My head hurt nearly every minute, day and night, almost fit to burst. I lost a great deal of weight, and felt so tired and worn out all the time it seemed that I was likely to fall over just any minute. Many nights I didn't sleep a wink and would get up feeling so bad I often wondered just what was to become of me.

"But thanks to a friend of mine, I learned about Tanlac, and it's just simply wonderful the way it has restored my health and built me up. Why, I have a wonderful appetite, am hungry at every meal, and never suffer from indigestion any more, and have gained 12 pounds in weight. I sleep like a baby and get up mornings feeling as happy as a little girl. In fact, I never felt any better in my life, and I just known Tanlac is the grandest medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town. —Adv.

THREE BOYS SWEPT TO DEATH OVER DAM

AUBURN, Me., April 20.—Three boys were drowned in the little Androscoggin river yesterday, when a rowboat which they had found on the bank and pushed into midstream was swept over the dam at the Barker mill. The victims were Robert Aube, aged 13 years, of 21 Second street, and Philippe Beaulieu, aged 9 years and Romeo Deschenes, aged 13 years, of 43 Dunn street. No trace of the boat or its occupants has been found.

Fernand Ouellette, aged 9 years, and Alphonse Aube, were with the others and asked to go, but were told they might get drowned. They saw the trio push the boat out into the swift current, and, using only a piece of board, try in vain to stem its course toward the brink.

Just before the boat went over one of the boys jumped. There is a 40 foot drop in the river at this point, which is several hundred yards from the main river, and at this time of year, there is about a three foot head.

Though the accident happened late in the afternoon and though the boys' parents were notified at once, the authorities did not learn of the event until two hours later, when darkness had fallen. All efforts to locate the boat or any of the bodies was without result. None of the boys could swim.

TERRIBLY BURNED

Two Men Victims of Oil Still Flareback

BRAINTREE, April 20—Albert Kayser of 48 Quincy ave., Quincy, and Hilliard Pratt of 3 Wainwright street, East Braintree, were terribly burned yesterday afternoon at the works of the Massachusetts Oil Refinery company at East Braintree.

The men were firing an oil still, when a sudden flareback of flames from oil coke caught them in the face.

Both were burned about the face and chest.

After first aid treatment they were both taken to the Quincy City hospital, where their names are on the dangerous list.

CARMEN TO TAKE SECRET BALLOT

BOSTON, April 20.—Leaders of unions of employes of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. yesterday announced that the men would vote Thursday night on whether to accept the new form of agreement submitted by the road's public trustees, providing for a wage cut and changes in working conditions.

The balloting will be secret at all union headquarters and will take cognizance of the trustees' alternate proposal that they operate the system without any union agreement and submit the wage question to arbitration.

Other questions will be submitted on the ballots Thursday, James H. Vahey, general counsel for the union said last night, adding that they would not be made public until the men had received them.

It costs about $1000 a day to keep an ocean liner in dock.

Had No Right to Seize Liquor

MIAMI, Fla., April 20.—A sheriff has no right to go aboard a foreign vessel and search for liquor, under the prohibition law and the liquor seized in such manner cannot be admitted in evidence, according to a decision by County Judge W. Frank Blanton ehre yesterday. Judge Blanton dismissed charges of violating the prohibition law against two members of a British schooner, arrested yesterday, after the sheriff had found 10 quarts of rum aboard, according to his testimony at the preliminary hearing.

Simplified Form of Bank Call

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A new and simplified form of bank call is being worked out by the comptroller of the currency, treasury officials said today. The old form on which the national banks were required to make the statutory returns as to conditions, officials explained, was found to be too involved and lengthy, and it is expected that the new form will be more standardized and but half as long as the present one. Request for information as to salaries of bank officials and employes which was called for by former Comptroller John Skelton Williams, officials said, would probably not be included in the new bank call.

Exhibition of Naval Target Firing

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 20.—Negotiations are under way, it was announced today, for an exhibition of naval target firing, directed by observation seaplanes, with the Pacific squadron of the Canadian fleet and the Canadian air force participating. It will be the first demonstration of the character ever staged in these waters.

Farmers to Form National Union

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Delegates from farm loan associations throughout the United States were here today to organize the national union of farm loan associations. The associations are said to own $17,000,000 of the $24,000,000 capital stock of the 12 Federal Farm Loan banks. The convention will ask for an increase of $25,000 of the maximum which a federal land bank may loan to individual borrowers.

"Star Spangled Banner" National Anthem

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A bill to make the "Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem has been introduced in the house of representatives by Representative Linthicum of Maryland.

HARDING UNVEILS BOLIVAR STATUE

Extols Monroe Doctrine in N. Y.—Statue of Washington Unveiled in Venezuela

NEW YORK, April 20.—The republics of North and South America joined hands across the Caribbean yesterday in two notable historical events commemorating their heroes who showed each continent the road to liberty.

Amid the roar of cannon and the plaudits of a distinguished gathering, President Harding, at the bronze equestrian statue of Simon Bolivar unveiled in Central Park, proclaimed anew the fundamentals of the Monroe doctrine and cited the desirability of standing firmly together for service both to the new and the old world.

Tribute to Washington

Simultaneously in Caracas, Venezuela's capital, President-elect Gomez and the people of Bolivar's native land, gathered around the statue of George Washington, which was unveiled with appropriate exercises in Washington Park, a new site to which it had been transferred.

President Harding's brief visit to New York gave the public its first opportunity to greet him as president with the enthusiasm always reserved for the nation's chief executive. From the moment of arrival until his departure three and a half hours later, crowds waited good naturedly in the chilly street and cheered a hearty welcome.

President Harding was generously applauded when he declared the United States was ready to fight to uphold the Monroe Doctrine.

"The history of the generations since that doctrine was proposed," he said, "has proved that we never intended it selfishly, that we had no dream of exploitation. On the other side, the history of the last decade certainly must have convinced all the world that we stand willing to fight, if necessary, to protect these continents, these sturdy young democrats, from oppression."

The president's arrival at Bolivar Hill was signalized by a salute of 21 guns. After he had been escorted to the stand facing the statue, followed by Secretary Hughes, Rene Viviani, envoy extraordinary from France; Governor Miller and Mayor Hylan, Dr. E. Gil-Borges, Venezuelan foreign minister; a host of Latin-American diplomats, and representatives of patriotic societies of both continents, the ceremonies began promptly.

President Harding's departure from the park, after Dr. William T. Manning, bishop-elect of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York, had pronounced the benediction brought another salute of 21 guns. Through the smoke of the artillery, and flanked by motorcycle policemen, he was driven at high speed through lanes of cheering men and women to the "Lighthouse" for the blind in East 59th street, where he spoke for one minute to a sightless audience that had eagerly awaited him.

The President and Mrs. Harding returned to Washington at 6 o'clock.

CAPIAS ISSUED FOR MAN DEFAULTED MONDAY

A capias warrant has been issued for the arrest of Sellah Omar, of Watson avenue, who was defaulted Monday for failure to appear in the police court and answer a grave charge in which an eight-year-old girl was the alleged victim of a criminal assault. He will be taken into custody on sight, and in the interim a $3000 surety furnished by friends is forfeited. Omar was arrested by Officer C. F. Sullivan several weeks ago after a sordid story was told by a little girl who accused him of being her assailant.

Bonds of $10,000 were fixed prior to his appearance in the police court, when Judge Pickman, substituting on the bench for Judge Enright, reduced the bail to $3000. The case was continued to April 4, and again to April 18, because of the fact that the child Omar is charged with assaulting was under treatment in a hospital as the result of injuries sustained in the alleged attack. When the case was called Monday morning Omar was absent. However, his counsel spoke of a misunderstanding as to the date of the hearing. A technical default was arranged, and it was understood that the defendant was to be produced, when the forfeit of the surety would be removed. This morning the witnesses for the prosecution, including the little girl, were present in court; but neither Omar or his counsel or friends appeared to represent the defence. A capias was then immediately sworn out, and a search instituted by the police authorities. It is believed that the defendant may have left Lowell, forfeiting the surety.

NEIGHBORHOOD PARTY FOR IRISH RELIEF

John Payne, P. J. Kane and a committee of vocalists and humorists have a number of unique features prepared for the "Neighborhood Party" at Y.M.C.I. hall tomorrow night in aid of the Irish Relief fund under the auspices of Paul Kittredge council, A.A.R.I.H. There will be old time dances, as well as the more popular of today, a minstrel program sparkling with fun and frolic. Mr. Payne has a program for young people and Mr. Kane one to follow for the elders. Both are in rivalry, each trying to outdo the other.

LOCAL YOUNG MEN JOIN THE NAVY

Six local young men have joined the navy since Saturday, it was announced today at the recruiting headquarters at the American Legion rooms, Dutton street. All joined in the capacity of firemen. On Saturday Ralph Drive entered the service, on Monday Thomas Nickerson and today Antonio Capnano, Edward Maloney, William Andrew Wyman, and Rodolph A. Falardeau. The monthly pay of a fireman, third class in the naval service is $43, besides which food, lodging, a clothing allowance, medical attention and other living expenses are received gratuitously. In brief after all actual necessaries are secured, a surplus of approximately $12 a week remains. To this is added 10 per cent. for sea service, together with other gratuities. The local men hope to make the cruise to Pearl harbor, Hawaiian Islands, aboard the U.S.S. submarine Beaver. When a submarine is submerged, $1 an hour is paid to each member of the crew. The local navy recruiting representatives have opened new quarters at the end of the American Legion building nearest Merrimack st. This is through the courtesy of the local legion post.

NEW HAVEN STOCKHOLDERS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 20.—Stockholders of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. Co., at their annual meeting today had before them a proposition to merge into the company subsidiary companies. Election of a board of directors and the question of refunding a loan placed in Europe in 1907 also were before the meeting.

The committee on relief of distress in Ireland will hold its weekly meeting tonight to advance the plans of the drive.

Under the auspices of the committee Rev. Thaddeus J. O'Connor, C.S.P., of Cork, Ire., now in Boston, has been engaged to deliver an illustrated lecture on recent events in Ireland at the Opera House, Sunday evening, May 8. Fr. O'Connor's lecture is endorsed by officers of the Irish republic.

CONCERT AND DANCE

Chelmsford Town Hall Scene of Dancing Party and Concert by Patrick Henry Council A.A.R.I.R.

Members of Patrick Henry council, A.A.R.I.R. of Chelmsford conducted a successful dancing party and concert in the town hall, Centre village Monday evening. In the early part of the evening entertainment numbers were given by Jas. Daley, J. O'Gara, Miss Jennie Conway, Miss Josephine Coyle and little May Conway, and later general dancing was started and continued till a seasonable hour. The officers for the evening were John Quinn, floor director; John Keefe, Edward Quinn, Andrew Sheehan and Walter Barlow, aids. The affair was given under the direction of the following officers of the council: Joseph Quinn, president; Miss Mary F. Hill, vice president and treasurer; Miss Marion Brennan, financial secretary; Miss Rose Sherrin, secretary membership committee. During intermission ice cream and cake was served.

MAZDAS CLUB PARTY

The annual dancing party of the Mazdas club, an organization composed of local electric light workers, was held Monday evening at the Highland club hall. There was a large attendance and all spent a most enjoyable evening. In the early part of the evening concert numbers were given by the orchestra and a novelty act was presented by the Dixie Cake Walkers. General dancing was enjoyed till a seasonable hour. The committee in charge consisted of Miss Evelyn Lee, Miss Bessie Brundin, Miss Helena Sharkey, Miss Gertrude Leggatt, Miss Gladys Dodge, Miss Agnes Dugas and Miss Elvira Gibson.

A.O.H. AUXILIARY

Patricia day was observed last evening by the Ladies' auxiliary of the A.O.H. with a social and dancing party. The affair, which was largely attended and proved very enjoyable, was held in A.O.H. hall in Middle street and was in charge of the following officers: Miss Catherine Gaffney, general manager; Mrs. Annie Dewire, assistant general manager; Miss Nancy Parker, floor director; Miss Josie Kennedy and Miss Mollie Ford, assistants; Miss Catherine Reardon, secretary; Mrs. Maria O'Connell, treasurer and Mrs. Mary Curran, chairman of the reception committee.

Adventures of The Twins

OLD GRANNY HIPPO

"NO, THANK YOU, I'M NOT G OING," SAID GRANNY HIPPO

"Why did I leave the circus?" repeated Old Granny Hippo when Nancy asked her.

The twins and Flippety-Flap found her taking a mud-bath in a yellowish river in the Land-Of-Pretty-Far-Away. It was next door to the Land-Of-Farthest-Ever, one of the Fairy Queen's Nine Hundred and Ninety-Nine Kingdoms.

"Rumph!" she snorted. "Rumph! rumph! It was the calliope that did it. That awful thing with steam-pipes and black coal-smoke, that they ruin every circus parade with. I couldn't stand it when it began screaming its silly tunes. My wagon came right next to it, and I always got a headache the minute it began."

"Oh, we love the calliope, don't we, Nick?" said Nancy in surprise. "It plays such pretty tunes."

"Well, you're quite welcome to it, I'm sure," said Old Granny Hippo crankily. "But I don't think you have much company."

"Why?" asked Nick.

"Because I've observed that people watching the parade always leave the minute it comes along. They'll be standing there admiring me when all at once that silly thing starts up, and you should see them scatter. I can't stand it, so why should they?"

Flippety-Flap spoke up then. "But they leave because that's the end of the circus parade! Why should they stay longer?"

Granny looked thoughtful. "I didn't think of that," she said. "Maybe they did. But that last note! Did you ever hear it? It's off-key, and when they come to it I always try to cover my ears, for my head starts to ache at once. And when I have a headache it means something, for I've got so much head to ache."

"We could get it fixed, perhaps," suggested Nick. "The calliope, I mean, not your head."

Granny Hippo switched around in the muddy water. "No, thank you," said she. "I'm not going."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

If you are awearied of blue law blather, of sour and pasty-faced gloom-manufacturers who preach the sinfulness of all joy, take a jaunt to the Opera House sometime this week and get a dose of real old-fashioned pleasure, the kind we used to have before it became illegal to smile. "The Girl in the Limousine," as staged and acted by the 1920 Lowell Players, will prove a delight to all who do not belong to the League to Make Laughter Impossible. With Avery Hopwood as collaborating author, it offers a series of droll situations, presented in the brightest kind of dialogue. The players have caught the very spirit of the confection, and this performance is of New York calibre. One who has seen "She Walks In Her Sleep," "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," and others of the species given "just off Broadway," may say this without fear of being considered a rhapsodizer. To start off with, Marguerite Fields gives us a most refreshing and grateful interpretation of the young matron whose bed-chamber is the scene of most of the complications of the piece. With Milton Byron in the role of her former sweetheart, she presents for our approval a dainty and at the same time spirited interpretation of her role. We say "with Milton Byron," for the pair have most of their business and dialogue together, and each appears to furnish impetus to the other in the gay work of living through ridiculous predicaments. Two finished farceurs. As Dr. Jimmy Galen, Maxwell Driscoll proffers us his usually suave performance. Although handicapped by being forced to wear all his clothes throughout the play, he accentuates the merriment of the occasion in a most agreeable manner. As Aunt Cicely, Priscilla Knowles shrieked right heartily as other members of the cast revealed themselves successively in embarrassing juxtaposition, and usually arrayed in none too weighty attire. "The Girl in the Limousine" is the type of bedroom farce which some critics delight to designate by expressions such as "daring," "a wee bit shocking," and other arch and blushing terms. But if the truth must be said, and these simpering sticklers confounded, the average decent-minded person, finds nothing whatever offensive in a piece of the sort. If you care to see Miss Marguerite Fields do one of the most charming pieces of characterization you ever had the pleasure of enjoying, if you want to see Milton Byron prove himself the possessor of a notable understanding of comedy, if you wish to laugh until completely exhausted by the jovial exercise, do not pass up "The Girl in the Limousine," an excellent demonstration of the often repeated assertion that the Lowell Players constitute the most accomplished stock company in New England. Once more you are exhorted, —and this is a straight tip,—to treat yourself to a delectable evening.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Large holiday audiences were entertained at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday by the two big feature productions which close their engagement this evening. D. W. Griffith's "The Love Flower," and Will Rogers in "The Gulle of Women," were the magnets which attracted hundreds to the popular Paige street amusement house. Tomorrow afternoon there will be an entire change of program.

The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "Godless men," a stirring story of the great outdoors, and "The Song of the Soul," an appealing story, starring popular Vivian Martin.

There is the tang of the sea, the thrill of human combat with the elements and the drama of red-blooded sailors in "Godless Men."

This photoplay is a film adaption of the Ben Ames Williams story, "Black Pawl," which appeared in the Saturday evening Post. The action centres about a brutal old sea dog who has been called "Black Pawl." He rules his ship, Deborah, with fear, the most mutinous character aboard being his own son, Red Pawl. He had taken his boy at a tender age on a voyage only to return and find the mother with his little daughter had eloped with another man. From that moment he denied the existence of God and taught his son the gospel of hate.

On the island a missionary, Samuel Poor, had attended a dying woman who pleaded with him to get her daughter back to civilization on the first boat. Red Pawl conspired with a seaman, Spiess, to kill his father that he, Red Pawl, might be master of the ship and of the girl.

On board a pure love affair sprung up between Ruth and Second Mate Dan Darrin. The girl felt an unaccountable confidence in Black Pawl, whom everyone else feared.

From this point on, the story gains dramatic momentum until finally a very startling and unusual climax is reached. A capable cast interprets the various roles.

"The Song of the Soul," the other big feature for the week-end, is from the story by William J. Locke and has a most unusual theme. The heroine is a blind girl played by Miss Martin, and the role gives her an exceptional opportunity to display her emotional talents. She is ably supported.

A comedy and the International News round out the bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

If you have not seen House Peters and Jane Novak in James Oliver Curwood's famous northern story, "Jacbel" you should plan on doing so today for it is making its final appearance at the Rialto theatre. The picture is one of human interest and portrays the northern snows and the wonderful sunsets beyond imagination. The program also carries "The Truant Husband" and a variety of other attractions.

Beginning tomorrow there will be a complete change of program introducing Rebe Daniels in "Oh Lady, Lady," an English picture, "The Lure of Crooning Waters," a comedy, "Beat It," an episode of "Fighting Fate" and the Fox News.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

If you are a member of a family, and especially if you are the mother, the sketch, "Any Home," being presented at B. F. Keith's theatre this week as the headline attraction, will appeal to you in more ways than one. And inasmuch as all of us either are family members now or were at one time, the sketch may be said to have universal appeal.

Jean Adair, the capable actress who has devoted years to the "young-old woman" of the stage, plays the leading role, that of the mother. She's the typical mother, unceasingly working, sacrificing and loving that the other members of her family may have comfort. But unlike most mothers when she finds that her work isn't being appreciated, she protests and when her protests prove unavailing she goes on strike.

This brings her husband, son and daughter, pampered beyond all reason, to their senses and immediately there develops a new respect for the mother. She tells them that they treat her with less respect and deference than the cook and declares that she will hereafter command all the privileges which the cook enjoys. The rest of the family agree to all her propositions so long as she promises to return to them.

"Any Home" is an entertaining vehicle that brings Miss Adair's peculiar talents to the fore. It is garnished with a lot of funny situations, but running underneath is a current of seriousness and a bit of a moral that will strike home.

Eddie Ross, he of the black face and the inevitable banjo, is with us once more in his inimitable series of stories and banjo numbers. Eddie can make more fun out of the fact that he was a member of a large family than any entertainer we know. In fact, he talks for nearly half an hour on the sole topic, his mother and father, sisters and brothers. He says that there were at least 14 members of his family with whom he was "personally acquainted." Ross has been on the stage for years but his work seems to grow more delightful each year.

Jack Rolls and Ruby Royce are among the best dancers who have appeared in Lowell during the present season. Rolls is a light chap who steps around with ease. Miss Royce, on the other hand, is inclined to be stout, but if anything, she is lighter on her feet than her partner. The two are experts in their line and offer a program of pleasing variety.

The Three Chums are a trio of male singers of ability who entertain with solos and trios. Incidentally they introduce a burlesque on two spectators at a movie show and the mobile countenance of one of them keeps the audience howling.

Bob and Peggy Valentine in "Vital Statistics," have an original song and comedy conceit which they put across in a capable manner. Peggy is the young woman census taker and Bob the small-town "wise guy" who is being questioned. Clean comedy and good music are written all over this offering.

The Donald sisters are strong looking young women who present something new in the way of hand balancing and Com. Tom is a dapper pony who displays almost human intelligence.

The motion picture films, including the Kinogram Weekly, Topics of the Day and a comedy are up to their usual standard.

THE STRAND THEATRE

The program at the Strand theatre advertised for the first three days of the week has proved to be such a big drawing card that the management has decided to continue it during the remainder of the week. At Monday afternoon and evening's performances standing room only was almost at a premium, while yesterday the house was packed at all performances.

The big attraction are Priscilla Dean, a noted star, appearing in Tod Browning's newest creation, "Outside the Law," and Clara Kimball Young, another local film favorite, who is being featured in "Mid-Channel." In addition to these two high class reels there is also an enjoyable comedy as well as a series of scenes of current events taken in various parts of the world. The musical numbers by Miss Elsie Robbins also add materially to the success of the bill.

"Outside the Law," reveals the struggles of crooks to go straight and deals with the story of a notorious crook known as Black Mike who has become enraged because Molly, his pal, and her father, are attempting to go straight. He frames the father of the girl and then tries to trap the girl, but his efforts are fruitless. Some thrilling scenes follow.

"Mid-Channel," Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's great drama that was great presented on the stage with Ethel Barrymore in the leading role, and now shown on the screen with Clara Kimball Young, starring is the second feature on this extraordinary bill. Miss Young's achievement in the role is unquestionably one of her biggest and most successful film efforts, and has merited the unqualified approval of all motion picture patrons.

HIGH RECORD FOR TONNAGE AND TOLLS

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A new high record for net tonnage passing through the Panama Canal and tolls earned was established in March, according to official announcement. The previous high record was made in January of this year. The aggregate net tonnage of commercial traffic for March was 1,112,818, as compared with 1,094,323 for January and the tolls earned in March amounted to $1,105,529, which is about $10,000 more than was earned in January.

There are now in Alaska 200,000 reindeer, 70 per cent. of which are owned by Eskimos.

NEURASTHENIA— NERVE STARVATION

A Disease of the Down Hearted—Practical advice on what to do.

Many a man is broken down and discouraged without having any actual disease in his organs and tissues—he has lost his grip, feels weak and nervous and everything looks dark. He is suffering from the great American disease—Neurasthenia or nerve starvation, due to over-work, worry, continual hurry and nervous strain. The longer this continues the more certainly will it end in real disease of his organs, his nerves or his mind.

Such a man should live on the simple foods, eat plenty of cooked fruit and green vegetables, sleep nine hours at night if he can, an hour in the afternoon and feed his starving nerves and weak, thin blood, with a good nerve and blood food, like Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron contains a product brought to the attention of the French Academy of Medicine by the celebrated Doctor Robin, which represents the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force; it also contains a genuine organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples.

Nuxated Iron may therefore be said to be a real nerve and blood food since it supplies the principal ingredients demanded by your nerves and blood to give you strength, energy, force and endurance. It often increases the bodily and mental vigor of weak, worn-out, down hearted and nervous folks in two weeks' time. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if it does not produce perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.—Adv.

Feast on the Flavor

The Old Cape Cod Flavor

of Gorton's Ready-to-Fry Cod Fish Cakes

IT'S the delicious, deep-sea flavor. The fresh-from-the-ocean flavor of tender, white cod, cured in salt and sunshine. And cooked with mealy, crumbling potatoes, as only Gloucester fisher-folks know how.

Then sealed in enamel-lined cans for you to open and merely roll out into cakes and fry. Unbelievable that such delicate fish-cake flavor could come out of a can!

Fry in very hot fat, to a golden-brown crust. Serve them sizzling with aroma from hot pan to hot plate quick—and feast on the flavor.

One can feeds three. The meat part of the meal for any meal—breakfast, lunch or dinner. But far less expensive than a meal of meat or eggs.

And easy to fry as bacon.

Get a can from your grocer today and you'll have a case (24 cans) in your pantry tomorrow.

Feast on the flavor today.

P. S.—A case of Gorton's Ready-to-Fry Cod Fish Cakes in your larder will save you work on "fish days."

IN POLICE COURT

Star Boarder Figures in Local Domestic Trouble

A very slim after-holiday docket was heard in police court this morning by Judge Enright. The case of Rafaies Bematavicziss, charged with wielding a razor and uttering dire threats against his wife, consumed the greatest length of time, as both the defendant and his wife were represented by counsel who had considerable evidence to produce relative to the affairs of the couple, who have been married for 11 years. Mrs. Bematavicziss took the stand as the first witness. She told of an alleged incident occurring on the night of April 8. At that time, she said, her husband flourished a razor in close proximity to her countenance, at the same time exclaiming, "You'll have your justice here. It will be death, justice, and everything." The woman, who testified through an interpreter, as did her husband, could give no other explanation of these cryptic alleged pronouncements of her husband and so explain that they amounted to a declaration that he intended to have her life. Mr. Bematavicziss, she said, also included the kicking down of her bedroom door as a part of the activities of that night. This door she had kept locked, she declared, but she was not allowed to give her reasons for this precaution, in consequence of objection by counsel for the defendant. Bematavicziss himself denied even being present in the house on the night of the alleged menaces. He then presented his angle of the case, telling the not uncommon story of a star boarder, alienation of affections, and concluded with the declaration that his wife made no bones of announcing that she cared more for the boarder than she did for him, telling him that the boarder was a better man than he was. The boarder himself, said the defendant declined to leave his lodgings at the Bematavicziss domicile, informing the defendant that he was not afraid of him. Judge Enright continued the case for a month, to see whether matters cannot be adjusted between the pair.

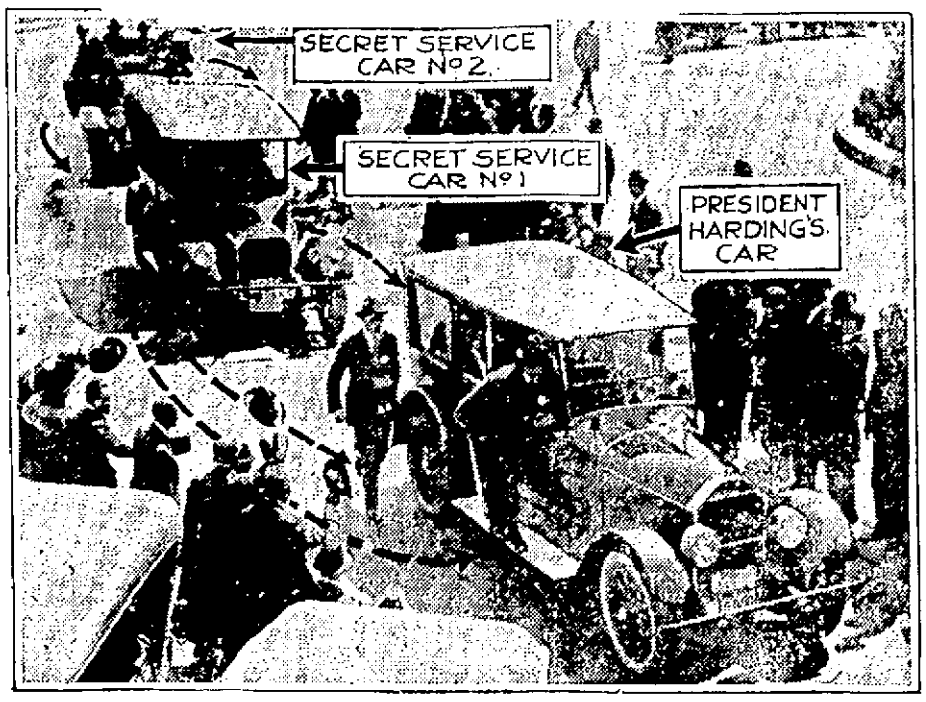

Charged with indecent conduct in the presence of several young girls, Thomas F. Allen was sentenced to serve three months in the house of correction. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file. Girls in their teens testified that Allen made signs of invitation to them, followed them persistently on the street, and otherwise annoyed them, including actions of great impropriety in his conduct. The defendant's defense was to the effect that he could not remember anything that happened. Officer Jerome P. Cullen testified to complaints being made concerning the behavior of Allen. Judge Enright then imposed the three months' sentence, Allen lodged an appeal, and bonds were fixed at $300. A short time after the conclusion of his case and before the end of the court session, he returned from his cell downstairs and requested that he be permitted to withdraw his appeal. This was granted, and he will begin the serving of his sentence today at Cambridge.

Adam Nasutowicz, when charged in the police court with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, and asked whether he was guilty, indignantly and loudly responded, "Well, I guess not. Nasutowicz, a Chelmsford resident, was arrested by Officer James R. Gookin. Bonds were fixed at $300. The case of John D. Stuart, charged with operating an automobile at Tyngsboro in such a manner as to endanger the lives and safety of the public, was continued to May 4. He was arrested by Officer Arthur A. Kelley. Philip Dussault, charged with peddling without a license, pleaded not guilty, but was fined $10. He appealed and was held in bonds of $200. It appeared that the defendant had in his posession the license of his employer, but none of his own. An officer testified that after being warned, the defendant persisted in selling under the same conditions. Dussault is a resident of Salem street.

There were eight releases of holiday drunks by Probation Officer Slattery prior to the opening of the court. Speaking from a liquor standpoint, the city was exceptionally quiet. There were no raids by the booze squad, and no serious cases of drunkenness.

Lyons, France, has the only university that offers a course in perfumery making.

HOW IS PRESIDENT GUARDED? THIS SHOWS YOU

You hear a lot about the secret service men who guard the president everywhere he goes. Ever wonder how they work? Look at this photo-diagram. The picture was snapped in Washington a few days ago. President Harding is in the front car, which is slowly coming to a stop. Note that three secret service men from S. S. car 1 have reached the president's car while it is still moving. One has hopped on the running board, another is running up just behind him and the third has raced up on the far side of the car. By the time the president is alighting the secret service men shown stepping out of S. S. car 2 will be all around him to see him safely through the crowd. Every time the president goes out in his car the secret service care are right behind.

A DOG-GONE SHAME

Gee, it's a tough life! Mother's gone swimming. Daddy's gone to the city. And they've left me all alone with Towser to look after me. And Towser's hungry and has swiped my bottle. What's a fellow going to do anyway—except weep?

New Customs Control By Allies

BERLIN, April 20.—A despatch from Essen says the new customs control set up by the allies in the occupied zone for the collection of duties under the penalties plan became effective at midnight. Passenger trains are being detained 10 minutes for the inspection of the passengers and their baggage.

210,000 Respond in Military Class of 1921

PARIS, April 20.—Reports show that the military class of 1921, called to the colors during April, has yielded 210,000 men, which is more than 75 per cent of youths 20 years of age, who are subject to military service. This is the first time that such a high percentage of effectives has been secured and newspapers attribute it to a decrease in the use of alcohol, the spread of sports and improved living conditions on farms.

CONCERT AND MUSICALE AT HIGH SCHOOL

Arrangements have been completed for the first concert and musicale to be given by the combined musical organizations of the Lowell high school in high school hall this evening for the benefit of the athletic fund. The orchestra, glee clubs and mandolin club will join with soloists and a reader in presenting a pleasing and varied program. The mandolin club will be directed by W. . Hovey. Mrs. Evelyn Kinsman, soprano of Boston and a church singer of note, will assist the school musicians. Miss Anna Lee Maguire of the school faculty will give a series of readings and Andrew A. McCarthy, baritone, will contribute several solos. Miss Helen Choate will be the accompanist of the evening. The concert will start promptly at 8 o'clock and will be under the general direction of Fred O. Blunt, director of music in the public schools.

Co. for a garage and gasoline license at Smith and Shaw streets was referred to Commissioner Salmon.

The petitions of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for pole locations in Middle and Appleton streets were referred for hearings May 3.

The petition of Arthur Gervais for a garage and gasoline license at 25 Riverside street was referred for a hearing May 10.

Similar action was taken on the petition of a garage and gasoline license at 169 Fairmount street.

The petitions of Ezra Greenberg for an edgestone on the southerly side of Princeton street, and of George A. Lachance for edgestones on both sides of Cascade avenue were referred to Commissioner Murphy.

The petition of Peter A. Phasoulas to sell firearms was referred to the Mayor and Commissioner Marchand.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company was granted permission to erect two poles in West Sixth street between Coburn and a point near 125 West Sixth street.

The Lowell Electric Light Corporation was granted permission to locate the following poles; one pole, Canton street; two poles, Buchman street, off Lakeview avenue; one pole, Central street; two poles, Mt. Washington street; two poles in Crescent street, near Parker.

Following favorable reports from the commissioner of streets and highways and the city engineer, the council voted to adopt the following orders:

Order to lay a sewer in Dartmouth street for a distance of 140 feet at a cost of $850 on petition of Rufus A. Maxfield.

Order to lay a sewer in Mill court for a distance of 120 feet at a cost of $630 on petition of Henry A. Drew.

Commissioner Murphy introduced an order to lay a sewer in Conduit st. at an estimated cost of $5350. The sewer was requested by Eleanor Desrosiers et al. Mayor Thompson wanted to know about the need of the sewer; he thought that a large amount of money was being involved. Commissioner Murphy said that more or less trouble had been caused the residents of the street because of the accumulation of surface water there owing to the lack of proper sewer accommodations. Commissioner Salmon said that the water department had an outlet on the street. It was finally voted to refer the matter to Commissioner Murphy for further investigation.

An order to re-establish the grade of a portion of Dartmouth street was adopted.

Commissioner Murphy's requisition for a carload of cement, two paving rammers and several hundred feet of hose to be bought through the purchasing agent's office was approved.

A bill of $50 from the Lowell Oakland Co. for repairs of a machine in the buildings department was approved.

At the request of Commissioner Donnelly it was voted to award to Sullivan Bros. a contract for the printing of 1400 lists of male and female residents of 20 years of age or over for the use of the assessors' department. Sullivan Bros. were the lowest bidders, agreeing to do the work for $1.33 per page.

Commissioner Salmon reported favorably on the following garage and gasoline petitions and the licenses were granted:

Merrivale Co., garage, Howe st.

A. G. Edson, gasoline, 500 Princeton st.

George E. Lavallee, gasoline, 52 Mammoth road.

A. V. Wallace, gasoline, 457 Westford st.

A. H. Saunders, gasoline, 125 Paige st.

COMPULSORY VOTING

The bill before the legislature to compel citizens to vote on pain of being fined, or imprisoned, if they fail to do so and are unable to furnish a satisfactory reason for not going to the polls, is likely to appeal to a considerable number of people, on first thought, as being a desirable measure.

It is certainly desirable that the views of as large a portion of the electorate as possible regarding policies and candidates shall find expression at the ballot box on election day. Altogether too many citizens stay away from the polls without an adequate reason for so doing. It is questionable, though, whether driving these people to the voting places by fear of having a penalty imposed upon them if they stay at home, would be a gain to the community.

The law is open to the objection that it attempts to make people "good," or in other words perform their plain duty, by legislative enactment.

Like other similar laws, it would quite certainly fail to accomplish its purpose for the reason that it is well nigh impossible to force a considerable number of people to do what they do not care to do, and which they and others do not look upon as a matter of very great importance.

It would seem that the question of voting may very well be left where it is now with the individual citizen and his conscience. The franchise is too great a privilege, won through centuries of struggling, to be forced upon "slackers," who are too dull, lazy or thoughtless to take advantage of their priceless heritage.

The proposed law has its technical defects also, in that, should it be placed on the statute oks, it would probably be found practically impossible of enforcement with the machinery provided for in the bill. It would very probably result in cluttering up the district courts with such a mass of cases that it would be difficult for them to function satisfactorily.

It may also be questioned whether society or government would gain anything for the vote of a man or woman forced to go to the polls by fear of fine or imprisonment.

DOMESTIC INTERESTS FIRST

Some of the greatest British writers are endeavoring to convince us that if Europe should prove unable to recover from the ravages of war, the United States would suffer almost as much as some of the weakest of the European nations.

H. G. Wells tells us that we cannot live without Europe and he notifies us that if the greater part of Europe were reduced to a desert, we should have to assume the white man's burden alone "save for some nations which are weak in numbers and others that are weak in whiteness." He attributes our business depression to the fact that we have lost European aid as a result of the war and that this explains why our railroads are idle and our farmers in distress.

We are not prepared to admit that we are quite so dependent upon Europe as Mr. Wells would have us believe; nor is our depression due to the absence of European trade. We have been in a war and we are now feeling the after-effects same as most of the other nations that engaged in the struggle.

We may notify Mr. Wells that if we are suffering depression at present, we do not believe that an immediate linking up with Europe or any of her leading empires would hasten the relief. Indeed the reverse of his statement is probably true. It is doubtful if Europe can recover without the aid of the United States, and that is why the European nations are so much concerned over our foreign policy. President Harding in his recent message made clear the fact that while we owe a duty to Europe and to civilization in general our first duty is to America. And this does not mean international isolation but a proper regard for the responsibilities of the same hundred million people who look to the government at Washington for the conservation of their liberties, their rights and their interests. Other nations look to their own interests first and we are fully within our rights in exercising the same privilege.

WISE LABOR POLICIES

The railroad employes, in advising President Harding that they are willing to revise any of their rules which make for unwarranted operating expense, have taken a long step forward.

The railroad executives say that the failure of the railroads is caused by the high wages paid. The men reply that the big waste is in operating expense items other than labor. Then they offer to cut out any waste that can be found in the labor item. That puts it up to the executives.

President Harding in his message to congress said that "railroad rates and costs of operation must be reduced." That puts it up to the railroad executives again.

The action of the railroad employes is especially notable as it is a recognition that, in coming down from the war-peak of prices to a lower cost of living, labor must be willing to come down, too.

Labor secured notable advantages in the war, the advantages that are far more important than the rate of pay. For example, there was established the right of collective bargaining, the basic eight-hour day, the right to better conditions of employment, and more fundamental than all is the principle that, whether jobs be plenty or scarce, and whether there be an oversupply of labor or a dearth of it, the cost of living must be considered as a fundamental in determining any fair wage scale.

The old rule was that labor went down first in times of repression, and went up last in times of prosperity.

The railroad men set a good example—and in this they display tact and sound business sense—when they agree to arbitrary wages and accept reasonable changes which would amount to definite wage reductions, demanding in return strict management and lower rates for the public.

The result of lower freight rates would be to stimulate freight movement, take the iron hand of repression off of business and actually earn the railroads larger profits.

If labor, as a whole, will follow the wise lead of the railroad men, in this particular case it will be backed by public opinion.

If prices must come down and profiteering must be cut out and waste and extravagance must be eliminated, then money wages can come down and yet leave the worker better off than before.

Judging from the good sense shown by the railroad unions in thus helping to avert a crisis and to settle amicably a question that menaced industrial peace throughout the nation, they have won a higher place in the confidence of the public.—N.E.A.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND

The Quaker unit investigating the conditions in Ireland supplements its former communications by one bearing upon the present condition of the people and upon the extent of the distress. As to the reign of terror that prevails, it cannot be adequately described. Those who support the republic and who are suspected of being actively engaged in aiding the Sinn Fein, are in constant terror of reprisal raids from the Black and Tans which usually result in the destruction of life and property. In addition to this the military are continually searching for active participants in the rebellion and not unfrequently take young men from their beds and shoot them at their own doors. The few who may venture to aid the government are equally in dread of being dealt with as traitors by the republican army. This state of terror is widespread and it prevents the people from pursuing their usual occupations.

As a result of the number of people killed, the 25,000 driven out of the shipyards in Ulster, the other thousands thrown out of employment by the burning of the city of Cork, the destruction of the creameries and factories of various kinds, the report from the Quaker unit that 100,000 people are at this moment in absolute want, is a very conservative statement.

It should serve to stimulate the relief work in this country, as offering assurance that the money is urgently needed and that so far as possible, it will be devoted only to the relief of the sufferers.

FIRST STREET BOULEVARD

There has been a great deal of talk about the First Street boulevard and the stadium, and now that the good weather has arrived, it is time that the work were started. When the county was ready to start work on the original plan, Mayor Thompson took a leading part in having the project abandoned in order that new plans might be devised to divert the roadway along the riverbank and provide for a stadium between the boulevard and First street.

The county commission knows nothing about the new arrangement; and although it has been stated that the public service department has it in mind, that is probably as far as the project has gone.

The usual procedure has been to enter a petition with the county commission which would take the matter up and, in case of approval, co-operate with the city and the state in all the arrangements. The county does the rough grading and the state the final grading and surface finish. It is time the municipal council got behind this movement and have the work started as soon as possible. If the survey and plans have not already been completed, it will be well along in the summer before even that part of the work can be finished. Whatever steps are necessary to have this work started should be attended to without further delay.

If Artemas B. Woodworth, president of the Lowell Co-operative bank, has not made two blades of grass grow where one grew before, he has done something almost equally worth while in helping to provide the city with 2500 new homes in the last 35 years. The Sun hopes that he will never have occasion to use the gold-headed cane that was presented to him on his 80th birthday.

A Washington correspondent states that "the battle to bring back beer and light wine will be fought to a finish in this congress." If the statement proves true, it is quite certain that John Barleycorn will not be at the ringside to applaud the end of the fight.

The Buffalo, N. Y., man who sent his shirt to the state house tax collector, saying it was all that he had left, must be worrying a little just now as to what he is to pay his next tax bill with.

If Mr. Harding knows what that portion of his recent message dealing with foreign relations really means, he is probably entitled to the distinction of being looked upon as the only living mortal who has such information.

The mayor of Lewiston, Maine, has cut $400 from his salary, as part of a general reduction of the municipal pay roll, but no applause has yet been heard from the members of the New England Mayors' club.

Massachusetts would like to see the people of Georgia educated, but it objects to being compelled by the Smith-Town bill to rob its own children of school privileges to pay for it.

"The moving finger writes and having writ moves on," but has it ever written of a stranger thing than that the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" is to be turned into a movie play?

Judge Landis says that prohibition should be given a 50 years' trial. We are wondering when Lowell's trial period is to commence.

Salaries of state officials were increased $2,500,000 in 1919 and 1921. Another example of G.O.P. economy.

Bill Woods says that a fellow returning from Canada with a loaded grip might be called a "bottle-scared hero."

What has become of the old-fashioned mother who, along about this time of year, used to feed the children sassafras tea and sulphur and molasses?

A Lowell man back from the Pacific coast was telling of his trip in P. Z. Lynch's tonsurial parlors a few days ago and, among other things, he spoke of a Los Angeles barber who has a sign on his window: "Hair cut while you wait." Patsy broke in at this point to remark that the barber in question would have to be a magician to cut it any other way.

Japan's Auto Rules

"Go soothingly on the grease-mud, for there lurk the skid demon." That is not one of the warnings an American motorist in Japan would find facing him, that is if he were able to translate the Japanese character. E. R. Plummer, purser on the liner China, recently brought to San Francisco Japan's latest automobile rules which read as follows when translated literally: At the rise of the hand of policeman, stop rapidly. Do not pass by or otherwise disrespect him. When a passenger of the foot have in sight, toottle the horn trumpet to him melodiously at first. If he still ostsacles your passage, toottle him with vigor and express by word of mouth the warning, "hi hi!" Beware of the wandering horse that he shall not take fright as you pass him. Do not explode the exhaust box at him. Go soothingly by, or stop by the roadside till he pass away. Give big space to the festive dog that make sport in the roadway. Avoid entanglement of dog with your wheelspokes. Go soothingly on the grease-mud as toote lurs the skid demon. A Ballade of Tastes

(Copyright, 1921, by the Lowell Sun)

Just gimme some pitchers that's pleasant an' pretty.
(Some Harrison Fisher or Underwood dame)
A few photographs of our beautiful city,
An' mebbe some calendar pitchers to frame;
Some nice homey stuff is my choice, an' I claim
It's better than Dutch things by Hal or Van Dike.
(I ain't seen their works but I know 'em by name)
I don't know no art but I know what I like!

Take music; I'm strong for the kind of ditty
Like them that gave Dresser an' Harris their fame,
Or Irving Berlin, for you gotta admit he
Is there with the jazz, he's a wiz at the same.
To me all this Wagner and Mozart is tame
I can't seem to foller a tune that they strike,
An' though that may show that my culture is lame,
I don't know no art but I know what I like.

For books, I hate stuff that's all gruesome an' gritty
That pictures this like as a sin an' a shame,
An' I don't get fellers that's terribly witty
Like Wide an' like Shaw, I don't savvy their game;
It may be their genius sizzles like flame
But Harold Bell Wright has 'em beaten, sure Mike!
Of all of the authors he's cremo-de-la-creme,
I don't know no art, but I know what I like!

ENVOY

So here's the conclusion to which I have came
While plodding along on life's commonplace pike,
I'll just please myself, an' I'll take all the blame;
I don't know no art but I know what I like.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Do you believe in signs—signs of spring? Some of us certainly crave a sign of the blossomy season on Monday, with the cold wind blowing through our whiskereties, and the sleet caressing our countenances with the gentleness of a shower of B-B shot. Residents of Centralville were vouchsafed a sign as they plodded on their way down town to work. The first inkling of it reached them when the bleak blasts enveloped their frames as they stepped upon the Centralville bridge. "Wheeew!" wheeewed the wind. Folks looked up, and beheld a sign of spring. The hitch beard fence was gone from the side of the bridge. And that is how the denizens of Centralville knew last Monday was spring. They'd never have known it any other way.

Dr. Frank Crane, America's leading male Pollyanna, has the following to say of a recently published volume of popular chemistry: "The book is tremendous. It is an epoch. It is knowledge made beautiful, facts transformed to fairies." Of course we didn't know before that knowledge needed to be made beautiful, except to stupid people who find beauty only in popular sob ballads and alleged society movies. However, that wasn't what we started out to say. We were going to wonder what Dr. Crane would have done if he had read "Hamlet" or "Don Quixote" or "L'Etourdi" when they were first published. Would he have had apoplexy and died? Or, after hysterics and fainting spells and wild cheers, would he have been able to write, "The books are tremendous. They are an epoch."

My attention has been called to an item appearing in one of our periodicals which will be of special interest to Lowell men who are members of the Knights of Columbus. The item in question states that the K. of C. is the only American fraternal insurance organization to be given an unconditional ranking with the best Canadian commercial insurance organizations by the Canadian insurance commission, according to a report made by Commissioner W. G. Finlayson, head of the Canadian government's insurance bureau in Ottawa. Commissioner Finlayson says that an examination of the K. of C. financial standing shows the Knights to be 125 per cent. solvent and I believe that there are few other fraternal organizations with insurance features which can show so high a percentage of solvency.

Thankful He Was Not a Woman

The late Lawson Tait, of England, the great woman's doctor, said he never went to bed at night without thanking heaven he was not born a woman. No doctor ever knew better than he what women have to suffer at some times of their lives. It was an American woman, long since passed to her reward, who introduced a combination of roots and herbs called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that has proved wonderfully successful in mitigating suffering and relieving diseases of women. It has brought relief to thousands of women who suffered from female ills.—Adv.

C. T. A. U. Officers Chosen —National Convention to Be Held in Boston

BOSTON, April 20—Delegates to the annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, to take place in June, will be invited by the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of the Archdiocese of Boston, to come to this city for the purpose of holding the national convention. This action was taken yesterday after considerable debate at the annual convention of the diocesan union, held in the Brookline town hall.

The Rev. Francis X. Dolan, president of the diocesan union and rector of St. Gregory's church, Dorchester Lower Mills, presided. He was assisted by the Rev. Dr. Maurice F. O'Connor, chaplain-general, and pastor of St. Bridget's church, Framingham. Miss Ellen Sweeney was appointed as assistant to Secretary Maurice Dineen, the latter in his annual report stating that the diocesan union now has 14 societies with a total membership of 852, showing no serious loss since the advent of prohibition.

William H. Cuddy of St. Joseph's Total Abstinence society, West End, and one of the most active workers in the temperance movement, speaking on the question of inviting the national convention to this city, said he thought the influence for good by such action would be widespread. "I believe prohibition today is a joke," said he. "You can buy as much whiskey as you want. Therefore, the need of temperance organizations is apparent."

Father O'Connor stated that Cardinal O'Connell gave his approbation to inviting the national convention to be held in this city.

One of the principal speakers of the day was Edwin Mulready of Rockland, a member of the labor and industries board. Mr. Mulready has been active in the temperance movement all his life and is a past national president. He spoke of his experience and advised the delegates regarding the invitation to the national organization. A committee of 20, to be appointed by the board of government, was voted, to devise ways and means and prepare a program for the coming convention.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Fathers Dolan and O'Connor, president and chaplain-general respectively; James F. Manning of Taunton, first vice-president; Abigail F. Reardon of Lynn, second vice-president; Maurice Dineen of Somerville, secretary; Thomas F. Finan of Brookline, financial secretary; Henry W. Feenan, corresponding secretary.

Delegates-at-large to the national convention elected are:

Charles D. Gallagher of Lowell, John Welsh of North Chelmsford, Mrs. James E. Skinnell of Brookline, Mrs. Maurice Dineen of Somerville, John J. Doherty of Brookline, and A. D. Teso of St. Gregory's.

The convention opened with a solemn high mass in St. Mary's church, with the Rev. Bernard F. O'Kane as celebrant, the Rev. Aloysius Finn, deacon, and the Rev. Thomas Frawley, sub-deacon. The Rev. James F. Cassidy was the preacher.

After the mass the delegates were the guests of St. Mary's C.T.A.U. at a dinner served in G.A.R. hall. School Committeeman Driscoll and Selectman Walter Cusick of the town were guests. Lawrence Corcoran of St. Mary's C.T.A.U. was the chairman of arrangements.

EFFICIENT AND COURTEOUS FITTING SERVICE

FOR THE IRISH HEROES

Mass at St. Columba's—Sermon by Rev. Francis L. Keenan

Rev. Francis L. Keenan of St. Patrick's church delivered a powerful sermon on the significance of Patriots day to those who are striving for Irish freedom at the memorial mass celebrated in St. Columba's church yesterday morning at the request of Lafayette council, American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. The mass was for the repose of the souls of those who died fighting for the Irish cause. Large delegations from the various councils of the city were in attendance.

Rev. James F. Somers was the celebrant of the mass, and Rev. Patrick J. Hally, the pastor, was also present. Rev. Fr. Keenan took his text from the First Corinthians, 15th chapter, 55th verse, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" He said that it was fitting on Patriots day to honor the heroes of all lands, because the shot fired at Concord which was heard around the world, was nowhere more resonant than in the hills of Ireland, where today it is calling the manhood of the country to the defense of its liberty.

He said that the brave men who have died fighting for Ireland's cause have not been conquered, but have joined the ranks of the immortal. Likewise, they are immortal in the hearts of their countrymen where their epitaphs will be written on monuments more lasting than stone.

Rev. Fr. Keenan quoted an address of the late Terence MacSwiney in which the late lord mayor of Cork said that the liberty for which Irishmen were fighting is a sacred thing and because it is a sacred thing, death for it is like the sacrifice on Calvary. He said that Mr. MacSwiney's sentiments were typical of the spirit with which the people of Ireland are still infused and, in conclusion, he offered a prayer for the eternal repose of the souls of those who have given their lives in Ireland's battle for freedom.

GENERAL VARNUM'S CAREER DESCRIBED

That had General Joseph Bradley Varnum of Dracut been chosen governor of Massachusetts in 1813 he might have become a national political character and possibly a candidate for the presidency was asserted by Frederick W. Coburn in an address dealing with General Varnum's career delivered before the members of Molly Varnum chapter, D.A.R., yesterday.

Mr. Coburn said that the 1813 election represented a turning point in the general's career. He was opposed by Governor Caleb Strong, extreme federalist and unrelenting opponent of war with Great Britain. Governor Strong's victory, the speaker said, spelled disaster for the democratic party in Massachusetts and New England and seriously injured the prestige of General Varnum. Three years later he failed of re-election to the senate and went back to a place in the legislature where he had served as a young man.

The speaker said that General Varnum believed a war with England was inevitable and that he supported measures for military preparation. As a consequence of his votes in congress he was roughly handled by mobs in New England in the summer of 1812. The stand taken by Governor Strong, Mr. Coburn asserted, would have landed him in the Atlanta prison if it had happened in 1917.

The speaker called attention to the fact that the 100th anniversary of General Varnum's death is to occur next September and expressed the hope that it would be fittingly observed by local patriotic societies.

Previous to Mr. Coburn's address the report of the nominating committee was read. A reception followed at which Mrs Mary Greeley Morrison was hostess; Miss Mary A. Webster and Mrs. E. M. Tucke poured. Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. O. Wilson, assisted by Misses Mildred Beals, Gertrude Fox, Bernice Jewett, Helen Webster and Nellie Horner.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

A largely attended meeting of the members of the Pawtucketville Improvement association was held last evening in the vestry of the Pawtucket Congregational church. President Cornelius F. Cronin occupied the chair and Rev. A. G. Lyon, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. Interesting reports were submitted concerning the coming midway, which will be held on the Lakeview avenue grounds for the benefit of the memorial fund and it was voted to form a permanent organization with permanent quarters at the church. A committee was appointed to confer with the park commissioners regarding the removal of houses along the river front so as to make a suitable park in that part of the district. Routine business was transacted and the meeting adjourned to May 4.

Whatever You Do Don't Neglect Your Eyes, Says Says Dr. Lewis, Who

Tells How to Strengthen Eyesight 50% in One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. He says neglect causes more eye troubles and poor sight than any other one thing. Many whose eyes were failing say they had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for 15 days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

NOTE: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them." The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen the eyesight 50 per cent, in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist, and if one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family. It is sold in Lowell and vicinity by all leading druggists.—Adv.

MUSICAL FETE BY THE LEND-A-HAND CLUB

The Lend-a-Hand club entertained large audiences in the state armory in Westford street yesterday afternoon and evening with its musical fete, "The A.E.F.'s Dream of Home." The affair was presented for the benefit of the new maternity department of St. John's hospital.

The appropriate setting used at the ball of Battery B Monday evening formed the background of the fete and added much to its attractiveness. William Paul McCarthy was the capable director and accompanist, and the dance numbers by Miss Peggy O'Reilly, Miss Elinor Pitts, Miss Mary McCarthy and Miss Mary Regan were most commendable.

The singing, too, was excellent and the audience made manifest its appreciation of the various numbers from the opening medley till the finale.

Little Miss Kathrin O'Brien, the year-old reader, made a great hit, reading and dancing. She is an exceptionally clever child and she pleased immensely.

After the musical program general dancing was enjoyed. The committee in charge included Miss Margaret Courtney, Mrs. James Gookin, Mrs. William Donley, Mrs. Rose Tague and others. The program in detail was as follows:

ART ASSOCIATION'S ANNUAL MEETING

The Lowell Art association now has 300 members, according to a report read by Miss Mary G. Stevens of the membership committee at the 15th annual meeting of the organization held in the Whistler house last night. The president, Joseph A. Nesmith, presided. It was voted to postpone the annual election of officers to May 17.

The secretary, Mrs. Mary E. Woods, gave a detailed report of the activities of the association during the year. She referred particularly to four exhibitions of paintings that have been held and to a display of the handicraft work of local colonies of "foreigners." She said that, in the near future, Sears Gallagher would give two talks for the association. One will deal with the speaker's own work, and the other, illustrated by pictures and vocal and instrumental music, will describe the beauties of Venice.

The report of Treasurer F. A. Chase showed that the organization has a small cash balance on hand and that $900 has been expended during the past year for repairing the roof of the Whistler house.

An experiment station is to be started by the federal government at Unalakleet, Alaska, for the scientific breeding of reindeer.

LIVED IN LOWELL SIXTY YEARS AND GLAD OF IT, SAYS PROMINENT MAN

Mr. F. A. Fuller of 234 Varnum Ave., Lowell, Mass., and a Prominent Citizen Indorses the Tonic CINOT for Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism

CINOT desires and is using as much as possible testimonials from old residents of Lowell who are well known so the people may investigate as to the truth of our statements. Mr. Fuller says:

"I have had rheumatism so badly that I had to walk with a cane and severe pains in the small of my back from kidney trouble.

"I felt as if I needed a regular tonic to build me up and tone up my entire system so I decided to try CINOT and am very glad I did as it has helped me wonderfully in every way and today through the use of this wonderful tonic I am very much better and feel it my duty to tell the public how much it has helped me."

We want people, young and old and in all walks of life to try this tonic this spring and we can assure you that you will be among the many boosters that this remedy has received.

CINOT IS BEING DEMONSTRATED IN LOWELL BY AN EXPERT AT DOWS' DRUG STORES, MERRIMACK SQUARE AND IS FOR SALE BY ALL GOOD DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.—Adv.

BATTERY B'S BALL WAS BIG SUCCESS

Battery B's complimentary ball to its honorary members in the state armory in Westford street Monday evening was a thorough success in every respect and gave a large audience of Lowell people their first view of the reorganized outfit. Despite the inclement weather, the attendance was most gratifying and everybody present enjoyed the program greatly.

The large drill shed was never more prettily decorated than Monday evening. The drab, bare walls were concealed by unending folds of bunting of various colors which ran from the walls out onto the cross beams overhead. In the centre was the bandstand surrounded by white posts and down in the right hand corner of the drill shed was the orchestra. The band and orchestra alternated throughout the evening and in this way the tedious delays between dance numbers, which are often characteristic of other affairs of this kind, were eliminated.

A concert of band and orchestral numbers from 8 to 9 o'clock was the first feature of the evening's program and then Capt. W. C. MacBrayne marched the battery onto the floor, spick and span in natty olive drab.

Capt. MacBrayne spoke of the work of the battery, stating that outside of regular army outfits, it was the first unit to be federalized and formally accepted by the war department and that 39 per cent of its present membership was composed of veterans who had seen overseas service with Battery F of the 102d Field Artillery. He added that it was Lowell's first military unit formed since the world war and that its formation and success were due principally to the co-operation and efforts of its honorary members.

The battery was then presented to Mayor Perry D. Thompson, representing the city, by Col. Frank S. Perkins of Salem, representing the commander-in-chief of the Massachusetts forces. He commended the battery for its wonderful record and excellent appearance.

Mayor Thompson responded graciously and presented a guidon, by proxy, to the battery. Unfortunately, the guidon itself was not complete, but a beautiful silk flag was given instead. The ceremony ended with the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the band. Dancing then began and continued until after midnight.

Governor Channing Cox was unable to be present owing to the pressure of engagements. A large number of military officials together with members of the municipal council were in attendance.

DANCING PARTY

Seventy-five couples enjoyed a dancing party held last evening at St. Anne's parish house under the auspices of the young men of the parish. Marshall's orchestra furnished the dance music. The officers in charge of the affair were: General manager, Calvin Berger; assistant general manager, Arthur Burris; floor director, Harold White; assistant floor director, Fred Brautigan; chief aid, Arthur Brautigan.

ANNUAL REQUIEM MASS

Rev. James A. Supple, D.D., was the celebrant of the annual requiem mass for the deceased members of the Broadway Social and Athletic club in St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. A large number of members of the organization attended.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Y. M. C. A.

A year of progress and growth was indicated in the annual report of General Secretary Harold F. Howe made at the annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. last evening. The annual meeting followed the monthly meeting of the board of directors. The election of directors to serve for the ensuing year was postponed until a future meeting.

In his annual report, Secretary Howe mentions the fact that when he became secretary of the organization last spring, the secretarial staff was almost depleted and his first duty was to secure an adequate staff to carry on the association's work.

He reports an increase of 181 members during the year with an increased revenue from membership fees of $3000 over the preceding 12 months. This is due chiefly to an increase in the membership rates.

In the physical department there were 672 organized gym classes during the year with an attendance of 10,248 boys and 5960 men. In addition, 600 more men and boys have attended wrestling and boxing classes or have used the handball courts. Six hundred boys were taught to swim and 95,800 baths were taken by men and boys during the year.

There was reported similar progress in the social work of the association as well as in the religious, industrial and dormitory departments. The boys' department had an unusual development during the year and the bowling alleys under the direction of George Waterhouse produced additional revenue and gave hundreds of men and boys opportunity for recreation. The association restaurant also showed good results during the year.

The financial report shows a deficit of $2112.50 for the year.

The present staff consists at the present time in addition to the general secretary of the following members: N. R. Farnum, membership and social; P. B. Hopkins, dormitory; H. E. Hockman, industrial; T. R. Williams, boys' secretary; R. G. Trinker, building secretary for boys; F. W. Sawyer, physical director; Guy Harmon, assistant physical director.

LOOM WOVEN Lloyd Baby Carriages and Furniture

Lloyd Loom Woven Wickers Are First in Demand; In Every Way Better Than Those Made by Hand.

Here's the Very Carriage You Always Dreamed Of

Remember how you planned it—a low, roomy, comfortable carriage; smooth and gliding. O, yes! And smart and good-looking—graceful lines and the newest finish.

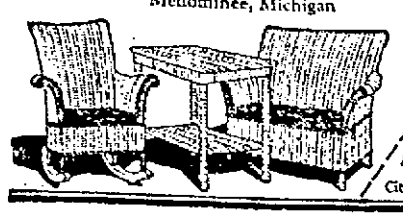

Well, here it is at last—the prettiest carriage in all the world for the prettiest baby. You'll be surprised, too, at the reasonable cost.

It was Marshall B. Lloyd who invented the method and loom which produce Baby Carriages and Wicker Furniture thirty times faster and finer than the old hand woven products. These inventions cut labor costs, enabling Mr. Lloyd to weave the finest wickers, use the best materials, employ the most skilled workmen, add the latest refinements and still sell his wicker products at remarkable prices. That's the power of invention.

SOUTH ENDS VICTORIOUS

Hank Garrity Stars in Defeat of Lawrence Knights of Columbus Team

Roland and Canney's South Ends opened their season auspiciously yesterday by taking two games from the Knights of Columbus of Lawrence, the first in the downriver city in the morning by a 6 to 0 score and the second on the South common here in the afternoon, 4 to 3.

The South End players showed remarkable form for so early in the season and gave every indication of putting up a strenuous fight in the Twilight league which is soon to open. In the morning game the Lowell outfit had Garrity on the mound and this youthful twirler who only a few years ago was raising ructions with grammar school batters held the Knights at a safe distance. Only in the fifth inning was he in any kind of a hole but he managed to extricate himself by striking out three men in succession. He had 12 strikeouts in the nine innings of play. Buckley and A. Jenkins were other stars. The winners scored five runs in the second inning and one in the fourth.

In the afternoon a fairly large crowd gathered on the South common to witness the second game despite the uninviting atmosphere. The Knights got a two-run lead but after the second inning the South Ends showed signs of life at the bat and began to even matters. Aided by errors on the part of the visitors, the locals obtained the lead and kept it until the end of play. The lineup:

South Ends: A. Jenkins, lf; Crowe, ss; Buckley, cf; Falls, rf; Condon, 2b; R. Jenkins, 1b; Brosnahan, 3b; Dillon, c; Harrington p.

K. of C.: Beirne, lf; Higgins, p; Delaney, cf; Smith, 1b; McFarland, 3b; Ferrin, rf; Blackwell, 2b; Sullivan, c; Dean, ss.

GREATEST START IN HISTORY OF GAME

CINCINNATI, April 20.—President John A. Heydler of the National league here on his first "swing around the circle," said that the game had received the greatest start in its history and that it remained with the magnates and the players to finish it as well as it began.

He said the new rules announced by Commissioner Landis in regard to holdouts would go into effect next Saturday.

The league chief will accompany the Reds to Pittsburg tonight and will see the opening there tomorrow.

LOWELL HIGH DEFEATS TOWNSEND HIGH

In a cold, raw atmosphere that kept down the attendance and made ball playing more or less of a hardship, Lowell high school opened its season at Spalding park yesterday forenoon with a victory, defeating Townsend high, 10 to 0. While lively in spots, the game was a more or less listless affair and the one-sidedness of the score didn't help to enthuse the few faithful followers present.

Lowell outclassed the visitors in practically every department and once Coach Donahue saw that his charges had every earmark of superiority, he did not force them to their greatest exertions. McAdams pitched six innings for Lowell and displayed good form as far as could be judged from the poor showing made by Townsend. Ordway twirled during the last three innings and gave evidence of his good work in previous years.

Lowell high presented a lineup built around the nucleus of the 1920 squad. A number of newcomers had a chance to show their wares and in almost every instance gave spectators reason to believe that with the proper training they would round out into capable players.

Lowell high got ten hits and her opponents only two, a fair indication of the comparative strength of the two outfits. In the first four innings the locals piled up nine runs and thereafter took it easy. The score:

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZED FOR SEASON

The City Baseball league, composed of six teams, has been organized for the season of 1921. All players in the league are under 19 years of age. A list of officers has been elected and rules governing the league and a schedule adopted.

The president shall call meetings of the league whenever he deems it necessary. All arguments must be referred to the president first. If the president is unable to settle a dispute or protest it shall be referred to William H. Sullivan of The Sun. Mr. Sullivan's decisions shall be final.

The secretary shall keep a record of all games played, and also have published in a local paper once a week the standing of the clubs.

The treasurer shall handle all money received by the league.

All protests or arguments must be reported within four hours after game has been played.

Teams failing to arrive on the appointed grounds by 3 o'clock p. m. shall be considered to have forfeited games in which they were to participate by a score of 9 to 0, unless opposing teams have previously agreed otherwise.

All games must be played on the double umpire plan.

Opposing captains must submit to each other the batting orders of their respective teams before the beginning of each game.

Each club may have not more than 13 playing members.

There must be no players in the league over 19 years of age.

Any club having good reason for postponing a game may do so by making the necessary arrangements with the opposing manager.

In case of bad weather, the clubs shall arrange among themselves dates on which the postponed games shall be played. All games must be played by Sept. 10.

Each club of the league must pay $10 as an initiation fee. All initiation fees must be paid by May 21.

Each club shall pay 50 cents a week toward the league.

Any club leaving the league forfeits all money they have contributed to it.

All money received by the league shall be used for prizes for the first three teams.

The official ball of the league shall be the Harwood National league ball.

The schedule for the season follows:

April 23—Cardinals vs St. Columbas, Unities vs Sharfs Nobles, Oakleaves vs Celtics.

30—St. Columbas vs Unities, Sharfs Nobles vs Oakleaves, Celtics vs Cardinals.

PAULETTE CANNED BY SEMI-PROS

MASSILLON, O., April 20.—Gene Paulette, former first baseman of the Philadelphia National League club, who was placed on the ineligible list of organized baseball by Commissioner Landis several weeks ago, has been released by a semi-professional team here.

Paulette's release, it is said, followed protests from semi-professional clubs throughout the country against his playing here so long as Judge Landis' decision is in force.

SEMI-FINALS IN TENNIS TOURNEY

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 20.—The semi-finals of the first annual open tennis tournament were on the program today at the White Sulphur Springs club. Ichiya Kumagae, the north and south champion, was pitted against H. W. Throckmorton, New York, while Howard Voshell of New York opposed C. A. Major, New York.

The Japanese champion was favored to win in his match with the easterner. Those who followed Kumagae's play yesterday, with S. G. Mortimer of Tuxedo declared that he played better tennis than in the games last week when he won the north and south title at Pinehurst. The Tuxedo player was at his best, but Kumagae played a machine-like game and came out on top.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE OPENS

NEW YORK, April 20.—The new International Baseball league season opens today. Newark, N. J., which dropped from the league in 1915, has returned, replacing the Akron, Ohio, club. The league schedule calls for 168 games.

Today's games: Buffalo at Jersey City; Syracuse at Newark; Rochester at Reading; Toronto at Baltimore.

GAELIC ATHLETIC MEET

Lowell Association Wins at Football and Loses in Hurling Contest

The Lowell Gaelic Athletic association won and lost yesterday afternoon at Spalding park before a crowd which braved some rather wintry blasts in order to witness the contests. The Tipperary Football club went down in defeat before the onslaught of the local aggregation, which triumphed by a narrow margin over their Boston opponents. The final tally was 11-10, with the Lowell team on the long end of the score. The Clare Hurling club, also a Boston organization, had a walkaway in the first contest, winning 17-8. St. Enda's hurlers represented Lowell in the game. The first tally was registered by the visitors, who followed it with a couple more for good measure. It was give and take at times, especially in the second period of the contest, when St. Enda's showed some snappy work. The local team, however, was not able to overcome the lead of their opponents, and their hard earned goals and points were in vain. Five goals and two points were bagged by the Bostonians, whereas the St. Endaites were forced to content themselves with two goals, although they gained an equal number of points with their opponents. It must be mentioned that the club representing this city is a comparatively new body, and that the teams which carry its colors have been practicing as a team only a very brief space of time. Under the circumstances, therefore, there was no discredit attached to the hurling setback, while the victory achieved in the football contest reflected the greatest credit upon the local players. The Clare hurlers of Boston, winners in yesterday's hurling match, possess the following personnel:

Michael Ensko, captain; T. Cahill, vice captain; J. J. Concannon, T. Gallagher, Martin Cline, John McNamara, David Hayes, John Connole, M. Slack, T. McCormack, T. Giggins, E. Carmody, Martin Howard and Flynn.

The lineup of St. Enda's follows: J. Mealey, captain; Patrick Barrett, vice captain; T. Masterson, T. Reardon, M. Fahey, T. Mescall, T. Carney, J. Casey, T. Cologan, T. Neylan, T. Harrington, J. Leary, P. Forde, Spellacy.

The hurling match opened the program of the afternoon. It was growing cold and chilly by the time that the football men trotted out on the field. Nevertheless, there was a large body of supporters at the side lines and in the grandstand, to the very finish of the contest, which did not come until nearly 5 o'clock. St. Enda's football team and the Tipperary club of Boston were the opponents which faced each other for the Gaelic football match. The first period was closely contested. Time and again the ball was brought down the field by both teams, only to be blocked by clever interference at the goal post. Both aggregations were on their toes, and some brilliant team work was uncovered. At the final toot of the whistle, ending the first half of the game, the visitors had the lead, although the play of the local men had been displaying increased traces of aggressiveness and punch as the game progressed. In the second session St. Enda's made a determined struggle for the laurels. They were after the ball every moment, and finally succeeded in breaking down the lead of the Bostonians, and establishing one of their own. When the final whistle blew the St. Enda's had registered three goals and two points, while with the same number of goals, the Tipperary men were one point in the rear. This conferred the victory on the Lowell outfit. The roster of players for both organizations was as follows:

For St. Enda's—Patrick White, captain; Michael Quinn, vice captain; John Cunningham, Henry Cunningham, Edward Cunningham, Jack Martin, Philip Shannon, George Conboy, Thomas Sheffield, Andrew Connors, James Mahoney, Martin O'Connor and Daniel Clancy.

Tipperary—James Dunne, Martin Cline, Colinane, Bray, Kennole, Connors, Moloney, Haskett, Horgan, Ensko, Flaherty, Gordan and Haslett.

BELLEVUES WON AT LEOMINSTER

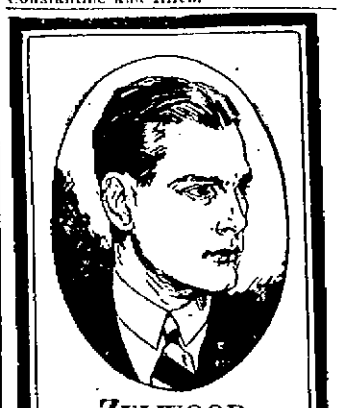

The Highland Daylight Bellevues opened the 1921 season by defeating the strong Leominster team in Leominster yesterday afternoon by the score of 15 to 12. The local team scored 14 runs in the first four innings of play and then satisfied with their early lead let up in the last few frames and this resulted in Leominster piling up a total of 12.

Purtell and Gallagher featured in the field and the batting of Lyons and Bridgeford was responsible for most of the Bellevues' tallies. The game was attended by a crowd of over 1000.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.	H.	E.
Bellevues	3	6	2	3	0	0	0	0	1	15	22	3
Leominster	2	1	0	3	0	0	2	0	4	12	14	12

PERRIN WON HOLIDAY PRIZE IN TOURNEY

Perrin, with a three-string total of 383, won the daily prize in the handicap bowling tournament at the Crescent alleys yesterday. A large number competed in the various classes on the holiday and many high scores were put up. Lutender and Devlin each rolled 354 in the competition for the high total on Monday. In last week's rolling Flanders, who captured first in about all classes, won more than $30 in prizes.

The leading scores this week, including those of yesterday and last night are as follows:

Individual—Lutender 365, Dr. Horne 361, Houston 359, Beauregard 348, Lynch 333.

Two Men—Flanders-Sullivan 704, Schombom-Flynn 674, Devlin-Flanders 672, Whitelock-Foye 666.

Weekly High Single—Lutender 148.

Weekly Three Picked Strings—Lutender 416.

Daily Three-String Totol—Monday, Lutender-Devlin 354.

Tuesday, Perrin 353.

BIG CROWD AT GRAMMAR SCHOOL MEET

Fully 2000 men, women and children witnessed the grammar school athletic meet, which was held on the South common oval yesterday forenoon and all showed a great interest in the various events that were carried out. The affair was held under the personal direction of Major Walter R. Jeyes, physical instructor for the grammar schools of the city, who was highly complimented for the successful manner in which every item of the long and varied program was carried out. There was one accident during the meet, when Regan of the Moody school while participating in the running high jump in Class A made a hard landing and fractured his collarbone. He was given first aid by Dr. Slaughter and Miss Dwyer, a trained nurse, who remained on the common throughout the meet. The little fellow was later sent to his home.

The meet opened at 9 o'clock as announced and from that time until after 1 o'clock the boys and officials were kept very busy. The boys of the Charles W. Morey school, however, proved to be the strongest in athletics and they won the honors of the day with a score of 69 points to their credit, the second on the list being the team of the Washington school with a score of 28. The scores of the other teams were as follows: Lincoln, 6; Greenhalge, 5; Moody, 5; Greek, 3; Edson, 3; Varnum, 2, and Colburn, 1.

The events and the results were as follows:

100-yard dash, Class A—Won by Whitworth, Washington school; second, Hedlund, Morey school; third, Carpenter, Varnum school. Time 11 4-5 seconds.

100-yard dash, Class B—Won by Simoneau, Lincoln school; second, Ducharme, Greenhalge school; third, August, Colburn school. Time 12 1-5 seconds.

Shotput—Won by Whitworth, Washington school; second, David, Morey school; third, Mertrud, Lincoln school. Distance 28 feet 6 inches.

220-yard dash, Class A—Won by Hedlund, Morey school; second, Brigham, Morey school; third, Joyal, Greenhalge school. Time 26 seconds.

220-yard dash, Class B—Won by Sandler, Washington school; second, Latham, Morey school; third, Murphy, Moody school. Time 28 seconds.

Running broad jump, Class A—Won by Whitworth, Washington school; second, David, Morey school; third, Choquette, Greenhalge school. Distance 16 feet 7 inches.

Running broad jump, Class B—Won by Zoll, Morey school; second, Fiplais, Greek school; third, Latham, Morey school. Distance 12 feet 9½ inches.

Half-mile run—Won by Whitworth, Washington school; second, Hickey, Edson school; third, Allen, Varnum school. Time 2 minutes 31 3-5 seconds.

1200-yard relay—Won by Morey school. Time 3 minutes 49 seconds.

Running high jump, Class A—Won by Littlefield, Morey school; second, Whitworth, Washington school; third, Regan, Moody school. Height 4 feet 10 inches.

Running high jump, Class B—Won by Bagshaw, Morey school; second, Price, Moody school; third, Zoll, Reynolds and Butler, Morey school. Height 4 feet 6 inches.

Pole vault, Class A—Won by David and Forrest, Morey school; third, Hedlund, Morey school. Height 7 feet 2 inches.

Pole vault, Class B—Won by Bagshaw, Morey school; second, Hannigan, Morey school; third, Butler and Reynolds, Morey school. Height 7 feet 8 inches.

The officials of the meet were as follows: Major Walter R. Jeyes, referee; Alfred Armstrong, starter; Thos R. Williams, clerk of course; Earl P. Leadbetter, assistant clerk of course; D. P. Brennan, Michael Byrne, F. E. MacLean, D. W. MacLean, judges; Leon C. Wells, Eric Barker, timers, and Paul W. McGregor, announcer.

TWOHEY'S PETS WIN

Twohey's Pets evened the score with Sharf's quintet in their second meeting on the Merrimack alleys on Monday night. The first game resulted in a victory for the Sharf's, and they entered the second battle confident of making it two in a row. But the "mighty" Kelly, who was regarded as a sure thing 300 men, emulated his famous namesake of baseball fame, but instead of "striking out," he struck the subway so frequently that his total for the three strings was but 204. The Sharf's team distributed the "razzberries" last week, but on Monday night they were made the recipients of the favorite fruit. The third and final game will be rolled next week and both sides are out to win at any cost. The scores of Monday night's game follow: Twohey's Pets—Corcoran 293, Rogers 247, O'Connor 251, Floof 254, Fitzgerald 283. Sharf's Pets Kelly 204, Lannan 232, Leary 259, Barrett 242, Cullen 225.

ZUNA WINS MARATHON

Former Doughboy Breaks Record in Finishing First in 25 Mile Race

BOSTON, April 20.—The American Marathon road race, with the country's leading long distance runners contesting, was won yesterday in new record time by Frank Zuna of Newark, N. J., a former doughboy who hiked with a smile. In the van almost from the start, Zuna speeded up his stride in the last few miles, pulled away from Charles Mellor of Chicago who had been his running mate much of the distance, and finished the 25-mile run in 2 hours, 18 minutes, 57 3-5 seconds. This record of his was more than two minutes faster than that of Michael J. Ryan of New York whose victory in 2 hours, 21 minutes, 18 1-5 seconds in 1912 was the best previous time for the event.

Mellor finished second, a tired runner, 3 minutes, 14 2-5 seconds behind the winner, and in third place was Peter Trivoulidas of New York, winner last year.

Former winners ranked high again, as Carl W. A. Linder of Boston, victor in 1919, was fourth and Edouard Fabre of Montreal, winner six years ago, was sixth. William J. Kennedy of New York, the bricklayer who plodded home first in 1917, finished 14th yesterday.

A new comer in Marathon competitions, A. R. Michelson of Stamford, Conn., was well up all the way and finished fifth. Three New York runners, Villar Kyronen, Otto J. Laakso, and John Golf, were seventh, eighth and ninth, and another former doughboy, Robert E. Conboy of Buffalo, his face still marked by wounds received in battle, was tenth.

Zuna, who carried the colors off the Paulist A. C., of New York, ran his own race to win. Drawing on the experience gained in his hiking overseas, where he fought with the 27th division while action was on, and raced to victory in the Dijon Marathon of 15 miles and the American Expeditionary Force cross country championship of six miles at Paris in the post-armistice sports, he plotted his strategy in advance and plodded away in fulfillment of it to success. He accepted the pace-making of Schou Christensen of Chicago for a time, allowed Mellor to lead slightly for a mile or two and to break the wind for him while they crossed the hills into Newton, then brushed by him with a friendly smile, went to the front and was never headed.

The victor is 26 years of age, a big man of 190 pounds, of which he lost four pounds in the hike yesterday. He was the freshest of the field in appearance at the finish.

The summary:

1—Frank Zuna, Newark, N. J., time 2.18.57 3-5 (new record.)
2—Charles Mellor, Chicago, 2.22.12.
3—Peter Trivoulidas, New York, time 2.27.41.
4—Carl W. A. Linder, Boston, 2.28.02.
5—A. R. Michelson, Stamford, Conn., 2.30.35.
6—Edouard Febre, Montreal, 2.31.34.
7—Villar Kyronen, New York, 2.32.36.
8—Otto J. Laakso, New York, 2.33.39.
9—John Goff, New York, 2.37.35.
10—Robert F. Conboy, Buffalo, 2.38.18.
11—M. J. Lynch, Washington, D. C., 2.38.38.
12—Alfred Rodgers, Halifax, N. S., 2.38.51 2-5.
13—Clifton Mitchell, New York.
14—William J. Kennedy, New York.
15—Willie Carlson, Chicago.
16—Henry G. Dobler.
17—Gustav de Vichie, Hoboken, N. J.
18—Jerry Dacey, Boston.
19—A. K. Sturgis, Boston.
20—Edward H. White, New York.
21—Ralph Dick, Springfield, Mass.
22—George B. Moss, New York.
23—Oswald Sparson, Boston.

LITTLE VISITS WITH FEATHERED FRIENDS

The bluebird, emblem of happiness, is the second most longed-for bird of our spring. It is a red-letter day when we first hear his voice on the crisp air when nature is awakening. He symbolizes so much to us—the first spring days and the gladness of the summer months. Then when November takes this bit of charming color to the southland, we know for certain that we are on the verge of the long winter.

The bluebird is friendly and would like to nest close to us, but we have some very undesirable neighbors that he cannot tolerate. I refer to the English sparrow. The bluebird dislikes and even fears these noisy, disagreeable immigrants, and for this reason we seldom have them about our doors.

I had an interesting family of bluebirds one spring, however, that were reared in a tin can nailed to the grape arbor. The birds were not at all afraid of me, and would fly about my head while I worked in the yard. The youngsters grew nicely, and because of a collie dog trained to discourage the invasion of cats, so called "good" cats or otherwise, they got away from the nest safely. For some days while they were learning the use of their wings, they sat about the arbor or flew around it as unafraid as their parents.

Bluebirds in one arbor, two boxes of wrens in another, redbirds across the fence robins in a near tree, orioles in the elms and rose-breasted grosbeaks in an apple tree were some of my bird friends of that year.

Severe winters sometimes kill off the bluebirds badly, and this accounts for their scarcity at times. But after a while their numbers increase and old orchards, their specially favored habitat, are again alive with them, for they like old knot-holes for their nests.

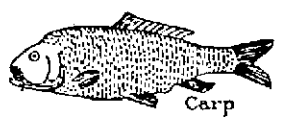

HOW TO GET CARP, CATS, SUCKERS AND EELS

BY MORRIS ACKERMAN
(America's Foremost Angler)

Bass and trout are not available to every fisherman in the land. But nearly all can reach carp, catfish, suckers and eels.

While not considered "game" some of them are tough customers.

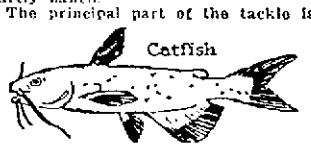

The carp is scoffed at, yet it is not the easiest fish to catch on hook and line by any means. A five-pound carp will give you quite a tussle.

The best bait I know of is the half-cooked dough pill. This is made of ordinary bread dough worked up with cotton, put in the oven and partly baked.

The principal part of the tackle is a strong line and not too large a hook.

The carp has a small mouth. The clever angler "baits up" the place where he is going to fish. This can be done by throwing most any kind of "leavings" from the table into the water some hours ahead of your fishing expedition.

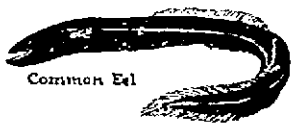

The catfish isn't much to look at. Yet the people that relish its flesh don't mind looks. Catfish play along the bottom of quiet waters and while not averse to anything edible they want it with the least exertion.

Common Sucker

When other fish are resting up and looking for cool weather, the catfish is enjoying itself most, in the warm water.

In early spring, the sucker family goes up stream with swollen waters.

Common Eel

They snoop along the bottom, in the eddies and quiet places, looking for suitable spawning grounds.

A plentiful gob of juicy angleworms on a small sacked hook is of most interest to them.

You hear much about the "fighting bass" and "gamey trout." Speaking of fight, did you ever hook a two-pound eel? In the day time they burrow down in the oozy mud or hide under rocks.

At night is when you get them and, like a catfish, anything that looks like eats to an eel is as good as gone. Fish on the bottom in deep water with a flock of worms for best results.

GASSAWAY MILES—MOTORIST BY STANLEY

authoritative source and corroborated by all local coal dealers. It is based upon the amount of anthracite shipments during March, 1921, which compares very unfavorably with the shipments of the corresponding month one year ago.

"With the single exception of March, 1919, when the temporary slump which followed the armistice was on, and when there were heavy stocks of coal resulting from an unusually mild winter, last month showed the lowest output of any March since 1915," continues the statement in warning the Lowell community of the shortage.

Those who are thoroughly acquainted with the distribution of coal declare that the decrease in production during the past month is due to decreased buying by householders which has led to curtailment of production at some mines and complete cessation of work at others.

"While March is always the end of the coal year," said one prominent local dealer, "a good part of its production is never applied to current consumption, but must go over into April, that is, it is sold to domestic consumers by the retail dealers in April for use in the following autumn and winter. Any serious decline in March production therefore means a corresponding proportion of tonnage which will not be available for next winter."

There is no coal shortage now, according to local dealers and there will not be if the consumers guard against it now. The general situation on coal shortage as sensed by local dealers is that mines cannot work indefinitely without orders, and store the coal for future shipment.

Anthracite figures for March in recent years, eliminating 1919, were:

1916—6,127,351 tons.
1917—6,959,075 tons.
1918—7,276,777 tons.
1919—eliminated.
1920—6,077,821 tons.
1921—5,737,771 tons.

The decrease of more than 340,000 tons, as compared with March of last year, and of almost 390,000 tons, as compared with March of 1916, the last pre-war year, reflects decreased turnover.

HONEST BUSINESS MAN PRIZED ABOVE GOLD

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 20.—An honest business man who will keep his word in a trade is prized above fine gold in Turkey, for there is hardly a law now functioning in this distracted country. A man who breaks his word in business is never let into the inner circle of big traders for honesty is today at higher rating here than ever before.

One may steal or kill with a large limit of impunity. Some months since in Batum, an Englishman was put upon and in self-defence killed a man. Frightened as to consequences, he began collecting evidence to show he had acted in self-defence. After he had collected his evidence, he found no one was interested in the case and also there was no one to whom he could submit it.

Constantinople is an importing and exporting center, the logical clearing house for the Levant, with much merchandise in transit or in bond. Americans have traded here in unprecedented numbers since the armistice, and some of them have lost money. Naturally they blame the local agents, the city, the conditions. According to Julian Gillespie, the United States commercial attache, there is often a good deal to be said on both sides.

Recently the correspondent met an American arriving here. "I'm going to stay a few days to make some local firms pay for goods," said the American. "So far our local agent hasn't succeeded."

"This is evidently your first time here; you'd better make that few days a few weeks," advised the correspondent.

The American so far has spent two months, and he is still wrestling with conditions, one of which is that his local agent insists on opening his mail and private telegrams, and calling it a "mistake."

It is generally stated that American exporters must begin at the bottom and secure laws at home which will give consignees more protection. Boxes and pieces should be properly marked, and cases filled. Ship carriers should be made to stow goods properly, so that a given lot is discharged at the port of destination as a lot, not as a series of separate packages. Also, bills of lading should be properly forwarded so the consignee will know when his goods will arrive.

It has happened at this port that a ship with several lots of goods has discharged the lots in small parts in various lighters, and also without notification to the consignee, so the latter has lost heavily in time, damage, theft and storage charges. Also, cases often arrive empty or partially filled, or with goods not up to sample.

Too often the American exporter has treated that market as a dumping ground and sent goods of the quality and nature used by Cook on his voyage of discovery through the Pacific.

These things being true, given conditions often bordering on Bedlam, the American is advised to be wary and remember the common saying of the Levant that "It takes three Jews to outwit an Armenian, and three Armenians to outwit a Greek."

MARCH SET NEW WARM WEATHER RECORD

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Causes underlying the unusually warm weather of early spring this year remain a mystery to weather bureau officials. But reports show, they say, that March was one of the warmest in the history of the country, breaking all known records for high temperatures at some weather bureau stations in the east.

One contributing reason for the high March record, they stated was the succession of bright clear days, during a month when blustery winds, clouds and storms usually prevail. But what caused this succession of bright clear days, the Climatological Division is unable to determine.

One cause of usual cold March weather is said to be the sharp difference frequently prevailing in barometric pressure. This feature evidently was missing this season, although complete records had not as yet been compiled. Cold weather often resulted, it was said, from a high barometric pressure in the colder regions of the north which created an air "hill" down which cold air poured, like water running down hill, upon the United States.

During the cold winter of 1917-18, it was pointed out, air pressures were extremely high in Alaska, building up a "hill" from which slid icy winds from the snow fields, bringing one of America's coldest winters.

Vegetation this March advanced far beyond its usual growth and throughout the fruit regions of the middle west and southeast, a short freeze nipped many buds, causing what was thought at first to be disastrous damage of far-reaching proportions. Later inspection of trees, however, it was reported, showed that the frost had not damaged fruit to such an appreciable extent.

Although January and February also were warm throughout much of the middle west and east, they were record breakers in no sense of the word, the weather bureau reporting many warmer winters.

The far west winter, as indicated by San Francisco reports was not unusual, December and February being slightly warmer, with January colder than normal.

TWILIGHT BASEBALL LEAGUE

A team representing the Broadway Social & Athletic club will play in the Twilight baseball league this season. It was decided at a meeting of the league Monday evening. The entrance of the Broadway team was made possible by the withdrawal of the Wanderers. The Twilight league as now composed includes the C.M.A.C., the Highland Daylights, South Ends, Centralvilles, Gillespies and Broadways.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

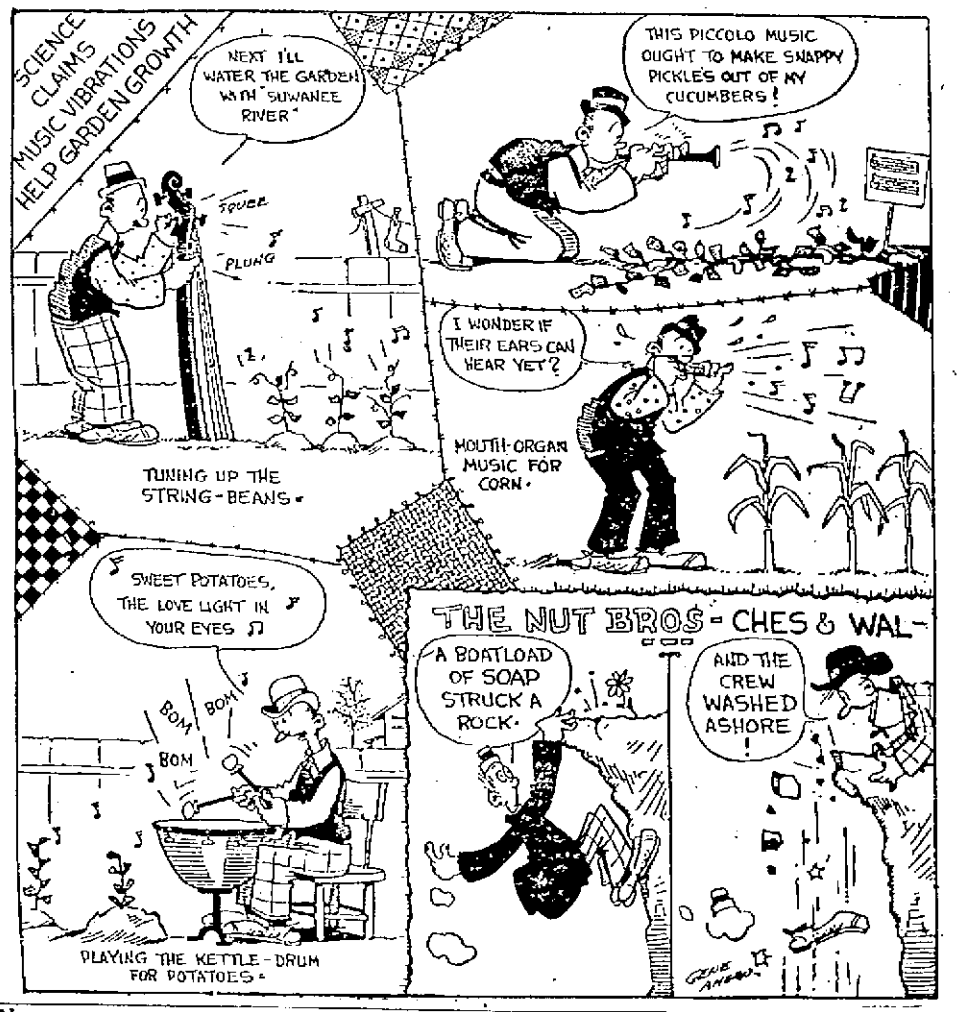

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c

OLD SIXTH HOLDS ANNUAL REUNION

The 60th annual reunion of members of the Old Sixth Massachusetts Infantry regiment took place in this city yesterday, the affair consisting of a business session in the forenoon followed by a dinner and post-prandial exercises in the afternoon. The reunion was held in the assembly hall of the Lowell Historical society and was attended by 13 members of the organization from various parts of the state. Out of about 700 men who formed the Old Sixth and who participated in the great march through Baltimore April 19, 1861, only about 40 survive.

During the business session which was held at 11 o'clock the officers who served the organization during the past year were reelected, the roll of honor of the past year was read, a silent tribute given to the memory of those who passed away since the last reunion and an invitation from Admiral Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans to be their guests April 19, 1922, was accepted. The officers reelected are as follows: Alonzo Joy, West Acton, president; Thomas H. Dickson, Fitchburg, vice president; J. N. Jones, Lawrence, secretary-treasurer; Orrich Look, Boston and Benjamin Ford, executive committee.

The thirteen members present at the meeting were Alonzo Joy, West Acton, Co. I; Josiah N. Jones, Lawrence, Co. F; John Wayne, North Chelmsford, Co. E; William E. Sawtelle, Pepperell, Co. B; George T. Whitney, Worcester; George A. J. Colgan, Boston, Co. K; H. A. Dickson, Fitchburg, Co. B; William R. Gilmore, Haverhill, Co. D; Albert Pinder, Lowell, Co. H; A. J. Fletcher, Acton, Co. E; George B. Bell, Cambridge; E. T. Knowlton, Newton and David W. Corson, Franklin, Co. G.

Attending as guests were Nellie J. Sherry, Dorchester; Isabel B. Joy, West Acton; Mrs. H. B. Treadwell, Tewksbury; Roland M. Joy, West Acton; Ida F. Dickson, Fitchburg; Alice J. Fletcher, Cambridge; Florence Fletcher Charles, Concord Junction; Harry A. Fletcher, Cambridge; Sarah L. Bell, Cambridge; Rose Keenan Coy, Stoneham; Gertrude A. Jones, North Chelmsford; Randolph A., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Holton, Worcester.

The members who passed away during the year were James A. Sanborn, Co. I; Andrew Shattuck, Co. B; Leo E. Young, Co. L, and J. O. Rice, Co. C.

The dinner was served by the members of B. F. Butler Relief Corps, 75, and at the close of the meal remarks were made by Mayor Thompson, Commander D. L. Page of Post 42, G.A.R., and officers of the Old Sixth.

efficient and economical operation." The employes point out alleged wastes in the present railroad administrations and maintain that if those deficiencies and defaults in management were redressed and repaired, there would remain no reason for attempting to reduce wages. As a method of correcting wasteful methods and increasing the efficiency of employes, the exhibit advocated cooperative effort between management and workers and added that this co-operation could best be obtained through the medium uniform agreements reached by collective bargaining.

Recoverable and easily estimated wastes were divided by the exhibit under nine heads having to do largely with construction and care of locomotives and shop machinery, cost accounting and labor turnover.

The wastes which the unions said could not be estimated in terms of money included a variety of subjects ranging from defective train equipment and tracks through allegations of incompetent and extravagant management.

In the last class emphasis was laid upon publicity and advertising and on what the unions thought were unnecessary legal expenses. Such expenditures, it was claimed, have served to increase and have been charged wrongfully to operating costs.

It was also charged that much of the defective equipment which the managements of the road are using as an argument for the need of decreased wage costs, could have been avoided if the roads had declared less dividends and use a proper proportion of their earnings to establish replacements funds.

The following tabulation, represents those wastes estimated by the unions' witnesses and for which authorities are quoted, giving specifications and explanations as set forth in the body of the exhibit.

"1. Modernizing locomotives. Gross reparable deficiencies in the tractive power of the railways is pointed out and it is shown that by systematic application to the locomotives of demonstrated improvements such as superheaters, brick arches, mechanical stokers and feed water heaters, there would result an annual saving of at least, $272,500,000.

"2. Locomotive operation. The magnitude of the railways' coal bill is considered and certain of the larger wastes calculated, and it is concluded that by use of better methods of coal purchase, coal inspection, careful receipt and efficient firing of the locomotives an annual saving could be effected of at least $50,000,000.

"3. Shop organization improvements. The sad and almost incredible inadequacy and out-of-date equipment of the railway shops is reviewed, the defenseless wastes considered, and it is conservatively estimated that by a proper shop organization an annual saving could be effected of at least $17,000,000.

"4. Power plant fuel saving. The obsolete and wasteful condition of the power plants in the railway shops is considered and it is estimated that in this field the possible saving of fuel would, by itself amount to annual total of $10,000,000.

"5. Water consumption savings. The railroads' expenditure in maintenance of way and structure is reviewed, the necessary wastes noted, and it is estimated that easily attainable savings in the consumption of water alone would amount annually to $12,000,000.

"6. Service of supply savings. The expenditure of railways for supplies has been inquired into and the avoidable losses surveyed, and it is estimated that the wastes and abuses amount annually to not less than $75,000,000.

"7. Shop cost accounting savings. Attention has been given to the matter of uniform railroad statistics and the use of efficient methods of cost accounting only, an annual saving would be feasible to the amount of $10,000,000.

"8. Labor turnover savings. The industrial losses due to unnecessary labor turnover and to inadequate training of personnel has been reviewed, and it is estimated that the avoidable wastes incident to labor turnover alone amounts to more than $40,000,000.

"9. Loss and damage savings. Inquiry has been made into the amount of the annual loss and damage account of the railways, and into the preventable causes of such losses, and it is estimated that an annual saving might be effected to the amount of $90,000,000.

"Total—It will be noted that the avoidable wastes here listed are but partially represented in the accompanying money estimates, nevertheless, the sum of these incomplete figures represent an annual unnecessary waste of $578,500,000."

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Theodore D. Glatas of Dracut, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, to Henri St. Pierre of Lowell in said County, dated March 10, 1919, and recorded in Middlesex North District Registry of Deeds in Book 599, Page 233, for breach of the condition in said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction on the premises described in said mortgage in said Dracut on Saturday, the seventh day of May, 1921, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage and substantially described therein as follows:

A certain tract of land with the buildings thereon situated in the Town of Dracut in said County of Middlesex, containing 20 acres, more or less, and thus bounded to wit: Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises on the northerly side of the Methuen road now called Broadway in said Dracut and at the southeasterly corner of land now or formerly of Mary L. Fox, Gertrude L. Fox and Harold M. Fox; thence northerly by said Fox land 62 rods, more or less; thence easterly by said Fox land to land nor or formerly of George N. Parker; thence southerly by said Parker land crossing said Broadway to the old road leading to Methuen; thence westerly in part by said Old Road and in part by said Broadway to the point of beginning.

So much of the above described premises as is included within the limits of said Broadway as laid out and established by the Massachusetts Highway Commission as shown on Plan filed in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District for said County of Middlesex in Book of Plans M, Plans 9 and 18 is subject to such rights as the public may have therein for highway purposes. Being the same premises conveyed to said Theodore D. Glatas by the said Henri St. Pierre by deed dated March 10, 1919, and recorded in said Registry in Book 599, Page 230.

Said premises will be sold subject to a certain mortgage given to the Federal Land Bank and accrued interest thereon and to the taxes and assessments, if any there be.

Terms: $300 to be paid or secured to the auctioneer at the time and place of sale; other terms to be made known at sale.

HENRI ST. PIERRE,
Mortgagee and present holder of said mortgage.
Lowell, April 12, 1921.

TO THE MIDDLESEX COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Respectfully represent the undersigned inhabitants of the Town of Chelmsford, in said County that the road from the State Road in that part of said Chelmsford called East Chelmsford, and being the road known as Carlisle street or the Boston Road and running westerly and northerly about one mile to the line of the City of Lowell is in need of re-location and specific repairs.

Wherefore we pray that you will relocate said Road and direct specific repairs thereon.

CHARLES PINNICK
And Sixty-four Others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts:—Middlesex, ss.

At a meeting of the County Commissioners for the County of Middlesex, at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, to wit, by adjournment at said Cambridge on the sixth day of April, A.D., 1921.

On the foregoing petition, Ordered, that the Sheriff of said County, or his Deputy give notice to all persons and corporations interested therein, that said Commissioners will meet for the purpose of viewing the premises and hearing the parties at the Court House, Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, on Monday, the 16th day of May, A. D., 1921, at ten of the clock in the forenoon by serving the Clerk of the town of Chelmsford with a copy of said petition and of this order thereon, thirty days at least before said view, and by publishing the same in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper printed at Lowell, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before said view, and also by posting the same in two public places in the said town of Chelmsford, fourteen days before said view; and that he make return of his doings herein, to said Commissioners, at the time and place fixed for said view and hearing.

WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.

Copy of petition and order thereon.
Attest,
WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.

A true copy. Attest:
CHARLES A. EVELETH, Deputy Sheriff.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts:—Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested the estate of Mary F. Wilson, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament—and one codicil—of said deceased have been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Flora Calista Ewings and Mabel Wilson Ewings, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executrices therein named, without giving a surety on their official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth day of May, A. D., 1921, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this sixteenth day of April, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one. F. M. ESTY, Register.

FORMER LOWELL MAN DIES IN WALTHAM

From Waltham comes the news that John F. Monaghan, an old-time resident of that city, died yesterday morning at his home, 40 High street. Mr. Monaghan will be remembered as a former resident of this city, and a master mechanic of the Lowell Bleachery. He was highly respected wherever known during his residence in Lowell, and it was a cause of deep regret to his wide circle of friends when he resigned his position here to take charge of a factory in Waltham. Soon after The Sun entered the daily field it conducted a voting contest, the chief prize of which was a first-class passage to Europe and return with all expenses paid by The Sun. The contest was conducted with general interest for several weeks and Mr. Monaghan was the winner. He made the trip to Europe in 1895 and spent a couple of months visiting the different countries of the continent. The Lowell friends of the deceased will be deeply grieved by the news of his death.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Thomas P. McColough, a member of the local fire department and Miss Margaret McDermott, a former employe of the Bon Marche company were married late Monday afternoon, the ceremony being performed at St. Patrick's rectory by Rev. Dr. James A. Supple. Miss Esther McColough was bridesmaid, while the best man was Mr. John L. McDermott. The couple will make their home in East Merrimack street.

Pingree—Curren

The marriage of Mr. Philip Pingree of Boston and Miss Gladys Virginia Curren of Reading took place April 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Bedell in Inland street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. A. G. Lyon of the Pawtucket Congregational church. The couple will make their home in Dorchester.

Fraley—Hayes

A very pretty wedding took place Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock when Mr. Patrick Fraley and Miss Mary M. Hayes were married at St. Peter's rectory by Rev. Fr. Linnehan. Mrs. Katharine Honbrook was matron of honor, and Mr. Joseph P. Keegan was best man. The bride wore blue satin and the matron of honor, brown satin and both carried bouquets of orchids. A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Katharine Honbrook, 561 Central street. Miss Anna Donohoe was the accompanist of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Fraley received many valuable gifts. They left on the evening train for New York and on their return will reside at 74 Chapel street.

Tansy—Sherry

A pretty wedding took place in St. Mary's church, Dover, N. H., yesterday when Miss Manola J. Sherry, daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. George H. Sherry, become the bride of Mr. Joseph A. Tansey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen J. Tansey of this city. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass celebrated by Rev. Edmund Quirk. The bride was attired in a gown of white Duchess satin, trimmed with rosepoint lace, and wore a veil caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of yellow tea roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Marie G. Sherry, sister of the bride, was attired in a gown of pink georgette with hat to match and carried pink carnations. The best man was Mr. Emmett Harris, a former classmate of the groom, now an instructor at the Bently school of accounting in Boston. Mrs. Tansey is a graduate of the Dover high school and Bryant Stratton Commercial college of Boston. She has been secretary to Charles H. Farnham, president of the Lothrop-Farnham Co., Inc. Mr. Tansey formerly held an executive position at the Atlantic Corporation, and is now manager of the billing department of the American Steam Gauge and Valve Co. of Boston. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold pin set with blue sapphires and pearls, while the groom's gift to the best man was a leather case. After the ceremony a reception and dinner was held at the home of the bride, 125 Portland street. Mr. and Mrs. Tansey left on a honeymoon trip to New York and Atlantic City, and upon their return will make their home in Cambridge.

BIDS OPENED TODAY ON NEW FIREHOUSE

Bids for the erection of a bungalow firehouse at the junction of Pine and Stevens streets were opened at 11 o'clock this morning in the office of Commissioner George E. Marchand of the public property department and it was found that by accepting the lowest bids proposed for the general work, plumbing and heating and electrical work, the city will be called upon to pay $34,436 to have this house built. This includes the architect's fee.

At the present time there is on hand $13,312.77 left from the money received when the Westford street firehouse was sold. That means that an additional $21,123.23 will have to be borrowed. Coms. Marchand and Salmon, who arrange for the erection of the building, will report to the council at the next meeting the result of opening the bids and will probably ask for money to complete their work.

The lowest bidder for the general contract was Fred F. Meloy whose figure was $27,462. J. J. Spillane & Co. were the lowest bidders on the plumbing contract, their figure being $2647. Charles H. May was lowest on the electrical work, his bid being $496.

The complete list of bids was as follows:

General contract: Fred F. Meloy, $27,462; Mathias F. Connor, $28,400; P. O'Hearn, $31,950; William Drapeau, $32,753.

Plumbing and heating: J. J. Spillane & Co., $2647; John A. Cotter, $2937; Roche & Co., $3265; Hoyle & Lorman, $3370; Chisholm & Co., $3295; William E. Curtin, $3350; Hobson & Lawler, $3150; Welch Bros., $3280; William H. McElholm, $2949; Thomas E. O'Day & Co., $2946; Farrell & Conaton, $3500; H. H. Wilder & Co., $3392; Carroll Bros., $2500.

Electrical work: Charles May, $496; Hartley & Kelleher, $590; William C. Hinckley, $508; Tucke & Parker Co., $739; Favreau Bros., $560.

When proposals for the erection of the building were called for, it was specified in the advertisements that they would be opened at 11 a. m. today. At 11.15 a local contractor submitted a bid for the general contract which was considerably lower than that of Mr. Meloy, but inasmuch as it was not received in time, it was not considered.

JAPAN REFUSES TO YIELD ON YAP

Report Says Cabinet Has Decided to Ignore Recent American Note

Sees No Reason to Alter Policy on Mandate Question, It Is Said

TOKIO, April 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The cabinet has decided there is no reason to alter Japan's policy on the Yap mandate question because of the recent American note on the subject, according to the Nichi Nichi today. The decision of the ministry will be reported Friday at an extraordinary meeting of the diplomatic advisory council, the newspaper added.

The foreign office says it can neither confirm nor deny this report.

GERMANS TO REJECT DEMAND FOR GOLD

BERLIN, April 20—(By the Associated Press)—While the German cabinet has not yet indicated the nature of its reply to the reparation commission's demand that the German gold reserve be transferred to some point in the occupied zone, President Havenstein of the Reichsbank and the financial writers summarily reject the proposition. They take the ground that the gold is not only the property of a private bank, but that its removal from Berlin under the conditions named would result in the collapse of German currency at home and abroad.

The experts also assert that such a proceeding would work havoc with German economic interests and promptly result in an advance of all commodities to fabulous prices as the result of the inevitable depreciation of the nation's currency.

President Havenstein declares that serious consideration of the proposition by the cabinet would be a mere waste of time, and doubts whether any government could be found in Germany which would accede to the entente's demand.

"The impossible is impossible; that is all there is to it," said Herr Havenstein.

The newspaper owned by Hugo Stinnes expresses suspicion that the French are the driving force behind the new demand. It says that once the gold reserve is outside the confines of the Reichbank's vaults and placed under entente control in the occupied zone, it will no longer remain as an active asset of the bank as its ultimate seizure would then become a simple matter.

This newspaper estimates the volume of German currency held abroad at 20,000,000,000 marks, and that foreign demands on Germany of all kinds total 95,000,000,000 marks. The value of the present gold reserve of 1,050,000,000 marks is computed as representing 18 per cent of Germany's currency issue, and its disappearance from the bank's assets, the newspaper asserts, would not only result in the instant impairment of the foreign creditors' claims but also have a catastrophic effect upon German exports and imports, especially with regard to purchases of raw products.

Ninety per cent. of the world's total output of real lavender oil comes from the vicinity of Lyons, France.

BILLIONS OF DOLLARS WASTE

Detailed Exhibit Placed Before R. R. Labor Board in Labor's Fight Against Cut

CHICAGO, April 20—Wastes amounting to a billion dollars annually were laid to managerial inefficiency on American railroads in a detailed exhibit placed before the Railroad labor board today as part of union labor's fight against a reduction of wages. Recovering wastes were estimated by the employes at $578,500,000 a year and other wastes, impossible of estimation, would equal that amount, it was declared.

The evidence submitted in the 55,000 word document is aimed at the railroad's contention that the present national agreements make for labor conditions "not in the interest of honest,

ARMY COMMANDER WORKS IN OVERALLS

Man Who Volunteered Services and Worked with Hammer and Saw on Legion Club House Proves to be Major General Liggett.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—A white-haired elderly man dressed in blue overalls yesterday entered a building here which is being converted into a clubhouse for the American Legion, looked around curiously and then accosted the man in charge of the volunteer workers.

"I heard you were trying to fix up things for your opening party April 27," he said. "Can I help?"

"Sure, pitch in," was the answer.

The elderly man "pitched in" with hammer, saw and broom. For several hours he worked in silence among the volunteers, until he was interrupted by the hail: "Why, General, how long have you been here?"

Former soldiers, sailors and marines looked wonderingly at the man in overalls. Then they recognized Maj. Gen. Hunter Liggett, former field commander of the First American overseas contingent and until his retirement several weeks ago, commander of the Ninth army corps area.

LOWELL HOSIERY AND BAY STATE REOPEN

After being shut down nine months the plant of the Lowell Hosiery company in Mt. Vernon street again showed signs of life this morning when about 25 per cent. of the help returned to work. The plant shut down tight last July and has been idle since. It was learned today that the operatives who returned this morning will work full time until further notice.

The Bay State Cotton Corp. in Broadway and Marginal street also resumed operations this morning after being shut down for the past five weeks. The entire working force of the company resumed activities and until further notice the plant will operate 48 hours a week.

"GAS MASK" FOR A WHOLE SHIP

Plan for Protection of Battleships at Sea Against Poisonous Fumes Outlined

Prof. Lewis Inventor of Deadly Gas "Lewisite," Discusses Naval Warfare

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 20.—A plan for the protection of battleships at sea against an enemy's poisonous fumes by the installation of a "gas mask" for a whole ship, was outlined in an address to officers and students of the military academy here today by Prof. W. Lee Lewis, head of the chemistry department of Northwestern university and inventor of the deadly gas "Lewisite" perfected just as the world war closed.

"We face the possibility in the naval warfare of the future of armor piercing, toxic and tear shells, smoke clouds and invisible toxic fumes," he said. "We also may consider in this connection parallel defensive measures such as a gas mask for a while battleship.

"Gas weapons are capable of a much finer adaption to purpose than explosive weapons and the future will see worked out a great degree of scientific refinement in the development of gas weapons for all types of military operations.

"Future battles will not be to the strong but to the superior in intelligence. Warfare will become less a matter of brute strength and relative manpower, and more and more a matter of scientific acumen. Battles will be shorter and more decisive and hence innocent populations will suffer less."

Prof. Lewis declared that the prevailing impression of the uncivilized and inhuman character of toxic gases as a military weapon was not well substantiated.

COAL SHORTAGE ALARM

Too Many Putting Off Buying Coal, Commerce Chamber Hears.

"It begins to look as if things are shaping up for a coal shortage this year that may be even more serious to the coal consuming public than was the shortage of last year. Right now, when the people, the railroads and industries should be buying coal, they are not doing so. They are putting it off until the last minute, and everyone knows that if all the consumers made a grand rush for coal at the same time late in the year some of them will not get any coal."

This is the statement received by the Lowell chamber of commerce from an

$4000 VERDICT IN HEART-BALM CASE

A verdict for $2000 against each of two defendants, Mrs. Nellie Fish Steever Whitley and George Marcosgiantis, has been returned by a jury in the superior court in a suit brought by Clarence Dickenson Glazier for the alienation of the affections of his wife, Mrs. Alice Louise Glazier.

The ad damnum named in the writ was $50,000. The parties interested in the case are residents of Boston and Cambridge.

Trial was begun before Judge Franklin T. Hammond and a jury in the superior court today of the suit of Mary Elizabeth Peake, suing through her father, James Peake of Lexington, against Parker W. Felt of Waltham for the recovery of damages for injuries alleged to have been received in an motorcycle accident. The alleged accident occurred May 4, 1920, on Massachusetts avenue near the Arlington and Lexington line. It is claimed that the plaintiff, a 12-year-old girl, was struck by a motorcycle belonging to the defendant and injured in a way from which she will probably never fully recover. The ad damnum named in the suit is $5000.

The court adjourned at 1 p. m. today as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Judge Charles S. Lilley.

PRES. HARDING TO SPEAK IN NEW YORK

WASHINGTON, April 20—President Harding has accepted an invitation to deliver an address in New York city on May 23 at an anniversary celebration of the New York Commercial, one of the oldest newspapers in the country.

During the same visit the president may review in Brooklyn the 23rd New York Infantry, formerly the 106th United States Infantry. He has promised a review of the regiment, but the date has not been definitely fixed.

SAND, STONE AND TAR FOR STREET DEPT.

Bids for sand, crushed stone and refined tar for the use of the street department during the season of 1921 were opened this morning in the purchasing agent's office and showed the same tendency toward a decrease in price as compared with a year ago that has been characteristic of bids received this year for other supplies used by the street department.

John Brady was the lower of two bidders to supply sand for the department. His figure was six cents per bag or 95 cents per cubic yard. P. Cogger entered a bid of eight cents per bag or $1 per cubic yard. Last year Mr. Brady was given the contract at $1.49 per cubic yard.

There were two bidders desiring to supply refined tar during the present season. The American Tar Co. and the Barrett Mfg. Co. each entered a bid of 15 cents per gallon if applied and 12 cents per gallon, f.o.b. cars, Lowell. Last year the American Tar Co. was awarded the contract at 16½ cents per gallon.

Bids on crushed stone, which were also below last year's figures, were as follows: H. E. Fletcher, $2.50 per ton, f.o.b. cars; $2.65 per ton if delivered on the job; Horne Coal Co., $2.65 per ton delivered; Antonio Pillato, $2.48, f.o.b. cars; $2.55 delivered; Green Crushed Stone Co., $2.81, f.o.b. cars; $3.40 delivered.

DONOVAN WILL NOT TESTIFY

Former Representative Refuses to Give Testimony at "L" Probe

Had Been Named By Auditor In Connection With Alleged Note

BOSTON, April 20—John L. Donovan of this city, a former state representative, refused to testify today before the legislative committee which is investigating transactions in street railway stocks by legislators who had a part in the passage of the Boston Elevated Railway public control bill in 1918. Testimony regarding a note which was secured by street railway stocks said to have been given by Donovan in exchange for a loan from the Fidelity Trust Co., had been given by Edwin L. Pride, an auditor, at an earlier hearing.

"I have nothing to say, gentlemen, voluntarily," Donovan said to the committee after it had been explained to him as the law gave immunity to persons compelled to testify before a legislative committee, he would not be required to do so. Auditor Pride subsequently testified that a demand note for $8052 was found among the Fidelity Trust Co. papers, purporting to be signed by Isabella Geysen, with 100 shares of Elevated and 100 shares of Massachusetts Electric preferred stock as security.

The note was dated May 8, 1918. On May 22, he said, the stock was sold and a check was issued by the brokerage firm of Edward M. Hamlin & Co., to Isabella Geysen for $9417. The witness showed the check which he said bore the endorsement "Isabella Geysen by John L. Donovan." Later he identified the Donovan signature as similar to that of Representative John L. Donovan on the legislative payroll of 1918.

Former Senator John E. Beck of Chelsea testified regarding a loan made by the Fidelity Trust company, on May 15, 1918 to Miss Jessie Tetlow, which he said he had arranged through Edwin T. McKnight, former president of the senate and vice president of the bank. The loan amounted to over $19,000 and was used for the purchase of 200 shares each of Elevated and Massachusetts Electric stock, he said, through the Hamlin firm. The note was made in the name of Miss Tetlow at her request, he said, but in every respect was a joint account. The note is still due, he testified.

Senator Beck when asked why he intended to vote for the Elevated control bill, replied that he was against it but as an investment bought the stock.

He said he did not know of any other senator who bought stock and did not know of any act of irregularity on the part of any member of the legislature in passing street railway legislation.

Representative Andrew P. Doyle of New Bedford, explaining his failure to appear before the committee last Friday, said he was in Washington when the hearings started. Under examination he told of borrowing $2388 on May 10, 1918, from the Fidelity Trust Co and at the same time buying 106 shares of Massachusetts Electric preferred, which he deposited as collateral. He said he gave no other security to the bank. McKnight as vice president of the Fidelity guaranteed the note, he said. The witness testified that the stock was sold on May 28 at a profit of between $100 and $500.

26,000 Persons at Point of Starvation In Coal Fields of Northern Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 20.—Twenty-six thousand persons are at the point of starvation in the coal fields of northern Alabama, Governor Kilby was told today in an appeal by the Salvation Army's southeastern division, with headquarters here. The organization said it was helping to the limit of ts resources, but that aid must come from other sources.

Two More Policemen Slain in Ireland

DUBLIN, April 20.—Policemen Kelly and Hetherington were taken from a train last evening near Ballysodare, County Sligo and shot dead by armed men, who held up the train for two hours. The shooting caused consternation in Sligo, where the murdered men were stationed for some years. The police today visited the town and ordered all the premises closed until further notice.

Panama Continues War-Like Plans

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, April 20.—Panama continues to make war-like preparations along the Costa Rican frontier, it is reported here. The Costa Rican government, it is asserted is ready to enter into negotiations with Panama for the purpose of reaching a satisfactory solution of the boundary dispute between the two countries.

DEMANDS OF MINERS

National Wage Board and National Wage Pool Favored

LONDON, April 20.—Demands for the establishment of a national wage board and a national wage pool have been reaffirmed by large majorities by district committees of miners throughout the country, it is claimed by the Daily Herald, the organ of labor. The newspaper claims that these meetings, which were held preparatory to the conference of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, here on Friday, stood 14 to 1 in favor of the demands of the union.

A statement was issued by the miners' federation last night, declaring that Prime Minister Lloyd George's address in the House of Commons on Monday did not carry the possibility of a settlement any further than it stood late last week. The statement declares Mr. Lloyd George "has not yet grasped the essential features of the national wage pool" and that he is "obsessed by the view that the miners' demand a pool of profits whereas their proposal is remote from the averaging of profits."

It is suggested that there shall be levied a certain amount on each ton of coal, this money being used for the purpose of establishing the wage pool. It is proposed that the sum levied should be figured as one of the elements of the post of production. The statement asserts that this method of providing funds for the pool is perfectly feasible, but that the mine owners have refused to accept it "on inadequate and mistaken grounds."

British mine owners, who met in this city yesterday, announced last night that the meeting had completed proposals which would be submitted in an effort to secure a settlement of the coal strike. These proposals, it was declared, met many of the demands of the miners and would care for men who were inadequately paid.

FARMERS TO APPEAL TO PRES. HARDING

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Farmers from all parts of the United States meeting here today under the auspices of the National Farmers' Union decided to take their fight for a reduction in freight rates direct to President Harding.

This decision was reached after spokesmen for the farmers had conferred with members of the Interstate Commerce commission to urge lower rates. The delegates apparently were dissatisfied with the outcome of this conference.

At the conference with the commission, the farmers' spokesmen said that besides reducing the loss now sustained by the farmers in the sale of their crops, a lowering of freight rates would be a big psychological factor in starting the marketing of farm products and a general price reduction in other lines.

Unable to market their own products, the farmers, according to their spokesmen, are virtually on a buyers' strike as there is no prospect of conditions improving in time to bring better prices for next year's crops.

Out of a population of 1,700,000,000, the world contains only $60,000,000 white inhabitants.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

Sewer Orders Introduced Today—Estimated Cost of One Sewer is $5350

Orders to lay sewers aggregating in cost $6350 were introduced at this morning's meeting of the municipal council by Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy, but the estimated cost of one of the proposed undertakings, a sewer in Conduit street, was so great that Mayor Perry D. Thompson held it up for further investigation. The estimated cost of this sewer alone is $5350.

Mr. Murphy said that owing to the lack of sewer facilities in the street in question, surface water accumulates in large quantities and causes considerable inconvenience to residents. Commissioner John F. Salmon added the fact that an outlet of the department empties in that vicinity and inasmuch as there is no sewer to drain it off, it spreads over the street.

The mayor suggested that some assurance be given that the proposed sewer would take care of this water and Commissioner Murphy agreed to withdraw the order and give the matter further investigation. The petition for the sewer was signed by Eleanor Desrosiers and others.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10.05 with all members present.

A protest was received from the Social Service club of the Lawrence St. Primitive Methodist church against the erection of two poles in Lawrence street for the use of the Postal-Telegraph Co. The protest was signed by Allan Buchanan, secretary of the club. William H. Mahan, inspector of wires, said that the poles were merely being re-set. The matter was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

After hearings, the following petitions were referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

New England Telephone and Telegraph company, one pole in Barclay street; Lowell Electric Light corporation, one pole at corner of Bassett and Whipple streets.

$100,000 LOSS

Fire in Maine Central Terminus at Calais, Me.

CALAIS, Me., April 20.—The Maine Central railroad sustained a fire loss of approximately $100,000 today at its terminus here. The engine house, car repair shops, four locomotives, two passenger and four freight cars, a steam shovel, lumber shed, blacksmith shop and work equipment, were burned.

CASHIER SAID TO HAVE CONFESSED

Shortage Found in Accounts of Cashier, Who Had Been Named as New Treasurer

Unexpected Audit Ordered by City Treasurer Murray on Eve of Retirement

BOSTON, April 20.—A shortage in the city treasury of $40,000 became known today. It was discovered through an unexpected audit ordered by City Treasurer Thomas W. Murray on the eve of his retirement from office.

The shortage was found in the accounts of Thomas J. O'Daly, cashier of the treasury department, Mayor Peters said. Mr. O'Daly who had been 35 years in the city service, had been named by the mayor as the new city treasurer. Mayor Peters said he expected to have a statement from O'Daly later in the day.

The audit is continuing, according to Arthur D. Hill, corporation counsel, and the discrepancy of $40,000 discovered to date may be revised.

The irregularities were found soon after the audit began last Saturday. Treasurer Murray immediately reported the matter to the mayor who ordered the law department to undertake an investigation. Cashier O'Daly was asked to explain the irregularities, Mayor Peters said today, but had failed to do so up to this morning. He was reported ill at his home.

Mayor Peters later said that O'Daly had confessed the shortage to City Auditor J. Alfred Mitchell at his home today.

The sum had been abstracted from city funds at various times the past 10 years, O'Daly admitted, according to the mayor. Part of the money was said to have been lost in stock speculation. The mayor said O'Daly had no property and could make restitution only through his $20,000 bond.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Rene Viviani, who has been in this country nearly a month as special envoy from the French government, left for home today on the steamship France. He expressed general satisfaction over his trip officially and socially.

Accompanying M. Viviani was Ste-phane Lauzanne, editor of the Matin, who came to this country with him.

M. Viviani's secretary, Marcel Knecht, made the following statement: "Mr. Viviani says that before he came here he had heard that there was a lack of affection for France in this country, and he is going away with the distinct impression that it is not true. He found the president a delightful friend and gentleman and is going away pleased to find that he is indeed a friend of France."

Miss Anne Morgan, head of the American committee for devastated France France, also was a passenger on the steamship. She will remain in France until autumn in the interests of the organization.

URGES BAN ON ALIENS

Sec. Hughes Calls on Congress to Restrict Immigration to U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Rigid restriction of immigration was recommended yesterday by Secretary Hughes in official documents transmitted to congress. They were interpreted by house and senate leaders as reflecting increased need for the immediate passage of the immigration bill, reported yesterday by the house committee, limiting admission of aliens for 14 months beginning next May 10, to 3 per cent of each nationality resident in the United States in 1910.

"Our restriction on immigration should be so rigid," Mr. Hughes' report said, "that it would be impossible for most of these people to enter the United States." Particular reference was made to undesirable classes from Balkan cities, Armenia, Russia and Georgia.

The report said 606,292 passport vises were granted by American consuls in Europe in 1920, reflecting a stimulated desire in most European countries to emigrate to America before anti-immigration laws were passed. The principal restraining influence was said to be lack of funds due to depreciated currency values.

"The director general of police of Rumania," the report adds, "has issued an order excusing all Jews from military service and permitting their discharge from the army if they desire to emigrate to America."

In Rumania 1300 persons were awaiting examination for permission to come to the United States, it was said, while "tremendous pressure" for passage was reported by officials in Poland, where 35,000 awaited third class accommodations.

Letts and Lithuanians leaving the Balkan states, Mr. Hughes said, were largely people from the slums, the vast majority of them "Jews of an undesirable type."

In the Russian Caucasus, "it may be accepted as nearly literally true," Mr. Hughes said "that every Armenian family which has enough money to get away, or is not impregnated with Bolshevism, will ultimately endeavor to emigrate to America. Russians and Georgians are likely more and more to emigrate to the same haven.

"The great bulk of emigrants to the United States from this district are highly undesirable as material for future American citizens."

In making his recommendations, Mr. Hughes said: "Our restriction on immigration should be so rigid that it would be impossible for most of these people to enter the United States. Reference is especially made to Armenians, Jews, Persians and Russians, all of which have been so driven hither and thither since 1914 that they cannot be regarded as desirable populations for any country."

The report said that 5000 Armenians and 20,000 Syrians were waiting passage from Bagdad and that despite deference of immigration from Germany, the number desiring to come from that country had doubled in the last year, compared with any similar period since the war ended.

SHE FEELS HAPPY LIKE A GIRL NOW

East Taunton Resident Gains 12 Pounds and Hasn't a Trace of Old Troubles Left

"I can't fully explain in words what Tanlac has been worth to me, but the difference in my looks would convince anyone of what it has meant to me," said Mrs. Edvige Bouchard, recently. boro ave, East Taunton, recently.

"For the past year I didn't dare eat anything but the lightest of foods and a little milk. I never felt hungry and at times even the sight of food would make me sick. I had awful pains in my stomach after eating, and often got so sick, weak and dizzy I could hardly walk. My head hurt nearly every minute, day and night, almost fit to burst. I lost a great deal of weight, and felt so tired and worn out all the time it seemed that I was likely to fall over just any minute. Many nights I didn't sleep a wink and would get up feeling so bad I often wondered just what was to become of me.

"But thanks to a friend of mine, I learned about Tanlac, and it's just simply wonderful the way it has restored my health and built me up. Why, I have a wonderful appetite, am hungry at every meal, and never suffer from indigestion any more, and have gained 12 pounds in weight. I sleep like a baby and get up mornings feeling as happy as a little girl. In fact, I never felt any better in my life, and I just known Tanlac is the grandest medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town. —Adv.

THREE BOYS SWEPT TO DEATH OVER DAM

AUBURN, Me., April 20.—Three boys were drowned in the little Androscoggin river yesterday, when a rowboat which they had found on the bank and pushed into midstream was swept over the dam at the Barker mill. The victims were Robert Aube, aged 13 years, of 21 Second street, and Philippe Beaulieu, aged 9 years and Romeo Deschenes, aged 13 years, of 43 Dunn street. No trace of the boat or its occupants has been found.

Fernand Ouellette, aged 9 years, and Alphonse Aube, were with the others and asked to go, but were told they might get drowned. They saw the trio push the boat out into the swift current, and, using only a piece of board, try in vain to stem its course toward the brink.

Just before the boat went over one of the boys jumped. There is a 40 foot drop in the river at this point, which is several hundred yards from the main river, and at this time of year, there is about a three foot head.

Though the accident happened late in the afternoon and though the boys' parents were notified at once, the authorities did not learn of the event until two hours later, when darkness had fallen. All efforts to locate the boat or any of the bodies was without result. None of the boys could swim.

TERRIBLY BURNED

Two Men Victims of Oil Still Flareback

BRAINTREE, April 20—Albert Kayser of 48 Quincy ave., Quincy, and Hilliard Pratt of 3 Wainwright street, East Braintree, were terribly burned yesterday afternoon at the works of the Massachusetts Oil Refinery company at East Braintree.

The men were firing an oil still, when a sudden flareback of flames from oil coke caught them in the face.

Both were burned about the face and chest.

After first aid treatment they were both taken to the Quincy City hospital, where their names are on the dangerous list.

FRENCH EXPORTS

PARIS, April 20.—French exports for the first quarter of 1921 exceeded imports by 129,181,000 francs and surpassed exports for the first quarter of last year by nearly one billion francs.

Imports for the first quarter of this year totalled 5,336,347,000 francs and exports 5,465,458,000. During the first three months of 1920, the imports more than doubled the exports.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Gently massage Musterole in with the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia)

35c and 65c jars; hospital size $3.

CARMEN TO TAKE SECRET BALLOT

BOSTON, April 20.—Leaders of unions of employes of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. yesterday announced that the men would vote Thursday night on whether to accept the new form of agreement submitted by the road's public trustees, providing for a wage cut and changes in working conditions.

The balloting will be secret at all union headquarters and will take cognizance of the trustees' alternate proposal that they operate the system without any union agreement and submit the wage question to arbitration.

Other questions will be submitted on the ballots Thursday, James H. Vahey, general counsel for the unions, said last night, adding that they would not be made public until the men had received them.

It costs about $3000 a day to keep an ocean liner in dock.

Had No Right to Seize Liquor

MIAMI, Fla., April 20.—A sheriff has no right to go aboard a foreign vessel and search for liquor, under the prohibition law and the liquor seized in such manner cannot be admitted in evidence, according to a decision by County Judge W. Frank Blanton here yesterday. Judge Blanton dismissed charges of violating the prohibition law against two members of a British schooner, arrested yesterday, after the sheriff had found 10 quarts of rum aboard, according to his testimony at the preliminary hearing.

Simplified Form of Bank Call

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A new and simplified form of bank call is being worked out by the comptroller of the currency, treasury officials said today. The old form on which the national banks were required to make the statutory returns as to conditions, officials explained, was found to be too involved and lengthy, and it is expected that the new form will be more standardized and but half as long as the present one. Request for information as to, salaries of bank officials and employes which was called for by former Comptroller John Skelton Williams, officials said, would probably not be included in the new bank call.

Exhibition of Naval Target Firing

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 20.—Negotiations are under way, it was announced today, for an exhibition of naval target firing, directed by observation seaplanes, with the Pacific squadron of the Canadian fleet and the Canadian air force participating. It will be the first demonstration of the character ever staged in these waters.

Farmers to Form National Union

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Delegates from farm loan associations throughout the United States were here today to organize the national union of farm loan associations. The associations are said to own $17,000,000 of the $24,000,000 capital stock of the 12 Federal Farm Loan banks. The convention will ask for an increase of $25,000 of the maximum which a federal land bank may loan to individual borrowers.

"Star Spangled Banner" National Anthem

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A bill to make the "Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem has been introduced in the house of representatives by Representative Linthicum of Maryland.

HARDING UNVEILS BOLIVAR STATUE

Extols Monroe Doctrine in N. Y.—Statue of Washington Unveiled in Venezuela

NEW YORK, April 20.—The republics of North and South America joined hands across the Caribbean yesterday in two notable historical events commemorating their heroes who showed each continent the road to liberty.

Amid the roar of cannon and the plaudits of a distinguished gathering, President Harding, at the bronze equestrian statue of Simon Bolivar unveiled in Central Park, proclaimed anew the fundamentals of the Monroe doctrine and cited the desirability of standing firmly together for service both to the new and the old world.

Tribute to Washington

Simultaneously in Caracas, Venezuela's capital, President-elect Gomez and the people of Bolivar's native land, gathered around the statue of George Washington, which was unveiled with appropriate exercises in Washington Park, a new site to which it had been transferred.

President Harding's brief visit to New York gave the public its first opportunity to greet him as president with the enthusiasm always reserved for the nation's chief executive. From the moment of arrival until his departure three and a half hours later, crowds waited good naturedly in the chilly street and cheered a hearty welcome.

President Harding was generously applauded when he declared the United States was ready to fight to uphold the Monroe Doctrine.

"The history of the generations since that doctrine was proposed," he said, "has proved that we never intended it selfishly, that we had no dream of exploitation. On the other side, the history of the last decade certainly must have convinced all the world that we stand willing to fight, if necessary, to protect these continents, these sturdy young democrats, from oppression."

The president's arrival at Bolivar Hill was signalized by a salute of 21 guns. After he had been escorted to the stand facing the statue, followed by Secretary Hughes, Rene Viviani, envoy extraordinary from France; Governor Miller and Mayor Hylan, Dr. E. Gil-Borges, Venezuelan foreign minister; a host of Latin-American diplomats, and representatives of patriotic societies of both continents, the ceremonies began promptly.

President Harding's departure from the park, after Dr. William T. Manning, bishop-elect of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York, had pronounced the benediction brought another salute of 21 guns. Through the smoke of the artillery, and flanked by motorcycle policemen, he was driven at high speed through lanes of cheering men and women to the "Lighthouse" for the blind in East 59th street, where he spoke for one minute to a sightless audience that had eagerly awaited him.

The President and Mrs. Harding returned to Washington at 6 o'clock.

CAPIAS ISSUED FOR MAN DEFAULTED MONDAY

A capias warrant has been issued for the arrest of Sellah Omar, of Watson avenue, who was defaulted Monday for failure to appear in the police court and answer a grave charge in which an eight-year-old girl was the alleged victim of a criminal assault. He will be taken into custody on sight, and in the interim a $3000 surety furnished by friends is forfeited. Omar was arrested by Officer C. F. Sullivan several weeks ago after a sordid story was told by a little girl who accused him of being her assailant.

Bonds of $10,000 were fixed prior to his appearance in the police court, when Judge Pickman, substituting on the bench for Judge Enright, reduced the bail to $3000. The case was continued to April 4, and again to April 18, because of the fact that the child Omar is charged with assaulting was under treatment in a hospital as the result of injuries sustained in the alleged attack. When the case was called Monday morning Omar was absent. However, his counsel spoke of a misunderstanding as to the date of the hearing. A technical default was arranged, and it was understood that the defendant was to be produced, when the forfeit of the surety would be removed. This morning the witnesses for the prosecution, including the little girl, were present in court; but neither Omar or his counsel or friends appeared to represent the defence. A capias was then immediately sworn out, and a search instituted by the police authorities. It is believed that the defendant may have left Lowell, forfeiting the surety.

NEIGHBORHOOD PARTY FOR IRISH RELIEF

John Payne, P. J. Kane and a committee of vocalists and humorists have a number of unique features prepared for the "Neighborhood Party" at Y.M.C.I. hall tomorrow night in aid of the Irish Relief fund under the auspices of Paul Kittredge council, A.A.R.I.R. There will be old time dances, as well as the more popular of today, a minstrel program sparkling with fun and frolic. Mr. Payne has a program for young people and Mr. Kane one to follow for the elders. Both are in rivalry, each trying to outdo the other.

LOCAL YOUNG MEN JOIN THE NAVY

Six local young men have joined the navy since Saturday, it was announced today at the recruiting headquarters at the American Legion rooms, Dutton street. All joined in the capacity of firemen. On Saturday Ralph Drive entered the service, on Monday Thomas Nickerson and today Antonio Capnano, Edward Maloney, William Andrew Wyman, and Rodolph A. Falardeau. The monthly pay of a fireman, third class in the naval service is $48, besides which food, lodging, a clothing allowance, medical attention and other living expenses are received gratuitously. In brief after all actual necessaries are secured, a surplus of approximately $12 a week remains. To this is added 10 per cent. for sea service, together with other gratuities. The local men hope to make the cruise to Pearl harbor, Hawaiian Islands, aboard the U.S.S. submarine Beaver. When a submarine is submerged, $1 an hour is paid to each member of the crew. The local navy recruiting representatives have opened new quarters at the end of the American Legion building nearest Merrimack st. This is through the courtesy of the local legion post.

NEW HAVEN STOCKHOLDERS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 20.—Stockholders of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. Co., at their annual meeting today had before them a proposition to merge into the company subsidiary companies. Election of a board of directors and the question of refunding a loan placed in Europe in 1907 also were before the meeting.

The committee on relief of distress in Ireland will hold its weekly meeting tonight to advance the plans of the drive.

Under the auspices of the committee Rev. Thaddeus J. O'Connor, C.S.P., of Cork, Ire., now in Boston, has been engaged to deliver an illustrated lecture on recent events in Ireland at the Opera House, Sunday evening, May 8. Fr. O'Connor's lecture is endorsed by officers of the Irish republic.

CONCERT AND DANCE

Chelmsford Town Hall Scene of Dancing Party and Concert by Patrick Henry Council A.A.R.I.R.

Members of Patrick Henry council, A.A.R.I.R. of Chelmsford conducted a successful dancing party and concert in the town hall, Centre village Monday evening. In the early part of the evening entertainment numbers were given by Jas. Daley, J. O'Gara, Miss Jennie Conway, Miss Josephine Coyle and little May Conway, and later general dancing was started and continued till a seasonable hour. The officers for the evening were, John Quinn, floor director; John Keefe, Edward Quinn, Andrew Sheehan and Walter Barlow, aids. The affair was given under the direction of the following officers of the council; Joseph Quinn, president; Miss Mary F. Hill, vice president and treasurer; Miss Marion Brennan, financial secretary; Miss Rose Sherrin, secretary membership committee. During intermission ice cream and cake was served.

MAZDAS CLUB PARTY

The annual dancing party of the Mazdas club, an organization composed of local electric light workers, was held Monday evening at the Highland club hall. There was a large attendance and all spent a most enjoyable evening. In the early part of the evening concert numbers were given by the orchestra and a novelty act was presented by the Dixie Cake Walkers. General dancing was enjoyed till a seasonable hour. The committee in charge consisted of Miss Evelyn Lee, Miss Bessie Brundin, Miss Helena Sharkey, Miss Gertrude Leggatt, Miss Gladys Dodge, Miss Agnes Dugas and Miss Elvira Gibson.

A.O.H. AUXILIARY

Patriots day was observed last evening by the Ladies' auxiliary of the A.O.H. with a social and dancing party. The affair, which was largely attended and proved very enjoyable, was held in A.O.H. hall in Middle street and was in charge of the following officers: Miss Catherine Gaffney, general manager; Mrs. Annie Dewire, assistant general manager; Miss Nancy Parker, floor director; Miss Josie Kennedy and Miss Mollie Ford, assistants; Miss Catherine Reardon, secretary; Mrs. Maria O'Connell, treasurer and Mrs. Mary Curran, chairman of the reception committee.

Adventures of The Twins

OLD GRANNY HIPPO

"NO, THANK YOU, I'M NOT G OING," SAID GRANNY HIPPO

"Why did I leave the circus?" repeated Old Granny Hippo when Nancy asked her.

The twins and Flippety-Flap found her taking a mud-bath in a yellowish river in the Land-Of-Pretty-Far-Away. It was next door to the Land-Of-Farthest-Ever, one of the Fairy Queen's Nine Hundred and Ninety-Nine Kingdoms.

"Rumph!" she snorted. "Rumph! rumph! It was the calliope that did it. That awful thing with steam-pipes and black coal-smoke, that they ruin every circus parade with. I couldn't stand it when it began screaming its silly tunes. My wagon came right next to it, and I always got a headache the minute it began."

"Oh, we love the calliope, don't we, Nick?" said Nancy in surprise. "It plays such pretty tunes."

"Well, you're quite welcome to it, I'm sure," said Old Granny Hippo crankily. "But I don't think you have much company."

"Why?" asked Nick.

"Because I've observed that people watching the parade always leave the minute it comes along. They'll be standing there admiring me when all at once that silly thing starts up, and you should see them scatter. I can't stand it, so why should they?"

Flippety-Flap spoke up then. "But they leave because that's the end of the circus parade! Why should they stay longer?"

Granny looked thoughtful. "I didn't think of that," she said. "Maybe they did. But that last note! Did you ever hear it? It's off-key, and when they come to it I always try to cover my ears, for my head starts to ache at once. And when I have a headache it means something, for I've got so much head to ache."

"We could get it fixed, perhaps," suggested Nick. "The calliope, I mean, not your head."

Granny Hippo switched around in the muddy water. "No, thank you," said she. "I'm not going."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

If you are awearied of blue law blather, of sour and pasty-faced gloom-manufacturers who preach the sinfulness of all joy, take a jaunt to the Opera House sometime this week and get a dose of real old-fashioned pleasure, the kind we used to have before it became illegal to smile. "The Girl in the Limousine," as staged and acted by the 1920 Lowell Players, will prove a delight to all who do not belong to the League to Make Laughter Impossible. With Avery Hopwood as collaborating author, it offers a series of droll situations, presented in the brightest kind of dialogue. The players have caught the very spirit of the confection, and this performance is of New York calibre. One who has seen "She Walks In Her Sleep," "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," and others of the species given "just off Broadway," may say this without fear of being considered a rhapsodizer. To start off with, Marguerite Fields gives us a most refreshing and grateful interpretation of the young matron whose bed-chamber is the scene of most of the complications of the piece. With Milton Byron in the role of her former sweetheart, she presents for our approval a dainty and at the same time spirited interpretation of her role. We say "with Milton Byron," for the pair have most of their business and dialogue together, and each appears to furnish impetus to the other in the gay work of living through ridiculous predicaments. Two finished farceurs. As Dr. Jimmy Galen, Maxwell Driscoll proffers ur his usually suave performance. Although handicapped by being forced to wear all his clothes throughout the play, he accentuates the merriment of the occasion in a most agreeable manner. As Aunt Cicely, Priscilla Knowles shrieked right heartily as other members of the cast revealed themselves successively in embarrassing juxtaposition, and usually arrayed in none too weighty attire. "The Girl in the Limousine" is the type of bedroom farce which some critics delight to designate by expressions such as "daring," "a wee bit shocking," and other arch and blushing terms. But if the truth must be said, and these simpering sticklers confounded, the average decent-minded person finds nothing whatever offensive in a piece of the sort. If you care to see Miss Marguerite Fields do one of the most charming pieces of characterization you ever had the pleasure of enjoying, if you want to see Milton Byron prove himself the possessor of a notable understanding of comedy, if you wish to laugh until completely exhausted by the jovial exercise, do not pass up "The Girl in the Limousine." An excellent demonstration of the often repeated assertion that the Lowell Players constitute the most accomplished stock company in New England. Once more you are exhorted, —and this is a straight tip,—to treat yourself to a delectable evening.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Large holiday audiences were entertained at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday by the two big feature productions which close their engagement this evening. D. W. Griffith's "The Love Flower," and Will Rogers in "The Gulle of Women," were the magnets which attracted hundreds to the popular Paige street amusement house. Tomorrow afternoon there will be an entire change of program.

The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "Godless men," a stirring story of the great outdoors, and "The Song of the Soul," an appealing story, starring popular Vivian Martin.

There is the tang of the sea, the thrill of human combat with the elements and the drama of red-blooded sailors in "Godless Men."

This photoplay is a film adaption of the Ben Ames Williams story, "Black Pawl," which appeared in the Saturday evening Post. The action centres about a brutal old sea dog who has been called "Black Pawl." He rules his ship, Deborah, with fear, the most mutinous character aboard being his own son, Red Pawl. He had taken his boy at a tender age on a voyage only to return and find the mother with his little daughter had eloped with another man. From that moment he denied the existence of God and taught his son the gospel of hate.

On the island a missionary, Samuel Poor, had attended a dying woman who pleaded with him to get her daughter back to civilization on the first boat. Red Pawl conspired with a seaman, Spiess, to kill his father that he, Red Pawl, might be master of the ship and of the girl.

On board a pure love affair sprung up between Ruth and Second Mate Dan Darrin. The girl felt an unaccountable confidence in Black Pawl, whom everyone else feared.

From this point on, the story gains dramatic momentum until finally a very startling and unusual climax is reached. A capable cast interprets the various roles.

"The Song of the Soul," the other big feature for the week-end, is from the story by William J. Locke and has a most unusual theme. The heroine is a blind girl played by Miss Martin, and the role gives her an exceptional opportunity to display her emotional talents. She is ably supported.

A comedy and the International News round out the bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

If you have not seen House Peters and Jane Novak in James Oliver Curwood's famous northern story, "Isobel," you should plan on doing so today for it is making its final appearance at the Rialto theatre. The picture is one of human interest and portrays the northern snows and the wonderful sunsets beyond imagination. The program also carries "The Truant Husband" and a variety of other attractions.

Beginning tomorrow there will be a complete change of program introducing Bebe Daniels in "Oh Lady, Lady," an English picture. "The Lure of Crooning Waters," a comedy, "Beat It," an episode of "Fighting Fate" and the Fox News.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

If you are a member of a family, and especially if you are the mother, the sketch, "Any Home," being presented at B. F. Keith's theatre this week as the headline attraction, will appeal to you in more ways than one. And inasmuch as all of us either are family members now or were at one time, the sketch may be said to have universal appeal.

Jean Adair, the capable actress who has devoted years to the "young-old woman" of the stage, plays the leading role, that of the mother. She's the typical mother, unceasingly working, sacrificing and loving that the other members of her family may have comfort. But unlike most mothers when she finds that her work isn't being appreciated, she protests and when her protests prove unavailing she goes on strike.

This brings her husband, son and daughter, pampered beyond all reason, to their senses and immediately there develops a new respect for the mother. She tells them that they treat her with less respect and deference than the cook and declares that she will hereafter command all the privileges which the cook enjoys. The rest of the family agree to all her propositions so long as she promises to return to them.

"Any Home" is an entertaining vehicle that brings Miss Adair's peculiar talents to the fore. It is garnished with a lot of funny situations, but running underneath is a current of seriousness and a bit of a moral that will strike home.

Eddie Ross, he of the black face and the inevitable banjo, is with us once more in his inimitable series of stories and banjo numbers. Eddie can make more fun out of the fact that he was a member of a large family than any entertainer we know. In fact, he talks for nearly half an hour on the sole topic, his mother and father, sisters and brothers. He says that there were at least 14 members of his family with whom he was "personally acquainted." Ross has been on the stage for years but his work seems to grow more delightful each year.

Jack Rolls and Ruby Royce are among the best dancers who have appeared in Lowell during the present season. Rolls is a light chap who steps around with ease. Miss Royce, on the other hand, is inclined to be stout, but if anything, she is lighter on her feet than her partner. The two are experts in their line and offer a program of pleasing variety.

The Three Chums are a trio of male singers of ability who entertain with solos and trios. Incidentally they introduce a burlesque on two spectators at a movie show and the mobile countenance of one of them keeps the audience howling.

Bob and Peggy Valentine in "Vital Statistics," have an original song and comedy conceit which they put across in a capable manner. Peggy is the young woman census taker and Bob the small-town "wise guy" who is being questioned. Clean comedy and good music are written all over this offering.

The Donald sisters are strong looking young women who present something new in the way of hand balancing and Com. Tom is a dapper pony who displays almost human intelligence.

The motion picture films, including the Kinogram Weekly, Topics of the Day and a comedy are up to their usual standard.

THE STRAND THEATRE

The program at the Strand theatre advertised for the first three days of the week has proved to be such a big drawing card that the management has decided to continue it during the remainder of the week. At Monday afternoon and evening's performances standing room only was almost at a premium, while yesterday the house was packed at all performances. The big attraction are Priscilla Dean, a noted star, appearing in Tod Browning's newest creation, "Outside the Law," and Clara Kimball Young, another local film favorite, who is being featured in "Mid-Channel." In addition to these two high class reels there is also an enjoyable comedy as well as a series of scenes of current events taken in various parts of the world. The musical numbers by Miss Elsie Robbins also add materially to the success of the bill.

"Outside the Law," reveals the struggles of crooks to go straight and deals with the story of a notorious crook known as Black Mike who has become enraged because Molly, his pal, and her father, are attempting to go straight. He frames the father of the girl and then tries to trap the girl, but his efforts are fruitless. Some thrilling scenes follow.

"Mid-Channel," Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's great drama that was first presented on the stage with Ethel Barrymore in the leading role, and now shown on the screen with Clara Kimball Young, starring is the second feature on this extraordinary bill. Miss Young's achievement in the role is unquestionably one of her biggest and most successful film efforts, and has merited the unqualified approval of all motion picture patrons.

NEURASTHENIA— NERVE STARVATION

A Disease of the Down Hearted—Practical advice on what to do.

Many a man is broken down and discouraged without having any actual disease in his organs and tissues—he has lost his grip, feels weak and nervous and everything looks dark. He is suffering from the great American disease—Neurasthenia or nerve starvation, due to over-work, worry, continual hurry and nervous strain. The longer this continues the more certainly will it end in real disease of his organs, his nerves or his mind.

Such a man should live on the simple foods, eat plenty of cooked fruit and green vegetables, sleep nine hours at night if he can, an hour in the afternoon and feed his starving nerves and weak, thin blood, with a good nerve and blood food, like Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron contains a product brought to the attention of the French Academy of Medicine by the celebrated Doctor Robin, which represents the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force; it also contains a genuine organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples.

Nuxated Iron may therefore be said to be a real nerve and blood food since it supplies the principal ingredients demanded by your nerves and blood to give you strength, energy, force and endurance. It often increases the bodily and mental vigor of weak, wornout, down hearted and nervous folks in two weeks' time. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if it does not produce perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.—Adv.

Feast on the Flavor

The Old Cape Cod Flavor

(of Gorton's Ready-to-Fry Cod Fish Cakes

IT'S the delicious, deep-sea flavor. The fresh-from-the-ocean flavor of tender, white cod, cured in salt and sunshine. And cooked with mealy, crumbling potatoes, as only Gloucester fisher-folks know how.

Then sealed in enamel-lined cans for you to open and merely roll out into cakes and fry. Unbelievable that such delicate fish-cake flavor could come out of a can!

Fry in very hot fat, to a golden-brown crust. Serve them sizzling with aroma from hot pan to hot plate quick—and feast on the flavor.

One can feeds three. The meat part of the meal for any meal—breakfast, lunch or dinner. But far less expensive than a meal of meat or eggs.

And easy to fry as bacon.

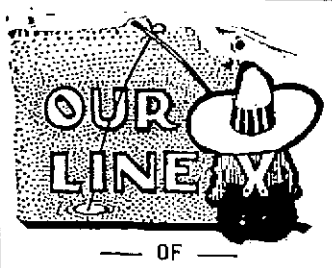

Get a can from your grocer today and you'll have a case (24 cans) in your pantry tomorrow.

Feast on the flavor today.

P. S.—A case of Gorton's Ready-to-Fry Cod Fish Cakes in your larder will save you work on "fish days."

HIGH RECORD FOR TONNAGE AND TOLLS

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A new high record for net tonnage passing through the Panama Canal and tolls earned was established in March, according to official announcement. The previous high record was made in January of this year. The aggregate net tonnage of commercial traffic for March was 1,112,818, as compared with 1,094,323 for January and the tolls earned in March amounted to $1,105,529, which is about $16,000 more than was earned in January.

There are now in Alaska 200,000 reindeer, 70 per cent. of which are owned by Eskimos.

IN POLICE COURT

Star Boarder Figures in Local Domestic Trouble

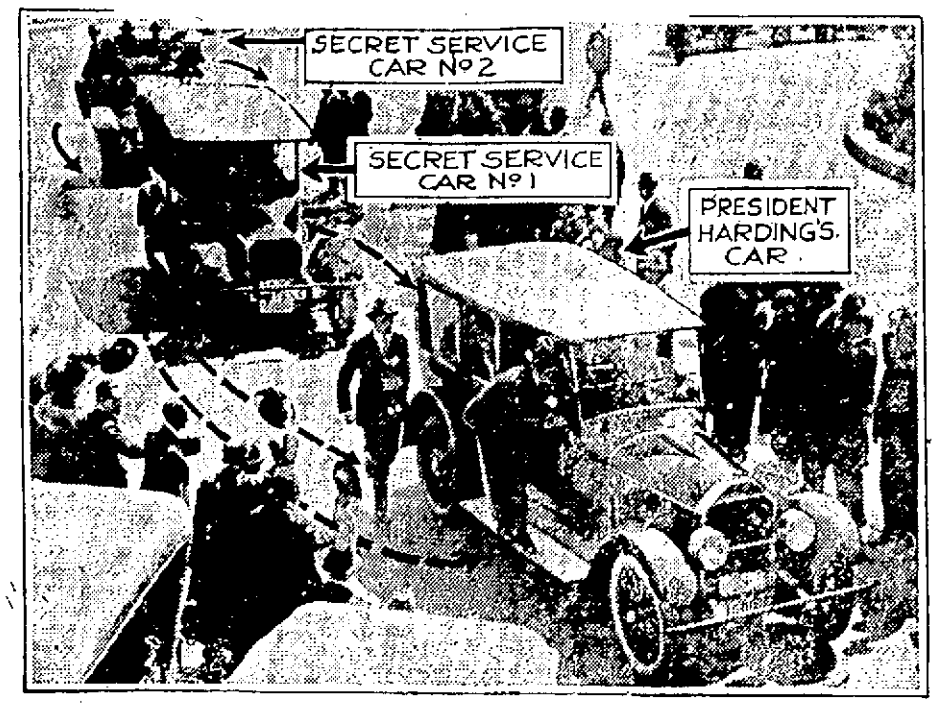

A very slim after-holiday docket was heard in police court this morning by Judge Enright. The case of Rafwies Bematavlezins, charged with wielding a razor and uttering dire threats against his wife, consumed the greatest length of time, as both the defendant and his wife were represented by counsel who had considerable evidence to produce relative to the affairs of the couple, who have been married for 11 years. Mrs. Bematavlezins took the stand as the first witness. She told of an alleged incident occurring on the night of April 8. At that time, she said, her husband flourished a razor in close proximity to her countenance, at the same time exclaiming, "You'll have your justice here. It will be death, justice, and everything." The woman, who testified through an interpreter, as did her husband, could give no other explanation of these cryptic alleged pronouncements of her husband and to explain that they amounted to a declaration that he intended to have her life. Mr. Bematavlezins, she said, also included the kicking down of her bedroom door as a part of the activities of that night. This door she had kept locked, she declared, but she was not allowed to give her reasons for this precaution, in consequence of objection by counsel for the defendant. Bematavlezins himself denied even being present in the house on the night of the alleged meanness. He then presented his angle of the case, telling the not uncommon story of a star boarder, alienation of affections, and concluded with the declaration that his wife made no bones of announcing that she cared more for the boarder than she did for him, telling him that the boarder was a better man than he was. The boarder himself, said the defendant declined to leave his lodgings at the Bematavlezins domicile, informing the defendant that he was not afraid of him. Judge Enright continued the case for a month, to see whether matters cannot be adjusted between the pair.

Charged with indecent conduct in the presence of several young girls, Thomas F. Allen was sentenced to serve three months in the house of correction. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file. Girls in their teens testified that Allen made signs of invitation to them, followed them persistently on the street, and otherwise annoyed them, including actions of great impropriety in his conduct. The defendant's defense was to the effect that he could not remember anything that happened. Officer Jerome P. Cullen testified to complaints being made concerning the behavior of Allen. Judge Enright then imposed the three months' sentence, Allen lodged an appeal, and bonds were fixed at $300. A short time after the conclusion of his case and before the end of the court session, he returned from his cell downstairs and requested that he be permitted to withdraw his appeal. This was granted, and he will begin the serving of his sentence today at Cambridge.

Adam Nasutowicz, when charged in the police court with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, and asked whether he was guilty, indignantly and loudly responded, "Well, I guess not. Nasutowicz, a Chelmsford resident, was arrested by Officer James R. Gookin. Bonds were fixed at $300. The case of John D. Stuart, charged with operating an automobile at Tyngsboro in such a manner as to endanger the lives and safety of the public, was continued to May 4. He was arrested by Officer Arthur A. Kelley. Philip Dussault, charged with peddling without a license, pleaded not guilty, but was fined $10. He appealed and was held in bonds of $200. It appeared that the defendant had in his possession the license of his employer, but none of his own. An officer testified that after being warned, the defendant persisted in selling under the same conditions. Dussault is a resident of Salem street.

There were eight releases of holiday drunks by Probation Officer Slattery prior to the opening of the court. Speaking from a liquor standpoint, the city was exceptionally quiet. There were no raids by the booze squad, and no serious cases of drunkenness.

Lyons, France, has the only university that offers a course in perfumery making.

HOW IS PRESIDENT GUARDED? THIS SHOWS YOU

You hear a lot about the secret service men who guard the president everywhere he goes. Ever wonder how they work? Look at this photo-diagram. The picture was snapped in Washington a few days ago. President Harding is in the front car, which is slowly coming to a stop. Note that three secret service men from S. S. car 1 have reached the president's car while it is still moving. One has hopped on the running board, another is running up just behind him and the third has raced up on the far side of the car. By the time the president is alighting the secret service men shown stepping out of S. S. car 2 will be all around him to see him safely through the crowd. Every time the president goes out in his car the secret service care are right behind.

New Customs Control By Allies

BERLIN, April 20.—A despatch from Essen says the new customs control set up by the allies in the occupied zone for the collection of duties under the penalties plan became effective at midnight. Passenger trains are being detained 10 minutes for the inspection of the passengers and their baggage.

210,000 Respond in Military Class of 1921

PARIS, April 20.—Reports show that the military class of 1921, called to the colors during April, has yielded 210,000 men, which is more than 75 per cent of youths 20 years of age, who are subject to military service. This is the first time that such a high percentage of effectives has been secured and newspapers attribute it to a decrease in the use of alcohol, the spread of sports and improved living conditions on farms.

CONCERT AND MUSICALE AT HIGH SCHOOL

Arrangements have been completed for the first concert and musicale to be given by the combined musical organizations of the Lowell high school in high school hall this evening for the benefit of the athletic fund. The orchestra, glee clubs and mandolin club in the public schools will join with soloists and a reader in presenting a pleasing and varied program. The mandolin club will be directed by W. . Bovey. Mrs. Evelyn Kinsman, soprano of Boston and a church singer of note, will assist the school musicians. Miss Anna Lee Maguire of the school faculty will give a series of readings and Andrew A. McCarthy, baritone, will contribute several solos. Miss Helen Choate will be the accompanist of the evening. The concert will start promptly at 8 o'clock and will be under the general direction of Fred O. Blunt, director of music in the public schools.

Co. for a garage and gasoline license at Smith and Shaw streets was referred to Commissioner Salmon.

The petitions of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for pole locations in Middle and Appleton streets were referred for hearings May 3.

The petition of Arthur Gervais for a garage and gasoline license at 25 Riverside street was referred for a hearing May 10.

Similar action was taken on the petition of a garage and gasoline license at 169 Fairmount street.

The petitions of Ezra Greenberg for an edgestone on the southerly side of Princeton street, and of George A. Lachance for edgestones on both sides of Cascade avenue were referred to Commissioner Murphy.

The petition of Peter A. Phasoulas to sell firearms was referred to the Mayor and Commissioner Marchand.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company was granted permission to erect two poles in West Sixth street between Coburn and a point near 125 West Sixth street.

The Lowell Electric Light Corporation was granted permission to locate the following poles; one pole, Canton street; two poles, Bachman street, off Lakeview avenue; one pole, Central street; two poles, Mt. Washington street; two poles in Crescent street, near Parker.

Following favorable reports from the commissioner of streets and highways and the city engineer, the council voted to adopt the following orders:

Order to lay a sewer in Dartmouth street for a distance of 140 feet at a cost of $510 on petition of Rufus A. Maxfield.

Order to lay a sewer in Mill court for a distance of 120 feet at a cost of $630 on petition of Henry A. Drew.

Commissioner Murphy introduced an order to lay a sewer in Conduit st. at an estimated cost of $5350. The sewer was requested by Eleanor Desrosiers et al. Mayor Thompson wanted to know about the need of the sewer; he thought that a large amount of money was being involved. Commissioner Murphy said that more or less trouble had been caused the residents of the street because of the accumulation of surface water there owing to the lack of proper sewer accommodations. Commissioner Salmon said that the water department had an outlet on the street. It was finally voted to refer the matter to Commissioner Murphy for further investigation.

An order to re-establish the grade of a portion of Dartmouth street was adopted.

Commissioner Murphy's requisition for a carload of cement, two paving rammers and several hundred feet of hose to be bought through the purchasing agent's office was approved.

A bill of $50 from the Lowell Oakland Co. for repairs of a machine in the buildings department was approved.

At the request of Commissioner Donnelly it was voted to award to Sullivan Bros. a contract for the printing of 1400 lists of male and female residents of 20 years of age or over for the use of the asserrors' department. Sullivan Bros. were the lowest bidders, agreeing to do the work for $1.33 per page.

Commissioner Salmon reported favorably on the following garage and gasoline petitions and the licenses were granted:

Merrivale Co., garage, Howe st.

A. G. Edson, gasoline, 809 Princeton st.

George E. Lavallee, gasoline, 52 Mammoth road.

A. C. Wallace, gasoline, 457 Westford st.

A. H. Saunders, gasoline, 125 Paige st.

COMPULSORY VOTING

The bill before the legislature to compel citizens to vote on pain of being fined, or imprisoned, if they fail to do so and are unable to furnish a satisfactory reason for not going to the polls, is likely to appeal to a considerable number of people, on first thought, as being a desirable measure.

It is certainly desirable that the views of as large a portion of the electorate as possible regarding policies and candidates shall find expression at the ballot box on election day. Altogether too many citizens stay away from the polls without an adequate reason for so doing. It is questionable, though, whether driving these people to the voting places by fear of having a penalty imposed upon them if they stay at home, would be a gain to the community.

The law is open to the objection that it attempts to make people "good," or in other words perform their plain duty, by legislative enactment.

Like other similar laws, it would quite certainly fail to accomplish its purpose for the reason that it is well nigh impossible to force a considerable number of people to do what they do not care to do, and which they and others do not look upon as a matter of very great importance.

It would seem that the question of voting may very well be left where it is now with the individual citizen and his conscience. The franchise is too great a privilege, won through centuries of struggling, to be forced upon "slackers," who are too dull, lazy or thoughtless to take advantage of their priceless heritage.

The proposed law has its technical defects also, in that, should it be placed on the statute oks, it would probably be found practically impossible of enforcement with the machinery provided for in the bill. It would very probably result in cluttering up the district courts with such a mass of cases that it would be difficult for them to function satisfactorily.

It may also be questioned whether society or government would gain anything for the vote of a man or woman forced to go to the polls by fear of fine or imprisonment.

DOMESTIC INTERESTS FIRST

Some of the greatest British writers are endeavoring to convince us that if Europe should prove unable to recover from the ravages of war, the United States would suffer almost as much as some of the weakest of the European nations.

H. G. Wells tells us that we cannot live without Europe and he notifies us that if the greater part of Europe were reduced to a desert, we should have to assume the white man's burden alo "save for some nations which are we... in numbers and others that are weak in whiteness." He attributes our business depression to the fact that we have lost European aid as a result of the war and that this explains why our railroads are idle and our farmers in distress.

We are not prepared to admit that we are quite so dependent upon Europe as Mr. Wells would have us believe; nor is our depression due to the absence of European trade. We have been in a war and we are now feeling the after-effects same as most of the other nations that engaged in the struggle.

We may notify Mr. Wells that if we are suffering depression at present, we do not believe that an immediate linking up with Europe or any of her leading empires would hasten the relief. Indeed the reverse of his statement is probably true. It is doubtful if Europe can recover without the aid of the United States, and that is why the European nations are so much concerned over our foreign policy. President Harding in his recent message made clear the fact that while we owe a duty to Europe and to civilization in general our first duty is to America. And this does not mean international isolation but a proper regard for the responsibilities of the same hundred million people who look to he government at Washington for the conservation of their liberties, their rights and their interests. Other nations look to their own interests first and we are fully within our rights in exercising the same privilege.

WISE LABOR POLICIES

The railroad employes, in advising President Harding that they are willing to revise any of their rules which make for unwarranted operating expense, have taken a long step forward.

The railroad executives say that the failure of the railroads is caused by the high wages paid. The men reply that the big waste is in operating expense items other than labor. Then they offer to cut out any waste that can be found in the labor item. That puts it up to the executives.

President Harding in his message to congress said that "railroad rates and costs of operation must be reduced." That puts it up to the railroad executives again.

The action of the railroad employes is especially notable as it is a recognition that, in coming down from the war-peak of prices to a lower cost of living, labor must be willing to come down, too.

Labor secured notable advantages in the war, the advantages that are far more important than the rate of pay. For example, there was established the right of collective bargaining, the basic eight-hour day, the right to better conditions of employment, and, more fundamental than all, the principle that, whether jobs be plentiful or scarce, and whether there be an oversupply of labor or a dearth of it, the cost of living must be considered as a fundamental in determining any fair wage scale.

The old rule was that labor went down first in times of repression, and went up last in times of prosperity.

The railroad men set a good example—and in this they display fine and sound business sense—when they agree to stipulate wages and accept reasonable changes which would amount to definite wage reductions, demanding in return strict management and lower rates for the public.

The result of lower freight rates would be to stimulate freight movement, take the iron hand of repression off of business and actually earn the railroads larger profits.

If labor, as a whole, will follow the wise lead of the railroad men, in this particular case it will be backed by public opinion.

If prices must come down and profiteering must be cut out and waste and extravagance must be eliminated, then money wages can come down and yet leave the worker better off than before.

Judging from the good sense shown by the railroad unions in thus helping to avert a crisis and to settle amicably a question that menaced industrial peace throughout the nation, they have won a higher place in the confidence of the public.—N.E.A.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND

The Quaker unit investigating the conditions in Ireland supplements its former communications by one bearing upon the present condition of the people and upon the extent of the distress. As to the reign of terror that prevails, it cannot be adequately described. Those who support the republic and who are suspected of being actively engaged in aiding the Sinn Fein, are in constant terror of reprisal raids from the Black and Tans which usually result in the destruction of life and property. In addition to this the military are continually searching for active participants in the rebellion and not unfrequently take young men from their beds and shoot them at their own doors. The few who may venture to aid the government are equally in dread of being dealt with as traitors by the republican army. This state of terror is widespread and it prevents the people from pursuing their usual occupations.

As a result of the number of people killed, the 25,000 driven out of the shipyards in Ulster, the other thousands thrown out of employment by the burning of the city of Cork, the destruction of the creameries and factories of various kinds, the report from the Quaker unit that 100,000 people are at this moment in absolute want, is a very conservative statement.

It should serve to stimulate the relief work in this country, as offering assurance that the money is urgently needed and that so far as possible, it will be devoted only to the relief of the sufferers.

FIRST STREET BOULEVARD

There has been a great deal of talk about the First Street boulevard and the stadium, and now that the good weather has arrived, it is time that the work were started. When the county was ready to start work on the original plan, Mayor Thompson took a leading part in having the project abandoned in order that new plans might be devised to divert the roadway along the riverbank and provide for a stadium between the boulevard and First street.

The county commission knows nothing about the new arrangement; and although it has been stated that the public service department has it in mind, that is probably as far as the project has gone.

The usual procedure has been to enter a petition with the county commission which would take the matter up and, in case of approval, co-operate with the city and the state in all the arrangements. The county does the rough grading and the state the final grading and surface finish. It is time the municipal council got behind this movement and have the work started as soon as possible. If the survey and plans have not already been completed, it will be well along in the summer before even that part of the work can be finished. Whatever steps are necessary to have this work started should be attended to without further delay.

If Artemas B. Woodworth, president of the Lowell Co-operative bank, has not made two blades of grass grow where one grew before, he has done something almost equally worth while in helping to provide the city with 2500 new homes in the last 35 years. The Sun hopes that he will never have occasion to use the gold-headed cane that was presented to him on his 50th birthday.

A Washington correspondent states that "the battle to bring back beer and light wine will be fought to a finish in this congress." If the statement proves true, it is quite certain that John Barleycorn will not be at the ringside to applaud the end of the fight.

The Buffalo, N. Y., man who sent his shirt to the state house tax collector, saying it was all that he had left, must be worrying a little just now as to what he is to pay his next tax bill with.

If Mr. Harding knows what that portion of his recent message dealing with foreign relations really means, he is probably entitled to the distinction of being looked upon as the only living mortal who has such information.

The mayor of Lewiston, Maine, has cut $450 from his salary, as part of a general reduction of the municipal payroll, but no applause has yet been heard from the members of the New England Mayors' club.

Massachusetts would like to see the people of Georgia educated, but it objects to being compelled by the Smith-Towner bill to rob its own children of school privileges to pay for it.

"The moving finger writes and having writ moves on," but has it ever written of a stranger thing than that the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" is to be turned into a movie play?

Judge Landis says that prohibition should be given a 50 years' trial. We are wondering when Lowell's trial period is to commence.

Salaries of state officials were increased $2,300,000 in 1919 and 1921. Another example of G.O.P. economy.

A Lowell man back from the Pacific coast was telling of his trip in P. Z. Patsy broke in at this point to remark that the barber in question would have to be a magician to cut it any other way.

Japan's Auto Rules

"Go soothingly on the grease-mud, for there lurk the skid demon." That is but one of the warnings an American motorist in Japan would find facing him, that is if he were able to translate the Japanese character. E. R. Plummer, purser on the liner China, recently brought to San Francisco Japan's latest automobile rules which read as follows when translated literally: At the rise of the hand of policeman, stop rapidly. Do not pass by or otherwise disrespect him. When a passenger of the foot hove in sight, tootle the horn trumpet to him melodiously at first. If he still obstacles your passage, tootle him with vigor and express by word of mouth the warning, "hi hi!" Beware of the wandering horse that he shall not take fright as you pass him. Do not explode the exhaust box at him. Go soothingly by, or stop by the roadside till he pass away. Give big space to the festive dog that make sport in the roadway. Avoid entanglement of dog with your wheelspokes. Go soothingly on the grease-mud as there lurk the skid demon. A Ballade of Tastes

(Copyright, 1921, by the Lowell Sun)

Just gimme some pitchers that's pleasant an' pretty.
(Some Harrison Fisher or Underwood dame)
A few photographs of our beautiful city,
An' mebbe some calendar pitchers to frame;
Some nice homey stuff is my choice, an' I claim
It's better than Dutch things by Hal or Van Dike,
I ain't seen their works but I know 'em by name)
I don't know no art but I know what I like!

Take music; I'm strong for the kind of ditty
Like them that gave Dresser an' Harris their fame,
Or Irving Berlin, for you gotta admit he
Is there with the jazz, he's a wiz at the same.
To me all this Wagner and Mozart is tame
I can't seem to foller a tune that they strike,
An' though that may show that my culture is lame,
I don't know no art but I know what I like.

For books, I hate stuff that's all gruesome an' gritty
That pictures this like as a slam an' a slaime,
An' I don't get fellers that's terribly witty
Like Wilde an' like Shaw, I don't savvy their game;
It may be their genius sizzles like flame
But Harold Bell Wright has 'em beaten, sure, Mike!
Of all of the authors he's cremo-de-la-creme,
I don't know no art, but I know what I like!

ENVOY

So here's the conclusion to which I have came
While ploddin' along on life's commonplace pike,
I'll just please myself, an' I'll take all the blame;
I don't know no art but I know what I like.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Do you believe in signs—signs of spring? Some of us certainly craved a sign of the blossomy season on Monday, with the cold wind blowing through our whiskeretties, and the sleet caressing our countenances with the gentleness of a shower of B-B shot. Residents of Centralville were vouchsafed a sign as they plodded on their way down town to work. The first inkling of it reached them when the bleak blasts enveloped their frames as they stepped upon the Centralville bridge. "Wheeew!" whoeewed the wind. Folks looked up, and beheld a sign of spring. The high board fence was gone from the side of the bridge. And that is how the denizens of Centralville knew last Monday was spring. They'd never have known it any other way.

Dr. Frank Crane, America's leading male Pollyanna, has the following to say of a recently published volume of popular chemistry: "The book is tremendous. It is an epoch. It is knowledge made beautiful, facts transformed to fairies." Of course we didn't know before that knowledge needed to be made beautiful, except to stupid people who find beauty only in popular sob ballads and alleged society movies. However, that wasn't what we started out to say. We were going to wonder what Doc Crane would have done if he had read "Hamlet" or "Don Quixote" or "D'Ecarajo" when they were first published. Would he have had apoplexy and died? Or, after hysterics and fainting spells and wild cheers, would he have been able to write, "The books are tremendous. They are an epoch."

My attention has been called to an item appearing in one of our periodicals which will be of special interest to Lowell men who are members of the Knights of Columbus. The item in question states that the K. of C. is the only American fraternal insurance organization to be given an unconditional ranking with the best Canadian commercial insurance organizations by the Canadian insurance commission, according to a report made by Commissioner W. G. Finlayson, head of the Canadian government's insurance bureau in Ottawa. Commissioner Finlayson says that an examination of the K. of C. financial standing shows the Knights to be 125 per cent. solvent and I believe that there are few other fraternal organizations with insurance features which can show so high a percentage of solvency.

Thankful He Was Not a Woman

The late Lawson Tait, of England, the great woman's doctor, said he never went to bed at night without thanking Heaven he was not born a woman. No doctor ever knew better than he what women have to suffer at some times of their lives. It was an American woman, long since passed to her reward, who introduced a combination of roots and herbs called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that has proved wonderfully successful in mitigating suffering and relieving disease of women. It has brought relief to thousands of women who suffered from female ills.—Adv.

LOWELL MAN ELECTED

C. T. A. U. Officers Chosen —National Convention to Be Held in Boston

BOSTON, April 20—Delegates to the annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, to take place in June, will be invited by the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of the Archdiocese of Boston, to come to this city for the purpose of holding the national convention. This action was taken yesterday after considerable debate at the annual convention of the diocesan union, held in the Brookline town hall.

The Rev. Francis X. Dolan, president of the diocesan union and rector of St. Gregory's church, Dorchester Lower Mills, presided. He was assisted by the Rev. Dr. Maurice F. O'Connor, chaplain-general, and pastor of St. Bridget's church, Framingham. Miss Ellen Sweeney was appointed as assistant to Secretary Maurice Dineen, the latter in his annual report stating that the diocesan union now has 14 societies with a total membership of 882, showing no serious loss since the advent of prohibition.

William H. Cuddy of St. Joseph's Total Abstinence society, West End, and one of the most active workers in the temperance movement, speaking on the question of inviting the national convention to this city, said he thought the influence for good by such action would be widespread. "I believe prohibition today is a joke," said he. "You can buy as much whiskey as you want. Therefore, the need of temperance organizations is apparent."

Father O'Connor stated that Cardinal O'Connell gave his approbation to inviting the national convention to be held in this city.

One of the principal speakers of the day was Edwin Mulready of Rockland, a member of the labor and industries board. Mr. Mulready has been active in the temperance movement all his life and is a past national president. He spoke of his experience and advised the delegates regarding the invitation to the national organization. A committee of 20, to be appointed by the board of government, was voted, to devise ways and means and prepare a program for the coming convention.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Fathers Dolan and O'Connor, president and chaplain-general respectively; James F. Manning of Taunton, first vice-president; Abigail F. Reardon of Lynn, second vice-president; Maurice Dineen of Somerville, secretary; Thomas F. Finan of Brookline, financial secretary; Henry W. Feenan, corresponding secretary.

Delegates-at-large to the national convention elected are:

Charles D. Gallagher of Lowell, John Welsh of North Chelmsford, Mrs. James E. Skinnell of Brookline, Mrs. Maurice Dineen of Somerville, John J. Doherty of Brookline, and A. D. Teso of St. Gregory's.

The convention opened with a solemn high mass in St. Mary's church, with the Rev. Bernard F. O'Kane as celebrant, the Rev. Aloysius Finn, deacon, and the Rev. Thomas Frawley, sub-deacon. The Rev. James F. Cassidy was the preacher.

After the mass the delegates were the guests of St. Mary's C.T.A.U. at a dinner served in G.A.R. hall. School Committeeman Driscoll and Selectman Walter Cusick of the town were guests. Lawrence Corcoran of St. Mary's C.T. A.U. was the chairman of arrangements.

EFFICIENT AND COURTEOUS FITTING SERVICE

FOR THE IRISH HEROES

Mass at St. Columba's—Sermon by Rev. Francis L. Keenan

Rev. Francis L. Keenan of St. Patrick's church delivered a powerful sermon on the significance of Patriots day to those who are striving for Irish freedom at the memorial mass celebrated in St. Columba's church yesterday morning at the request of Lafayette council, American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. The mass was for the repose of the souls of those who died fighting for the Irish cause. Large delegations from the various councils of the city were in attendance.

Rev. James F. Somers was the celebrant of the mass, and Rev. Patrick J. Hally, the pastor, was also present. Rev. Fr. Keenan took his text from the First Corinthians, 15th chapter, 55th verse. "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" He said that it was fitting on Patriots day to honor the heroes of all lands, because the shot fired at Concord which was heard around the world, was nowhere more resonant than in the hills of Ireland, where today it is calling the manhood of the country to the defense of its liberty.

He said that the brave men who have died fighting for Ireland's cause have not been conquered, but have joined the ranks of the immortal. Likewise, they are immortal in the hearts of their countrymen where their epitaphs will be written on monuments more lasting than stone.

Rev. Fr. Keenan quoted an address of the late Terence MacSwiney in which the late lord mayor of Cork said that the liberty for which Irishmen were fighting is a sacred thing and because it is a sacred thing, death for it is like the sacrifice on Calvary. He said that Mr. MacSwiney's sentiments were typical of the spirit with which the people of Ireland are still infused and, in conclusion, he offered a prayer for the eternal repose of the souls of those who have given their lives in Ireland's battle for freedom.

GENERAL VARNUM'S CAREER DESCRIBED

That had General Joseph Bradley Varnum of Dracut been chosen governor of Massachusetts in 1813 he might have become a national political character and possibly a candidate for the presidency was asserted by Frederick W. Coburn in an address dealing with General Varnum's career delivered before the members of Molly Varnum chapter, D.A.R., yesterday.

Mr. Coburn said that the 1813 election represented a turning point in the general's career. He was opposed by Governor Caleb Strong, extreme federalist and unrelenting opponent of war with Great Britain. Governor Strong's victory, the speaker said, spelled disaster for the democratic party in Massachusetts and New England and seriously injured the prestige of General Varnum. Three years later he failed of re-election to the senate and went back to a place in the legislature where he had served as a young man.

The speaker said that General Varnum believed a war with England was inevitable and that he supported measures for military preparation. As a consequence of his votes in congress he was roughly handled by mobs in New England in the summer of 1812. The stand taken by Governor Strong, Mr. Coburn asserted, would have landed him in the Atlanta prison if it had happened in 1917.

The speaker called attention to the fact that the 100th anniversary of General Varnum's death is to occur next September and expressed the hope that it would be fittingly observed by local patriotic societies.

Previous to Mr. Coburn's address the report of the nominating committee was read. A reception followed at which Mrs Mary Greeley Morrison was hostess; Miss Mary A. Webster and Mrs. E. M. Tucke poured. Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. O. Wilson, assisted by Misses Mildred Beals, Gertrude Fox, Bernice Jewett, Helen Webster and Nellie Horner.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

A largely attended meeting of the members of the Pawtucketville Improvement association was held last evening in the vestry of the Pawtucket Congregational church. President Cornelius P. Cronin occupied the chair and Rev. A. G. Lyon, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. Interesting reports were submitted concerning the coming midway, which will be held on the Lakeview avenue grounds for the benefit of the memorial fund and it was voted to form a permanent organization with permanent quarters at the church. A committee was appointed to confer with the park commissioners regarding the removal of houses along the river front so as to make a suitable park in that part of the district. Routine business was transacted and the meeting adjourned to May 4.

LOWELL ELKS OBSERVE PATRIOTS DAY

Members of Lowell lodge, P.B.O. Elks observed Patriots day with an appropriate program of entertainment Monday evening in the Elks quarters in Middle street. The entertainment was conducted under the general direction of Daniel McCaffrey. The program included orchestra numbers and various other entertainment numbers with the following taking part: Frank Marshall, James Kenney, Anthony Schwartz, Miss Mabel Boughner, Miss Elizabeth Bell, John Payne, Miss Sadie A. Sheehan, Miss Florence Hague, Alex Beaumier, the Dewire sisters, Miss Elinor Pitts, Miss Andreoli, Bob Crowley, Dan McCaffery, the O'Reilly family, featuring little Peggy O'Reilly, Lillian Evans, Billy Carr, Rene Connell and Frank McCartin. Miss Lillian Evans, who is this week singing at Keith's theatre, was especially well received in her solo. The accompanists of the evening were John P. Broderick, Thomas J. Dowd, Thomas H. Hannafin and Francis A. Clarke. Refreshments were served. The officers of the lodge supervised the affair and there was a large attendance of members.

Whatever You Do Don't Neglect Your Eyes, Says Says Dr. Lewis, Who

Tells How to Strengthen Eyesight 50% In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. He says neglect causes more eye troubles and poor sight than any other one thing. Many whose eyes were failing say they had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for 15 days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

NOTE: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them." The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen the eyesight 50 per cent. in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist, and if one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family. It is sold in Lowell and vicinity by all leading druggists.—Adv.

MUSICAL FETE BY THE LEND-A-HAND CLUB

The Lend-a-Hand club entertained large audences in the state armory in Westford street yesterday afternoon and evening with its musical fete, "The A.E.F.'s Dream of Home." The affair was presented for the benefit of the new maternity department of St. John's hospital.

The appropriate setting used at the ball of Battery B Monday evening formed the background of the fete and added much to its attractiveness. William Paul McCarthy was the capable director and accompanist, and the dance numbers by Miss Peggy O'Reilly, Miss Elinor Pitts, Miss Mary McCarthy and Miss Mary Regan were most commendable.

The singing, too, was excellent and the audience made manifest its appreciation of the various numbers from the opening medley till the finale.

Little Miss Kathrin O'Brien, the year-old reader, made a great hit, reading and dancing. She is an exceptionally clever child and she pleased immensely.

After the musical program general dancing was enjoyed. The committee in charge included Miss Margaret Courtney, Mrs. James Gookin, Mrs. William Dooley, Mrs. Rose Tague and others. The program in detail was as follows:

ART ASSOCIATION'S ANNUAL MEETING

The Lowell Art association now has 300 members, according to a report read by Miss Mary G. Stevens of the membership committee at the 15th annual meeting of the organization held in the Whistler house last night. The president, Joseph A. Nesmith, presided. It was voted to postpone the annual election of officers to May 17.

The secretary, Mrs. Mary E. Woods, gave a detailed report of the activities of the association during the year. She referred particularly to four exhibitions of paintings that have been held and to a display of the handicraft work of local colonies of "foreigners." She said that, in the near future, Sears Gallagher would give two talks for the association. One will deal with the speaker's own work, and the other, illustrated by pictures and vocal and instrumental music, will describe the beauties of Venice.

The report of Treasurer P. A. Chase showed that the organization has a small cash balance on hand and that $900 has been expended during the past year for repairing the roof of the Whistler house.

An experiment station is to be started by the federal government at Unalaklect, Alaska, for the scientific breeding of reindeer.

LIVED IN LOWELL SIXTY YEARS AND GLAD OF IT, SAYS PROMINENT MAN

Mr. F. A. Fuller of 234 Varnum Ave., Lowell, Mass., and a Prominent Citizen Indorses the Tonic CINOT for Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism

CINOT desires and is using as much as possible testimonials from old residents of Lowell who are well known so the people may investigate as to the truth of our statements. Mr. Fuller says:

"I have had rheumatism so badly that I had to walk with a cane and severe pains in the small of my back from kidney trouble.

"I felt as if I needed a regular tonic to build me up and tone up my entire system so I decided to try CINOT and am very glad I did as it has helped me wonderfully in every way and today through the use of this wonderful tonic I am very much better and feel it my duty to tell the public how much it has helped me."

We want people, young and old and in all walks of life to try this tonic this spring and we can assure you that you will be among the many boosters that this remedy has received.

BATTERY B'S BALL WAS BIG SUCCESS

Battery B's complimentary ball to its honorary members in the state armory in Westford street Monday evening was a thorough success in every respect and gave a large audience of Lowell people their first view of the reorganized outfit. Despite the inclement weather, the attendance was most gratifying and everybody present enjoyed the program greatly.

The large drill shed was never more prettily decorated than Monday evening. The drab, bare walls were concealed by unending folds of bunting of various colors which ran from the walls out onto the cross beams overhead. In the centre was the bandstand surrounded by white posts and down in the right hand corner of the drill shed was the orchestra. The band and orchestra alternated throughout the evening and in this way the tedious delays between dance numbers, which are often characteristic of other affairs of this kind, were eliminated.

A concert of band and orchestral numbers from 8 to 9 o'clock was the first feature of the evening's program and then Capt. W. C. MacBrayne marched the battery onto the floor, spick and span in natty olive drab.

Capt. MacBrayne spoke of the work of the battery, stating that outside of regular army outfits, it was the first unit to be federalized and formally accepted by the war department and that 30 per cent of its present membership was composed of veterans who had seen overseas service with Battery F of the 102d Field Artillery. He added that it was Lowell's first military unit formed since the world war and that its formation and success were due principally to the co-operation and efforts of its honorary members.

The battery was then presented to Mayor Perry D. Thompson, representing the city, by Col. Frank S. Perkins of Salem, representing the commander-in-chief of the Massachusetts forces. He commended the battery for its wonderful record and excellent appearance.

Mayor Thompson responded graciously and presented a guidon, by proxy, to the battery. Unfortunately, the guidon itself was not complete, but a beautiful silk flag was given instead. The ceremony ended with the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the band. Dancing then began and continued until after midnight.

Governor Channing Cox was unable to be present owing to the pressure of engagements. A large number of military officials together with members of the municipal council were in attendance.

DANCING PARTY

Seventy-five couples enjoyed a dancing party held last evening at St. Anne's parish house under the auspices of the young men of the parish. Marshall's orchestra furnished the dance music. The officers in charge of the affair were: General manager, Calvin Berger; assistant general manager, Arthur Burris; floor director, Harold White; assistant floor director, Fred Brautigan; chief aid, Arthur Brautigan.

ANNUAL REQUIEM MASS

Rev. James A. Supple, D.D., was the celebrant of the annual requiem mass for the deceased members of the Broadway Social and Athletic club in St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. A large number of members of the organization attended.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Y. M. C. A.

A year of progress and growth was indicated in the annual report of General Secretary Harold F. Howe made at the annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. last evening. The annual meeting followed the monthly meeting of the board of directors. The election of directors to serve for the ensuing year was postponed until a future meeting.

In his annual report, Secretary Howe mentions the fact that when he became secretary of the organization last spring, the secretarial staff was almost depleted and his first duty was to secure an adequate staff to carry on the association's work.

He reports an increase of 151 members during the year with an increased revenue from membership fees of $3000 over the preceding 12 months. This is due chiefly to an increase in the membership rates.

In the physical department there were 672 organized gym classes during the year with an attendance of 10,248 boys and 5880 men. In addition, 600 more men and boys have attended wrestling and boxing classes or have used the handball courts. Six hundred boys were taught to swim and 55,800 baths were taken by men and boys during the year.

There was reported similar progress in the social work of the association as well as in the religious, industrial and dormitory departments. The boys' department had an unusual development during the year and the bowling alleys under the direction of George Waterhouse produced additional revenue and gave hundreds of men and boys opportunity for recreation. The association restaurant also showed good results during the year.

The financial report shows a deficit of $2112.50 for the year.

The present staff consists at the present time in addition to the general secretary of the following members: N. R. Farnum, membership and social; F. B. Hopkins, dormitory; H. E. Hockman, industrial; T. R. Williams, boys' secretary; R. G. Trinker, building secretary for boys; F. W. Sawyer, physical director; Guy Harmon, assistant physical director.

LOOM WOVEN Lloyd Baby Carriages and Furniture

Lloyd Loom Woven Wickers Are First in Demand, In Every Way Better Than Those Made by Hand.

Here's the Very Carriage You Always Dreamed Of

Remember how you planned it—a low, roomy, comfortable carriage; smooth and gliding. O, yes! And smart and good-looking—graceful lines and the newest finish.

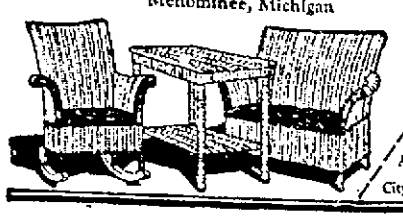

Well, here it is at last—the prettiest carriage in all the world for the prettiest baby. You'll be surprised, too, at the reasonable cost.

It was Marshall B. Lloyd who invented the method and loom which produce Baby Carriages and Wicker Furniture thirty times faster and finer than the old hand woven products. These inventions cut labor costs, enabling Mr. Lloyd to weave the finest wickers, use the best materials, employ the most skilled workmen, add the latest refinements and still sell his wicker products at remarkable prices. That's the power of invention.

SOUTH ENDS VICTORIOUS

Hank Garrity Stars in Defeat of Lawrence Knights of Columbus Team

Roland and Canney's South Ends opened their season auspiciously yesterday by taking two games from the Knights of Columbus of Lawrence, the first in the downriver city in the morning by a 6 to 0 score and the second on the South common here in the afternoon, 4 to 3.

The South End players showed remarkable form for so early in the season and gave every indication of putting up a strenuous fight in the Twilight league which is soon to open. In the morning game the Lowell outfit had Garrity on the mound and this youthful twirler who only a few years ago was raising ructions with grammar school batters held the Knights at a safe distance. Only in the fifth inning was he in any kind of a hole but he managed to extricate himself by striking out three men in succession. He had 12 strikeouts in the nine innings of play. Buckley and A. Jenkins were other stars. The winners scored five runs in the second inning and one in the fourth.

In the afternoon a fairly large crowd gathered on the South common to witness the second game despite the uninviting atmosphere. The Knights got a two-run lead but after the second inning the South Ends showed signs of life at the bat and began to even matters. Aided by errors on the part of the visitors, the locals obtained the lead and kept it until the end of play. The lineup:

South Ends: A. Jenkins, lf; Crowe, ss; Buckley, cf; Falls, rf; Condon, 2b; R. Jenkins, 1b; Brosnahan, 3b; Dillon, c; Harrington p.

K. of C.: Beirne, lf; Higgins, p; Delaney, cf; Smith, 1b; McParland, 3b; Ferrin, rf; Blackwell, 2b; Sullivan, c; Dean, ss.

GREATEST START IN HISTORY OF GAME

CINCINNATI, April 20.—President John A. Heydler of the National league here on his first "swing around the circle," said that the game had received the greatest start in its history and that it remained with the magnates and the players to finish it as well as it began.

He said the new rules announced by Commissioner Landis in regard to holdouts would go into effect next Saturday.

The league chief will accompany the Reds to Pittsburg tonight and will see the opening there tomorrow.

LOWELL HIGH DEFEATS TOWNSEND HIGH

In a cold, raw atmosphere that kept down the attendance and made ball playing more or less of a hardship, Lowell high school opened its season at Spalding park yesterday forenoon with a victory, defeating Townsend high, 10 to 0. While lively in spots, the game was a more or less listless affair and the one-sidedness of the score didn't help to enthuse the few faithful followers present.

Lowell outclassed the visitors in practically every department and once Coach Donahue saw that his charges had every earmark of superiority, he did not force them to their greatest exertions. McAdams pitched six innings for Lowell and displayed good form as far as could be judged from the poor showing made by Townsend. Ordway twirled during the last three innings and gave evidence of his good work in previous years.

Lowell high presented a lineup built around the nucleus of the 1920 squad. A number of newcomers had a chance to show their wares and in almost every instance gave spectators reason to believe that with the proper training they would round out into capable players.

Lowell high got ten hits and her opponents only two, a fair indication of the comparative strength of the two outfits. In the first four innings the locals piled up nine runs and thereafter took it easy. The score:

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZED FOR SEASON

The City Baseball league, composed of six teams, has been organized for the season of 1921. All players in the league are under 19 years of age. A list of officers has been elected and rules governing the league and a schedule adopted.

The president shall call meetings of the league whenever he deems it necessary. All arguments must be referred to the president first. If the president is unable to settle a dispute or protest it shall be referred to William H. Sullivan of The Sun. Mr. Sullivan's decisions shall be final.

The secretary shall keep a record of all games played, and also have published in a local paper once a week the standing of the clubs.

The treasurer shall handle all money received by the league.

All protests or arguments must be reported within four hours after game has been played.

Teams failing to arrive on the appointed grounds by 3 o'clock p. m. shall be considered to have forfeited games in which they were to participate by a score of 9 to 0, unless opposing teams have previously agreed otherwise.

All games must be played on the double umpire plan.

Opposing captains must submit to each other the batting orders of their respective teams before the beginning of each game.

Each club may have not more than 13 playing members.

There must be no players in the league over 19 years of age.

Any club having good reason for postponing a game may do so by making the necessary arrangements with the opposing manager.

In case of bad weather, the clubs shall arrange among themselves dates on which the postponed games shall be played. All games must be played by Sept. 10.

Each club of the league must pay $10 as an initiation fee. All initiation fees must be paid by May 21.

Each club shall pay 50 cents a week toward the league.

Any club leaving the league forfeits all money they have contributed to it.

All money received by the league shall be used for prizes for the first three teams.

The official ball of the league shall be the Harwood National league ball.

The schedule for the season follows:

April 23—Cardinals vs St. Columbas, Unities vs Sharfs Nobles, Oakleaves vs Celtics.

30—St. Columbas vs Unities, Sharfs Nobles vs Oakleaves, Celtics vs Cardinals.

PAULETTE CANNED BY SEMI-PROS

MASSILLON, O., April 20.—Gene Paulette, former first baseman of the Philadelphia National League club, who was placed on the ineligible list of organized baseball by Commissioner Landis several weeks ago, has been released by a semi-professional team here.

Paulette's release, it is said, followed protests from semi-professional clubs throughout the country against his playing here so long as Judge Landis' decision is in force.

HEAD OF U. S. POLO TEAM SAILS

NEW YORK, April 20.—Devereux Milburn, captain of the American polo team which will attempt to regain the international trophy from Great Britain this summer, was a passenger on the steamship Olympic, sailing today for England.

SEMI-FINALS IN TENNIS TOURNEY

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 20.—The semi-finals of the first annual open tennis tournament were on the program today at the White Sulphur Springs club. Ichiya Kumagae, the north and south champion, was pitted against H. W. Throckmorton, New York, while Howard Voshell of New York opposed C. A. Major, New York.

The Japanese champion was favored to win in his match with the easterner. Those who followed Kumagae's play yesterday, with S. G. Mortimer of Tuxedo declared that he played better tennis than in the games last week when he won the north and south title at Pinehurst. The Tuxedo player was at his best, but Kumagae played a machine-like game and came out on top.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE OPENS

NEW YORK, April 20.—The new International Baseball league season opens today. Newark, N. J., which dropped from the league in 1919, has returned, replacing the Akron, Ohio, club. The league schedule calls for 168 games.

Today's games: Buffalo at Jersey City; Syracuse at Newark; Rochester at Reading; Toronto at Baltimore.

TIGERS SIGN COLLEGE STAR

BERKELEY, Cal., April 20.—Leslie Myers, captain of the University of California baseball team, has been signed by the Detroit club for next season, he announced today. He plays centre field.

Daylight saving in England effected an economy of $2,500,000 last year in coal consumption.

Until six years ago, head hunting flourished among the natives of New Guinea.

OH, LOOK, HERE'S SURF RIDING DOG

Spike lays claim to being the only surf riding dog in the world. Miss Bernice Sibeck, who has taken him for his daily ride, is shown riding the waves with Spike at Ocean Park, Cal. So accustomed to this sport is Spike that he sits with blase indifference in spite of the fact that surf riding is declared to be a real thriller. Miss Sibeck, incidentally, is wearing the new "Hawaiian" bathing suit, quite popular at California beaches this season.

GAELIC ATHLETIC MEET

Lowell Association Wins at Football and Loses in Hurling Contest

The Lowell Gaelic Athletic association won and lost yesterday afternoon at Spalding park before a crowd which braved some rather windy blasts in order to witness the contests. The Tipperary Football club went down in defeat before the onslaught of the local aggregation, which triumphed by a narrow margin over their Boston opponents. The final tally was 11-10, with the Lowell team on the long end of the score. The Clare Hurling club, also a Boston organization, had a walkaway in the first contest, winning 17-8. St. Enda's hurlers represented Lowell in the game. The first tally was registered by the visitors, who followed it with a couple more for good measure. It was give and take at times, especially in the second period of the contest, when St. Enda's showed some snappy work. The local team, however, was not able to overcome the lead of their opponents, and their hard earned goals and points were in vain. Five goals and two points were bagged by the Bostonians, whereas the St. Endattes were forced to content themselves with two goals, although they gained an equal number of points with their opponents. It must be mentioned that the club representing this city is a comparatively new body, and that the teams which carry its colors have been practicing as a team only a very brief space of time. Under the circumstances, therefore, there was no discredit attached to the hurling setback, while the victory achieved in the football contest reflected the greatest credit upon the local players. The Clare hurlers of Boston, winners in yesterday's hurling match, possess the following personnel:

Michael Ensko, captain; T. Cahill, vice captain; J. J. Concannon, T. Gallagher, Martin Cline, John McNamara, David Hayes, John Connole, M. Slack, T. McCormack, T. Giggins, E. Carmody, Martin Howard and Flynn.

The lineup of St. Enda's follows: J. Mealey, captain; Patrick Barrett, vice captain; T. Masterson, T. Reardon, M. Fahey, T. Mesnall, T. Carney, J. Casey, T. Cologan, T. Neylan, T. Harrington, J. Leary, P. Forde, Spellacy.

The hurling match opened the program of the afternoon. It was growing cold and chilly by the time that the football men trotted out on the field. Nevertheless, there was a large body of supporters at the side lines and in the grandstand, to the very finish of the contest, which did not come until nearly 5 o'clock. St. Enda's football team and the Tipperary club of Boston were the opponents which faced each other for the Gaelic football match. The first period was closely contested. Time and again the ball was brought down the field by both teams, only to be blocked by clever interference at the goal post. Both aggregations were on their toes, and some brilliant team work was uncovered. At the final toot of the whistle, ending the first half of the game, the visitors had the lead, although the play of the local men had been displaying increased traces of aggressiveness and punch as the game progressed. In the second session St. Enda's made a determined struggle for the laurels. They were after the ball every moment, and finally succeeded in breaking down the lead of the Bostonians, and establishing one of their own. When the final whistle blew the St. Enda's had registered three goals and two points, while with the same number of goals, the Tipperary men were one point in the rear. This conferred the victory on the Lowell outfit. The roster of players for both organizations was as follows:

For St. Enda's—Patrick White, captain; Michael Quinn, vice captain; John Cunningham, Henry Cunningham, Edward Cunningham, Jack Martin, Philip Shannon, George Conboy, Thomas Sheffield, Andrew Connors, James Mahoney, Martin O'Connor and Daniel Clancy.

Tipperary—James Dunne, Martin Clune, Culnane, Bray, Kennole, Connors, Maloney, Haskett, Horgan, Ensko, Flaherty, Gordan and Haslett.

BELLEVUES WON AT LEOMINSTER

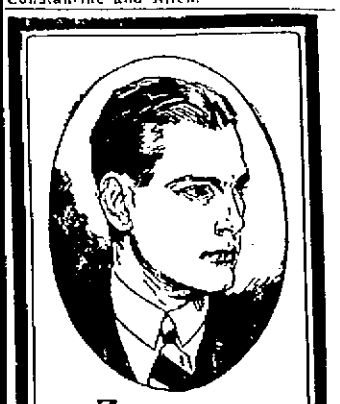

The Highland Daylight Bellevues opened the 1921 season by defeating the strong Leominster team in Leominster yesterday afternoon by the score of 15 to 12. The local team scored 14 runs in the first four innings of play and then satisfied with their early lead let up in the last few frames and this resulted in Leominster piling up a total of 12.

Purtell and Gallagher featured in the field and the batting of Lyons and Bridgeford was responsible for most of the Bellevues' tallies. The game was attended by a crowd of over 1000.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	—	R.	H.	E.
Bellevues	3	6	2	3	0	0	0	0	1	—	15	22	3
Leominst'r	2	1	0	3	0	0	2	0	4	—	12	14	12

Weekly Three Picked Strings—Lutender 416.

Daily Three-String Totol—Monday, Lutender-Devlin 354.

Tuesday, Perrin 383.

BIG CROWD AT GRAMMAR SCHOOL MEET

Fully 2000 men, women and children witnessed the grammar school athletic meet, which was held on the South common oval yesterday forenoon and all showed a great interest in the various events that were carried out. The affair was held under the personal direction of Major Walter R. Jeyes, physical instructor for the grammar schools of the city, who was highly complimented for the successful manner in which every item of the long and varied program was carried out. There was one accident during the meet, when Regan of the Moody school while participating in the running high jump in Class A made a hard landing and fractured his collarbone. He was given first aid by Dr. Slaughter and Miss Dwyer, a trained nurse, who remained on the common throughout the meet. The little fellow was later sent to his home.

The meet opened at 9 o'clock as announced and from that time until after 1 o'clock the boys and officials were kept very busy. The boys of the Charles W. Morey school, however, proved to be the strongest in athletics and they won the honors of the day with a score of 69 points to their credit, the second on the list being the team of the Washington school with a score of 28. The scores of the other teams were as follows: Lincoln, 6; Greenhalge, 5; Moody, 3; Greek, 3; Edson, 3; Varnum, 2, and Colburn, 1.

The events and the results were as follows:

100-yard dash, Class A—Won by Whitworth, Washington school; second, Hedlund, Morey school; third, Carpenter, Varnum school. Time 11 4-5 seconds.

100-yard dash, Class B—Won by Simoneau, Lincoln school; second, Ducharme, Greenhalge school; third, August, Colburn school. Time 12 1-5 seconds.

Shotput—Won by Whitworth, Washington school; second, David, Morey school; third, Mertrud, Lincoln school. Distance 28 feet 6 inches.

220-yard dash, Class A—Won by Hedlund, Morey school; second, Brigham, Morey school; third, Joyal, Greenhalge school. Time 26 seconds.

220-yard dash, Class B—Won by Sandler, Washington school; second, Latham, Morey school; third, Murphy, Moody school. Time 28 seconds.

Running broad jump, Class A—Won by Whitworth, Washington school; second, David, Morey school; third, Choquette, Greenhalge school. Distance 16 feet 7 inches.

Running broad jump, Class B—Won by Zoll, Morey school; second, Fiplais, Greek school; third, Latham, Morey school. Distance 13 feet 2½ inches.

Half-mile run—Won by Whitworth, Washington school; second, Hickey, Edson school; third, Allen, Varnum school. Time 2 minutes 31 3-5 seconds.

1200-yard relay—Won by Morey school. Time 3 minutes 43 seconds.

Running high jump, Class A—Won by Littlefield, Morey school; second, Whitworth, Washington school; third, Regan, Moody school. Height 4 feet 10 inches.

Running high jump, Class B—Won by Bagshaw, Morey school; second, Price, Moody school; third, Zoll, Reynolds and Butler, Morey school. Height 4 feet 6 inches.

Pole vault, Class A—Won by David and Forrest, Morey school; third, Hedlund, Morey school. Height 7 feet 2 inches.

Pole vault, Class B—Won by Bagshaw, Morey school; second, Hannigan, Morey school; third, Butler and Reynolds, Morey school. Height 7 feet 8 inches.

The officials of the meet were as follows: Major Walter R. Jeyes, referee; Alfred Armstrong, starter; Thos R. Williams, clerk of course; Earl F. Leadbetter, assistant clerk of course; D. F. Brennan, Michael Rynne, F. L. MacLean, D. W. MacLean, judges; Leon C. Wells, Eric Barker, timers, and Paul W. McGregor, announcer.

TWOHEY'S PETS WIN

Twohey's Pets evened the score with Sharf's quintet in their second meeting on the Merrimack alleys on Monday night. The first game resulted in a victory for the Sharf's, and they entered the second battle confident of making it two in a row. But the "mighty" Kelly, who was regarded as a sure thing 300 man, emulated his famous namesake of baseball fame, but instead of "striking out," he struck the subway so frequently that his total for the three strings was but 204. The Sharf's team distributed the "razzberries" last week, but on Monday night they were made the recipients of the favorite fruit. The third and final game will be rolled next week and both sides are out to win at any cost. The scores of Monday night's game follow: Twohey's Pets—Corcoran 293, Rogers 247, O'Connor 251, Floof 254, Fitzgerald 255. Sharf's Pets Kelly 204, Lannan 232, Leary 259, Barrett 245, Cullen 295.

ZUNA WINS MARATHON

Former Doughboy Breaks Record in Finishing First in 25 Mile Race

BOSTON, April 20.—The American Marathon road race, with the country's leading long distance runners contesting, was won yesterday in new record time by Frank Zuna of Newark, N. J., a former doughboy who hiked with a smile. In the van almost from the start, Zuna speeded up his stride in the last few miles, pulled away from Charles Mellor of Chicago who had been his running mate much of the distance, and finished the 25-mile run in 2 hours, 18 minutes, 57 3-5 seconds. This record of his was more than two minutes faster than that of Michael J. Ryan of New York whose victory in 2 hours, 21 minutes, 18 1-5 seconds in 1912 was the best previous time for the event.

Mellor finished second, a third runner, 3 minutes, 14 2-5 seconds behind the winner, and in third place was Peter Trivoulidas of New York, winner last year.

Former winners ranked high again, as Carl W. A. Linder of Boston, victor in 1919, was fourth and Edouard Fabre of Montreal, winner six years ago, was sixth. William J. Kennedy of New York, the bricklayer who plodded home first in 1917, finished 14th yesterday.

A new comer in Marathon competitions, A. R. Michelson of Stamford, Conn., was well up all the way and finished fifth. Three New York runners, Villar Kyronen, Otto J. Laakso, and John Goff, were seventh, eighth and ninth, and another former doughboy, Robert E. Conboy of Buffalo, his face still marked by wounds received in battle, was tenth.

Zuna, who carried the colors of the Paulist A. C., of New York, ran his own race to win. Drawing on the experience gained in his hiking overseas, where he fought with the 27th division while action was on, and raced to victory in the Dijon Marathon of 15 miles and the American Expeditionary Force cross country championship of six miles at Paris in the post-armistice sports, he plotted his strategy in advance and plodded away in fulfillment of it to success. He accepted the pacemaking of Schou Christensen of Chicago for a time, allowed Mellor to lead slightly for a mile or two and to break the wind for him while they crossed the hills into Newton, then brushed by him with a friendly smile, went to the front and was never headed.

The victor is 26 years of age, a big man of 190 pounds, of which he lost four pounds in the hike yesterday. He was the freshest of the field in appearance at the finish.

The summary:

1—Frank Zuna, Newark, N. J., time 2.18.57 3-5 (new record.)
2—Charles Mellor, Chicago, 2.22.12.
3—Peter Trivoulidas, New York, time 2.27.41.
4—Carl W. A. Linder, Boston, 2.28.02.
5—A. R. Michelson, Stamford, Conn., 2.30.35.
6—Edouard Febre, Montreal, 2.31.31.
7—Villar Kyronen, New York, 2.32.30.

LITTLE VISITS WITH FEATHERED FRIENDS

The bluebird, emblem of happiness, is the second most longed-for bird of our spring. It is a red-letter day when we first hear his voice on the crisp air when nature is awakening. He symbolizes so much to us—the first spring days and the gladness of the summer months. Then when November takes this bit of charming color to the southland, we know for certain that we are on the verge of the long winter.

The bluebird is friendly and would like to nest close to us, but we have some very undesirable neighbors that he cannot tolerate. I refer to the English sparrow. The bluebird dislikes and even fears these noisy, disagreeable immigrants, and for this reason we seldom have them about our doors.

I had an interesting family of bluebirds one spring, however, that were reared in a tin can nailed to the grape arbor. The birds were not at all afraid of me, and would fly about my head while I worked in the yard. The youngsters grew nicely, and because of a collie dog trained to discourage the invasion of cats, so called "good" cats or otherwise, they got away from the nest safely. For some days while they were learning the use of their wings, they sat about the arbor or flew around it as unafraid as their parents.

Bluebirds in one arbor, two boxes of wrens in another, redbirds across the fence robins in a near tree, orioles in the elms and rose-breasted grosbeaks in an apple tree were some of my bird friends of that year.

Severe winters sometimes kill off the bluebirds badly, and this accounts for their scarcity at times. But after a while their numbers increase and old orchards, their specially favored habitat, are again alive with them, for they like old knot-holes for their nests.

HOW TO GET CARP, CATS, SUCKERS AND EELS

BY MORRIS ACKERMAN
(America's Foremost Angler)

Bass and trout are not available to every fisherman in the land. But nearly all can reach carp, catfish, suckers and eels.

While not considered "game" some of them are tough customers.

The carp is scoffed at, yet it is not the easiest fish to catch on hook and line by any means. A five-pound carp will give you quite a tussle.

The best bait I know of is the half-cooked dough pill. This is made of ordinary bread dough worked up with cotton, put in the oven and partly baked.

The principal part of the tackle is a strong line and not too large a hook.

The carp has a small mouth. The clever angler "baits up" the place where he is going to fish. This can be done by throwing most any kind of "leavings" from the table into the water some hours ahead of your fishing expedition.

The catfish isn't much to look at. Yet the people that relish its flesh don't mind looks. Catfish play along the bottom of quiet waters and while not averse to anything edible they want it with the least exertion.

Common Sucker

When other fish are resting up and looking for cool weather, the catfish is enjoying itself most, in the warm water.

In early spring, the sucker family goes up stream with swollen waters.

Common Eel

They snoop along the bottom, in the eddies and quiet places, looking for suitable spawning grounds.

A plentiful gob of juicy angleworms on a small snelled hook is of most interest to them.

You hear much about the "fighting bass" and "gamey trout." Speaking of fight, did you ever hook a two-pound eel? In the day time they burrow down in the oozy mud or hide under rocks.

At night is when you get them and, like a catfish, anything that looks like eats to an eel is as good as gone. Fish on the bottom in deep water with a flock of worms for best results.

GASSAWAY MILES—MOTORIST — BY STANLEY

authoritative source and corroborated by all local coal dealers. It is based upon the amount of anthracite shipments during March, 1921, which compares very unfavorably with the shipments of the corresponding month one year ago.

"With the single exception of March, 1919, when the temporary slump which followed the armistice was on, and when there were heavy stocks of coal resulting from an unusually mild winter, last month showed the lowest output of any March since 1915," continues the statement in warning the Lowell community of the shortage.

Those who are thoroughly acquainted with the distribution of coal declare that the decrease in production during the past month is due to decreased buying by householders which has led to curtailment of production at some mines and complete cessation of work at others.

"While March is always the end of the coal year," said one prominent local dealer, "a good part of its production is never applied to current consumption, but must go over into April, that is, it is sold to domestic consumers by the retail dealers in April for use in the following autumn and winter. Any serious decline in March production therefore means a corresponding proportion of tonnage which will not be available for next winter."

There is no coal shortage now, according to local dealers and there will not be if the consumers guard against it now. The general situation on coal shortage as sensed by local dealers is that mines cannot work indefinitely without orders, and store the coal for future shipment.

Anthracite figures for March in recent years, eliminating 1913, were:

1916—6,127,351 tons.
1917—6,939,075 tons.
1918—7,276,777 tons.
1919—eliminated.
1920—6,077,821 tons.
1921—5,737,771 tons.

The decrease of more than 340,000 tons, as compared with March of last year, and of almost 390,000 tons, as compared with March of 1916, the last pre-war year, reflects decreased turnover.

SAVED HER SON'S LIFE

Woman Who Rescued Boy From Well Five Days Ago Gives Birth to Daughter

MT. VERNON, N. Y., April 20.—A daughter was born last night at White Plains to Mrs. Norman Girling, who only five days ago heroically rescued her 14-months-old son, Norman Francis, Jr., from drowning in a 40-foot well near her home.

Mrs. Girling probably will be presented with a Carnegie medal for her bravery. Despite her condition at the time, she climbed down the slimy stones of the interior of the well and seized her boy just in time to prevent him from drowning.

Mrs. Girling and the newly born baby are reported to be doing well. Although Norman caught a cold from his immersion in the well, he was reported to be all right yesterday.

11 COMMUNISTS JAILED

Convicted of Attempt to Blow Up Monument in the Koenigsplatz

BERLIN, April 20.—Eleven communists, convicted of attempting to blow up the Victory monument in the Koenigsplatz, were sentenced today to long terms of imprisonment. The evidence implicated Max Hoelz, one of the leaders of the communist uprising in Middle Germany, who now is locked up in the Moabit jail in this city. The attempt to blow up the monument was frustrated by the police, who discovered a box containing four pounds of dynamite and other explosives some distance up the monument and tore away a lighted fuse leading to the box.

Herr Talheimer, editor of the Rote Fahne (red flag), the organ of the communists, has been arrested.

REVERE AND DAWES RIDE TO LEXINGTON

BOSTON, April 20—Splashed with mud from hat to spur, riding again to Lexington, "Paul Revere" and "William Dawes" revived in Middlesex county yesterday memories of the events that preceded the 'shot that was heard around the world" 146 years ago. The rides of these latter day couriers was one of the picturesque features of Patriots Day.

The horsemen departed from Boston sped by the cheers of thousands. They slackened pace only at points where history said Revere and his fellow-rider Dawes had halted to give the alarm that the British troops were on the march.

"Paul Revere" vaulted into the saddle in front of the Old North church here and galloped northwest to his objective. "William Dawes," the memory of whose equally important ride remained in obscurity until a few years ago, followed a southwesterly route.

Wherever the two drew rein celebrations had been arranged and a military escort provided. On the green at Lexington, where sturdy minutemen gathered in the early hours of April, 1775, the celebration had its climax.

POSTAL EMPLOYES WILL CARRY FIREARMS

Postmaster John F. Meehan has received an order from Hubert Work, the first assistant postmaster general, directing him to provide with firearms those employes of the local postoffice who customarily handle large sums of money or valuable packages. Such employes as chauffeurs and mail messengers are specifically mentioned. The many robberies attempted in various parts of the country are given as the reason for the new order. There have been no holdups of postal employes in Lowell but it has been deemed advisable to prepare for any emergency which may arise.

TWILIGHT BASEBALL LEAGUE

A team representing the Broadway Social & Athletic club will play in the Twilight baseball league this season, it was decided at a meeting of the league Monday evening. The entrance of the Broadway team was made possible by the withdrawal of the Wanderers. The Twilight league as now composed includes the C.M.A.C., the Highland Daylights, South Ends, Centralvilles, Gillespies and Broadways.

GARY ATTACKED BY GOMPERS

TORONTO, April 20.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, bitterly attacked Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, for his attitude toward union labor in an address before the Empire club here yesterday.

"The offices of the American Federation of Labor are in Washington," he said. "I challenge Judge Gary for the selection of a committee, half to be appointed by him and half by myself, to make an investigation of both the United States Steel corporation and the federation."

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 20.—Oils reasserted their recent leadership at the irregular opening of today's stock market, favorite issues soon advancing from large fractions to almost two points. Pullman, which was especially heavy last week, in connection with unfavorable dividend rumors, rose 1¾ points. Utah Copper, Famous Players, Corn Products and several rails were among the firm shares. Manhattan Elevated fell 6 points in connection with reports that its 7 per cent. guarantee may be cancelled in the prospective reorganization of the local traction lines.

Regardless of more reactionary movements elsewhere, oils, including a number of the low-priced speculative issues, continued to strengthen. Pressure against rails, equipments, sugars and tobaccos was resumed. Canadian Pacific fell 1 point to a new low for the current movement. Norfolk & Western, New York Airbrake and American Car lost 1 to 2 points. Crucible Steel, Atlantic Gulf, American Sugar and International Paper also registered similar declines. Columbia Graphophone preferred at a gain of 3¾ points was the only conspicuously strong specialty. Call money opened at 6½ per cent and exchange rates on London and continental Europe were firm to strong.

Selling of Mexican Petroleum which reacted about 2½ points from its top price of the morning, gave the market a general setback at mid-day, although call money rates were easier. Aside from a few specialties, the list, including rails and steels, was inclined to sag.

Steels hardened on moderate supporting orders later, but fell back again with other industrials when specialties and local tractions recorded additional losses. The closing was irregular.

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS — BY ALLMAN

CALLS FOR RECOGNITION OF IRELAND BY U. S.

CHICAGO, April 20.—The 5000 delegates to the convention for recognition of the Irish Republic adopted last night amidst fiery appeals resolutions in support of Erin's fight for independence.

Chief among these was one calling upon President Harding to acknowledge the sovereignty of Ireland. This read:

"It is hereby resolved, that the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, composed of more than 500,000 members, who are represented in this first National convention in the city of Chicago by duly accredited delegates, present here in person, or by proxy, that the Irish Republic is, and of right ought to be, a free sovereign nation; that it is entitled to recognition by the president of the United States as a sovereign state, and said association respectfully urges the president to confer upon such nation, and the government there, of the recognition of the United States of America, in accordance with the practice and forms heretofore established by the government of the United States, in granting recognition to other states, peoples, governments and nations.

"And the president is also hereby respectfully urged to notify the president of the Irish Republic to appoint duly accredited commissioners or ambassadors to negotiate with the president of the United States such treaty or treaties as may be now in existence between the government of the United States and the government of the most favored nations."

Another resolution, obviously directed as a blow to English trade, urged the association's members to buy only American made goods.

Asylum in America for Donal O'Callaghan, stowaway Lord Mayor of Cork, who has been ordered by the state department to leave the country within 60 days, and the organization's sympathy for India's revolutionary forces were the subjects of other resolutions.

SAYS GREAT BRITAIN LIKE U. S. IN 1861

LONDON, April 20—(By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister Lloyd George defends the government's policy in Ireland and cites the American Civil war as providing an exact parallel for the situation involving the fundamental issue of union or secession in his reply yesterday to the recent memorial sent him by nine Anglican bishops and the heads of the principal non-conformist churches in Great Britain.

In this memorial the signers endorsed the protest of the archbishop of Canterbury in the house of lords against reprisals in Ireland, and pleaded for a truce. Among other things, the memorial declared that the government's policy in Ireland exposed Great Britain to "misunderstanding and hostile criticism, even of the friendliest of the world's nations."

The principle of the electric motor was discovered in 1824 by Peter Barlow, an Englishman.

Millard Fillmore was the only president who made no inaugural address.

Welfare Department for Postoffices

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Definite steps toward formation of a welfare department in the postoffice establishment will be taken by Postmaster General Hays tomorrow at a conference here with the presidents and secretaries of the various postal employes' unions. The purpose of the meeting will be to draw out views of the employes as to means for development of the new department along the "humanizing" lines Mr. Hays has outlined. Representatives of several big commercial enterprises that have welfare departments will attend to advise from their experience.

HONEST BUSINESS MAN PRIZED ABOVE GOLD

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 20.—An honest business man who will keep his word in a trade is prized above fine gold in Turkey, for there is hardly a law now functioning in this distracted country. A man who breaks his word in business is never let into the inner circle of big traders for honesty is today at higher rating here than ever before.

One may steal or kill with a large limit of impunity. Some months since in Batum, an Englishman was put upon and in self-defence killed a man. Frightened as to consequences, he began collecting evidence to show he had acted in self-defence. After he had collected his evidence, he found no one was interested in the case and also there was no one to whom he could submit it.

Constantinople is an importing and exporting center, the logical clearing house for the Levant, with much merchandise in transit or in bond. Americans have traded here in unprecedented numbers since the armistice, and some of them have lost money. Naturally they blame the local agents, the city, the conditions. According to Julian Gillespie, the United States commercial attache, there is often a good deal to be said on both sides.

Recently the correspondent met an American arriving here. "I'm going to stay a few days to make some local firms pay for goods," said the American. "So far our local agent hasn't succeeded."

"This is evidently your first time here; you'd better make that few days a few weeks," advised the correspondent.

The American so far has spent two months, and he is still wrestling with conditions, one of which is that his local agent insists on opening his mail and private telegrams, and calling it a "mistake."

It is generally stated that American exporters must begin at the bottom and secure laws at home which will give consignees more protection. Boxes and pieces should be properly marked, and cases filled. Ship carriers should be made to stow goods properly, so that a given lot is discharged at the port of destination as a lot, not as a series of separate packages. Also, bills of lading should be properly forwarded so the consignee will know when his goods will arrive.

It has happened at this port that a ship with several lots of goods has discharged the lots in small parts in various lighters, and also without notification to the consignee, so the latter has lost heavily in time damage, theft and storage charges. Also, cases often arrive empty or partially filled, or with goods not up to sample.

Too often the American exporter has treated that market as a dumping ground and sent goods of the quality and nature used by Cook on his voyage of discovery through the Pacific.

These things being true, given conditions often bordering on Bedlam, the American is advised to be wary and remember the common saying of the Levant that "It takes three Jews to outwit an Armenian, and three Armenians to outwit a Greek."

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Senators and representatives from 11 far western states perfected an organization today with a view to finding a common ground upon which they can work to solve the question of Japanese immigration.

BOSTON, April 20.—The proposal to bring Charles Ponzi, now a federal prisoner, before the state courts for trial on charges of larceny growing out of the collapse of his quick-rich scheme, was considered today by Judge Fessenden of the superior court.

AUBURN, Me., April 20.—The bodies of Robert Aube, 13, and Philip Beaulieu, nine years old, who, with Romeo Deschenes, 13, were swept in a boat over the dam above the Barker mill on the Little Androscoggin river yesterday afternoon, were found this morning by men assisting the Auburn police in dragging the river with grappling hooks.

WESTERLY, R. I., April 20—Charles Bailey, who last November was found guilty of manslaughter for the shooting of his brother, Edgar, was sentenced today to state prison for 12 years.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Charged with having 93 bottles of liquor in violation of the Volstead act, Oliver Morosco, theatrical producer, today was held in $1000 bail for trial in federal court in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, April 20—Five hundred cases of whiskey, concealed in a freight car from Canada, supposed to be loaded with potatoes, were seized here today by federal prohibition agents in a freight yard.

CHICAGO, April 20.—Presentation of masses of statistics dealing with the cost of living and with wages paid in other industries, was continued by the railroads today in the railroad labor board hearing on the request of nearly 100 roads that wages of unskilled labor be reduced.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Recommendations of the state department for rigid restriction of immigration, particularly as applying to what were described as undesirable classes from the Balkan cities, Armenia, Russia and Georgia, were before the house today on opening debate on the immigration bill.

BOSTON, April 20.—Officials of the Boston postal district have received from the government arsenal 500 revolvers, 20,000 rounds of ammunition, and a number of sawed-off shotguns for use in guarding the mails against attacks by robbers.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. William Hale Dwyer of Haverhill and Miss Hazel Sullivan of this city took place April 16 at St. Peter's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Linnehan. The bride wore gold baronet satin trimmed with blue, with hat to match and carried white sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Helen V. Pollard, who wore blue baronet satin trimmed with green and wore a hat to match and carried pink sweet peas. The best man was Mr. William J. Barrows of Haverhill. At the close of the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Sullivan, 45 Wamesit street. After an extended wedding trip the couple will make their home at 21 Davenport terrace.

DANGEROUS COLLISION

Three Machines in Mixup in Tewksbury—Woman Injured—Man Arrested

The case of John D. Stuart of Hemingway street, Boston, was continued to May 4 in the police court today. Stuart was charged with driving an automobile so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public in consequence of a triple auto collision at Tewksbury in which three occupants of the defendant's car were hurled from the tonneau. Mrs. Christina Walker of Newburg street, Boston, one of those riding with the defendant, was taken to the Tewksbury state infirmary and treated for painful but not severe lacerations. The others were not seriously injured. Stuart, it is said by witnesses, was on his homeward way towards Boston, after having visited Lakeview. Between 6 and 6.30 yesterday, it is stated while seeking to pass another car headed in the same direction, he struck a Lowell-bound machine driven by a Miss Maloney and also occupied by her mother, both residents of Summer street, this city. The force of the blow is said to have sent the car spinning so that it was struck amidships by the machine which had been passed a moment previously. The impact of this second blow sent it forward again, and finally it turned over, while Mr. and Mrs. Walker, together with their daughter, were thrown into the road. Mrs. Walker was the only member of the trio who required medical attention. It is stated that the two machines concerned in the crash were not badly damaged. Stuart was taken into custody by Officer Arthur A. Kelley of the Tewksbury force.

WALL STREET BOMB SUSPECT HELD

SCRANTON, Pa., April 20.—The man arrested here yesterday on suspicion of complicity in the Wall street explosion last September had been under surveillance several weeks, it was learned today. Police still kept his identity secret and refused to give any further information about him.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Two members of the police bomb squad were ordered today to Scranton, Pa., to question the Wall street bomb plot suspect, arrested there yesterday by federal agents. The man's Bertillon measurements and photographs have been sent here for identification.

CARPENTERS RETURN AT 90 CENTS AN HOUR

WOBURN, April 20.—Carpenters in this city, Winchester, Stoneham, Reading, Wakefield, Melrose, Lexington and Wilmington who have been on strike for two months, will return to work tomorrow under a wage of 90 cents an hour awarded by an arbitration committee which reported today. The agreement will be effective until March 1, 1922.

The controversy was submitted to arbitration at the suggestion of Mayor Bernard J. Golden. The men, numbering about 500, had asked for $1 an hour while the builders offered 90 cents under an agreement which would have expired at the end of the year.

SHOT GUNS FOR POSTOFFICE CLERKS

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Sawed-off shot guns with which American troops beat back German trench raiders in France, and which brought a protest from Berlin, are to be turned against postal robbers in this country.

Announcement was made yesterday at the postoffice department that a number of these guns as well as 45-calibre revolvers, also used overseas, had been obtained from the war department and shipped to all postoffices handling valuable mail. Employes of the offices will be armed with the weapons.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN RIVER

NEW YORK, April 20.—The body of a woman found Monday in the East river, off Astoria, was identified yesterday as that of Mrs. Jessie Hardy Stubbs MacKaye, suffragist and writer, who disappeared while with her husband in the Grand Central station after threatening suicide.

The body had been in the water only about two hours, it was said at the morgue.

Mrs. MacKaye, president of the Milwaukee Women's Peace society and legislative chairman of the Women's Peace society of this city, was suffering from a nervous breakdown, her husband said.

TO INVESTIGATE RAILROAD SITUATION

WASHINGTON, April 20—A general investigation of the railroad situation was ordered yesterday by the senate. A resolution offered by Chairman Cummins of the Interstate Commerce committee was adopted without debate or revision.

Senator Cummins plans to begin the inquiry about May 1 with railroad executives as the first witnesses. His committee is authorized by the resolution to investigate railroad maintenance costs, efficiency of operation, reduction of traffic and the best way to effect reduction of freight and passenger rates.

AT MILL CLUBROOMS

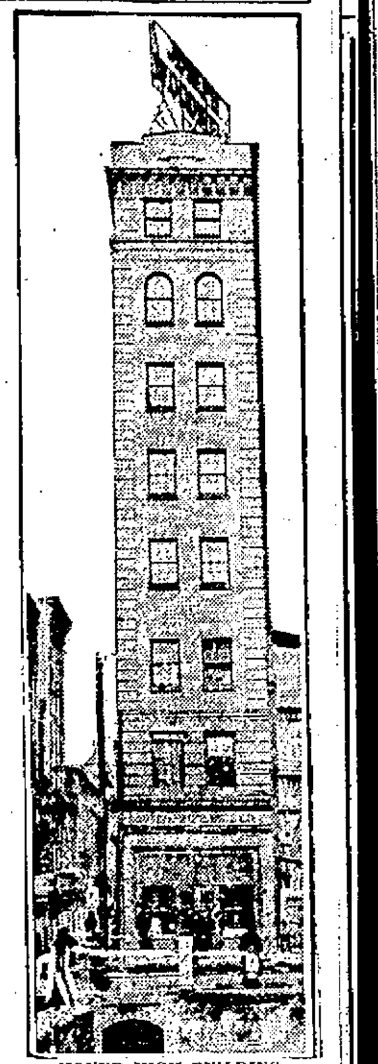

There was a large attendance at the social conducted Monday night at the Massachusetts mills clubrooms by the B. W. T. and B. Q. D., and all enjoyed the evening immensely. The entertainment numbers were given by the Shawmut association, those taking part being Charles Kilbride, F. Jelly, G. Lynch and J. O'Brien. Other numbers were given by W. McGrail, James Walker, Miss Mary Powell, Mrs. Ellen Smith, Thomas Grourke, Norah Curley, Agnes Plunkett, Gertrude Leggatt, L. Booth, W. Worsnip. Those in charge of the affair were Mrs. Ganley, Mrs. Reardon, Misses Bowen, Farley, Neal, Shields, Adams, Bowen, Smith, Gallagher and Ellis. Thomas Grourke had charge of the entertainment.

PRIVATE SCHOOL PHYSICIAN

HELD OPEN HOUSE

The Mechanic Phalanx held open house yesterday at its camp in Tyngsboro on the banks of the Merrimack with a large attendance of members and a few invited friends. Dinner and a program of sports were features of the occasion.

MOVED HIGH BUILDING

Woodwell building, Pittsburg, eight stories high and weighing 10 million pounds, was moved 40 feet in 12 hours without interruption to business, telephone, water, electrical or heating service. This engineering feat cost $200,000 but saved $100,000 over the cost of tearing down and building again. Photo taken as building was being moved.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

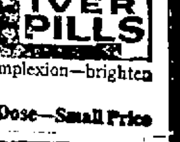

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

Constipation Is Relieved

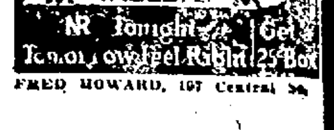

Prompt—Permanent—Relief

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS rarely fail. Purely vegetable — act surely but gently on the liver.

Relieve after dinner distress — relieve indigestion; improve the complexion—brighten the eyes.

OLD SIXTH HOLDS ANNUAL REUNION

The 60th annual reunion of members of the Old Sixth Massachusetts Infantry regiment took place in this city yesterday, the affair consisting of a business session in the forenoon followed by a dinner and post-prandial exercises in the afternoon. The reunion was held in the assembly hall of the Lowell Historical society and was attended by 13 members of the organization from various parts of the state. Out of about 700 men who formed the Old Sixth and who participated in the great march through Baltimore April 19, 1861, only about 40 survive.

During the business session which was held at 11 o'clock the officers who served the organization during the past year were reelected, the roll of honor of the past year was read, a silent tribute given to the memory of those who passed away since the last reunion and an invitation from Admiral Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans to be their guests April 19, 1922, was accepted. The officers reelected are as follows: Alonzo Joy, West Acton, president; Thomas H. Dickson, Fitchburg, vice president; J. N. Jones, Lawrence, secretary-treasurer; Orrich Look, Boston and Benjamin Ford, executive committee.

The thirteen members present at the meeting were Alonzo Joy, West Acton, Co. I; Josiah N. Jones, Lawrence, Co. F; John Wayne, North Chelmsford, Co. E; William E. Sawtelle, Pepperell, Co. B; George T. Whitney, Worcester; George A. J. Colgan, Boston, Co. K; H. A. Dickson, Fitchburg, Co. B; William R. Gilmore, Haverhill, Co. D; Albert Pinder, Lowell, Co. H; A. J. Fletcher, Acton, Co. E.; George B. Bell, Cambridge; E. T. Knowlton, Newton and David W. Corson, Franklin, Co. G.

Attending as guests were Nellie J. Sherry, Dorchester; Isabel B. Joy, West Acton; Mrs. H. B. Treadwell, Tewksbury; Roland M. Joy, West Acton; Ida F. Dickson, Fitchburg; Alice J. Flecher, Cambridge; Florence Fletcher Charles, Concord Junction; Harry A. Fletcher, Cambridge; Sarah L. Bell, Cambridge; Rose Keenan Coy, Stoneham; Gertrude A. Jones, North Chelmsford; Randolph A., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Holton, Worcester.

The members who passed away during the year were James A. Sanborn, Co. I.; Andrew Shattuck, Co. B; Lee E. Young, Co. I., and J. O. Rice, Co. C.

efficient and economical operation." The employes point out alleged wastes in the present railroad administrations and maintain that if those deficiencies and defaults in management were redressed and repaired, there would remain no reason for attempting to reduce wages. As a method of correcting wasteful methods and increasing the efficiency of employes, the exhibit advocated cooperative effort between management and workers and added that this co-operation could best be obtained through the medium uniform agreements reached by collective bargaining.

Recoverable and easily estimated wastes were divided by the exhibit under nine heads having to do largely with construction and care of locomotives and shop machinery, cost accounting and labor turnover.

The wastes which the unions said could not be estimated in terms of money included a variety of subjects ranging from defective train equipment and tracks through allegations of incompetent and extravagant management.

In the last class emphasis was laid upon publicity and advertising and on what the unions thought were unnecessary legal expenses. Such expenditures, it was claimed, have served to increase and have been charged wrongfully to operating costs.

It was also charged that much of the defective equipment which the managements of the road are using as an argument for the need of decreased wage costs, could have been avoided if the roads had declared less dividends and use a proper proportion of their earnings to establish replacements funds.

The following tabulation, represents those wastes estimated by the unions' witnesses and for which authorities are quoted, giving specifications and explanations as set forth in the body of the exhibit.

"1. Modernizing locomotives. Gross reparable deficiencies in the tractive power of the railways is pointed out and it is shown that by systematic application to the locomotives of demonstrated improvements such as superheaters, brick arches, mechanical stokers and feed water heaters, there would result an annual saving of at least, $272,500,000.

"2. Locomotive operation. The magnitude of the railways' coal bill is considered and certain of the larger wastes calculated, and it is concluded that by use of better methods of coal purchase, coal inspection, careful receipt and efficient firing of the locomotives an annual saving could be effected of at least $50,000,000.

"3. Shop organization improvements. The sad and almost incredible inadequacy and out-of-date equipment of the railway shops is reviewed, the defenseless wastes considered, and it is conservatively estimated that by a proper shop organization an annual saving could be effected of at least $17,000,000.

"4. Power plant fuel saving. The obsolete and wasteful condition of the power plants in the railway shops is considered and it is estimated that in this field the possible saving of fuel would, by itself amount to annual total of $10,000,000.

"5. Water consumption savings. The railroads' expenditure in maintenance of way and structure is reviewed, the necessary wastes noted, and it is estimated that easily attainable savings in the consumption of water alone would amount annually to $12,600,000.

"6. Service of supply savings. The expenditure of railways for supplies has been inquired into and the avoidable losses surveyed, and it is estimated that the wastes and abuses amount annually to not less than $75,000,000.

"7. Shop cost accounting savings. Attention has been given to the matter of uniform railroad statistics and the use of efficient methods of cost accounting only, an annual saving would be feasible to the amount of $10,900,000.

"8. Labor turnover savings. The industrial losses due to unnecessary labor turnover and to inadequate training of personnel has been reviewed, and it is estimated that the avoidable wastes incident to labor turnover alone amounts to more than $40,000,000.

"9. Loss and damage savings. Inquiry has been made into the amount of the annual loss and damage accounts of the railways, and into the preventable causes of such losses, and it is estimated that an annual saving might be effected to the amount of $90,000,000.

"Total—It will be noted that the avoidable wastes here listed are but partially represented in the accompanying money estimates, nevertheless the sum of these incomplete figures represent an annual unnecessary waste of $578,500,000."

TO THE MIDDLESEX COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Respectfully represent the undersigned inhabitants of the Town of Chelmsford, in said County that the road from the State Road in that part of said Chelmsford called East Chelmsford, and being the road known as Carlisle street or the Boston Road and running westerly and northerly about one mile to the line of the City of Lowell is in need of re-location and specific repairs.

Wherefore we pray that you will relocate said Road and direct specific repairs thereon.

CHARLES FINNICK
And Sixty-four Others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts—Middlesex, ss.

At a meeting of the County Commissioners for the County of Middlesex, at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Tuesday of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, to wit, by adjournment at said Cambridge on the sixth day of April, A.D., 1921.

On the foregoing petition, Ordered, that the Sheriff of said County, or his deputy give notice to all persons and corporations interested therein, that said Commissioners will meet for the purpose of viewing the premises and hearing the parties at the Court House, Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, on Monday, the 16th day of May, A. D., 1921, at ten of the clock in the forenoon by serving the Clerk of the town of Chelmsford with a copy of said petition and of this order thereon, thirty days at least before said view, and by publishing the same in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper printed at Lowell, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before said view, and also by posting the same in two public places in the said town of Chelmsford, fourteen days before said view; and that he make return of his doings herein, to said Commissioners, at the time and place fixed for said view and hearing.

WM. C. DILLINGHAM,
Clerk.

Copy of petition and order thereon.
Attest,
WM. C. DILLINGHAM,
Clerk.

A true copy. Attest:
CHARLES A. EVELETH,
Deputy Sheriff.

FORMER LOWELL MAN DIES IN WALTHAM

From Waltham comes the news that John F. Monaghan, an old-time resident of that city, died yesterday morning at his home, 40 High street. Mr. Monaghan will be remembered as a former resident of this city, and a master mechanic of the Lowell Bleachery. He was highly respected wherever known during his residence in Lowell, and it was a cause of deep regret to his wide circle of friends when he resigned his position here to take charge of a factory in Waltham. Soon after The Sun entered the daily field it conducted a voting contest, the chief prize of which was a first-class passage to Europe and return with all expenses paid by The Sun. The contest was conducted with general interest for several weeks and Mr. Monaghan was the winner. He made the trip to Europe in 1895 and spent a couple of months visiting the different countries of the continent. The Lowell friends of the deceased will be deeply grieved by the news of his death.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Thomas P. McColough, a member of the local fire department and Miss Margaret McDermott, a former employe of the Bon Marche company were married late Monday afternoon, the ceremony being performed at St. Patrick's rectory by Rev. Dr. James A. Supple. Miss Esther McColough was bridesmaid, while the best man was Mr. John L. McDermott. The couple will make their home in East Merrimack street.

Pingree—Curren

The marriage of Mr. Philip Pingree of Boston and Miss Gladys Virginia Curren of Reading took place April 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Bedell in Inland street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. A. G. Lyon of the Pawtucket Congregational church. The couple will make their home in Dorchester.

Fraley—Hayes

A very pretty wedding took place Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock when Mr. Patrick Fraley and Miss Mary M. Hayes were married at St. Peter's rectory by Rev. Fr. Llanehan. Mrs. Katharine Honbrook was matron of honor, and Mr. Joseph P. Keegan was best man. The bride wore blue satin and the matron of honor, brown satin and both carried bouquets of orchids. A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Katharine Honbrook, 561 Central street. Miss Anna Donohoe was the accompanist of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Fraley received many valuable gifts. They left on the evening train for New York and on their return will reside at 74 Chapel street.

Tansy—Sherry

A pretty wedding took place in St. Mary's church, Dover, N. H., yesterday when Miss Manola J. Sherry, daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. George H. Sherry, become the bride of Mr. Joseph A. Tansey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen J. Tansey of this city. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass celebrated by Rev. Edmund Quirk. The bride was attired in a gown of white Duchess satin, trimmed with rosepoint lace, and wore a veil caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of yellow tea roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Marie G. Sherry, sister of the bride, was attired in a gown of pink georgette with hat to match and carried pink carnations. The best man was Mr. Emmett Harris, a former classmate of the groom, now an instructor at the Bently school of accounting in Boston. Mrs. Tansey is a graduate of the Dover high school and Bryant Stratton Commercial college of Boston. She has been secretary to Charles H. Farnham, president of the Lothrop-Farnham Co., Inc. Mr. Tansey formerly held an executive position at the Atlantic Corporation, and is now manager of the billing department of the American Steam Gauge and Valve Co. of Boston. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold pin set with blue sapphires and pearls, while the groom's gift to the best man was a leather case. After the ceremony a reception and dinner was held at the home of the bride, 125 Portland street. Mr. and Mrs. Tansey left on a honeymoon trip to New York and Atlantic City, and upon their return will make their home in Cambridge.

BIDS OPENED TODAY ON NEW FIREHOUSE

Bids for the erection of a bungalow firehouse at the junction of Pine and Stevens streets were opened at 11 o'clock this morning in the office of Commissioner George E. Marchand of the public property department and it was found that by accepting the lowest bids proposed for the general work, plumbing and heating and electrical work, the city will be called upon to pay $34,436 to have this house built. This includes the architect's fee.

At the present time there is on hand $13,312.77 left from the money received when the Westford street firehouse was sold. That means that an additional $21,123.23 will have to be borrowed. Coms. Marchand and Salmon, who arrange for the erection of the building, will report to the council at the next meeting the result of opening the bids and will probably ask for money to complete their work.

The lowest bidder for the general contract was Fred F. Meloy whose figure was $27,462. J. J. Spillane & Co. were the lowest bidders on the plumbing contract, their figure being $2647. Charles H. May was lowest on the electrical work, his bid being $456.

The complete list of bids was as follows:

General contract: Fred F. Meloy, $27,462; Mathias F. Connor, $28,400; P. O'Hearn, $31,850; William Drapeau, $32,753.

Plumbing and heating: J. J. Spillane & Co., $2647; John A. Cotter, $2937; Roche & Co., $3265; Hoyle & Lorman, $3370; Chisholm & Co., $3295; William E. Curtin, $3350; Hobson & Lawler, $3190; Welch Bros., $3350; William H. McElholm, $2949; Thomas E. O'Day & Co., $2946; Farrell & Conaton, $3500; H. H. Wilder & Co., $3392; Carroll Bros., $2800.

Electrical work: Charles May, $496; Hartley & Kelleher, $600; William C. Hinckley, $595; Tucke & Parker Co., $729; Favreau Bros., $500.

When proposals for the erection of the building were called for, it was specified in the advertisements that they would be opened at 11 a. m. today. At 11.15 a local contractor submitted a bid for the general contract which was considerably lower than that of Mr. Meloy, but inasmuch as it was not received in time, it was not considered.
